NEW OFFENSIVE AGAINST PEKING FORCES OPENED

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

TIEN-TSIN, Oct. 1.—Heavy firing heard in the vicinity of Shanhaikwan, on the Manchurian-Chihli border Monday and Tuesday was presumably caused by an attack which the Manchurian troops are reported to have launched against the Peking government force stationed near that city. Three trainloads of wounded from the government army are reported to have reached Lanchow, between this city and Shanhaikwan, on Tuesday.

CHEKIANG FORCES LOSE HEAVILY IN FIGHT

By John Powell

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SHANGHAI, Sept. 30.—Five hundred seriously wounded soldiers of the Chekiang forces were brought in today to Shanghai's already overcrowded hospitals as the result of the fighting yesterday and today. Among the killed was Col. Wang of the Chekiang army. Col. Wang was the highest officer killed so far.

Although the Chekiang troops are still holding stubbornly to their lines and are putting up a better fight than any observed in China's recent wars, there is considerable question now as to the length of time they will be able to hold out.

FIRST SKIRMISH

The first skirmishing took place today on the new lines south of Shanghai in the vicinity of Sunkiang, where a brush between the outpost of Gen. Lu-Hsiang's troops and the advance guards of Gen. Sun Chung Faung, from Hangchow produced a few wounded. The Chekiang lines were drawn a few miles beyond Sungkiang, near the bridge at Shinuang which the Chekiang forces destroyed to prevent an advance along the railroad.

The fighting around Sungkiang is of special interest owing to this town being the burial place of Gen. Frederick Ward of Boston, who led an ever-victorious army in the Taiping rebellion of China more than half a century ago. The American Legion post in Shanghai is known as the Fred Ward Post.

The fighting in the Shanghai area during the last three days has been of a hand-to-hand character, with the most bitter encounters in the

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, Sept. 30.—Torrential rains, which for the past seventy hours deluged the Atlantic States from Maine to North Carolina, have raised rivers and streams above their banks, causing the loss of several lives, flooding many regions and threatening others. Coastal shipping has been severely hampered.

The storm this afternoon struck New York with full force. Rain, whipped by a wind that at times reached a velocity of sixty miles an hour, swept through the street, making walking impossible at times and twisting umbrellas into quaint caricatures.

BATH-HOUSES COLLAPSE

The wind threw up savage seas which did considerable damage. At Rockaway Beach the superstructure upon which the 2500 houses of the Steeplechase Baths rested was so undermined that it collapsed. Telegraph wires were blown down in many places and traffic considerably hampered. At Jermyn, near Scranton, a bridge gave way and buried Samuel Langman and Emery Avery to their death in the waters of Rush Brook. Mrs. Agnes Notosh was drowned near Wilkesbarre, Pa. Eighteen of the thirty-seven anthracite mines near Hazelton were flooded and had to be shut down.

At Mauch Chunk, Pa., two men working on a bridge are believed to have been swept into the swollen stream and drowned. Many were forced to flee their homes in Pennsylvania when rivers rose.

A Philadelphia and Reading Railroad locomotive was buried in a landslide near Pottsville, Pa., and two trainmen were killed. In many places, rail lines were washed out and highways inundated. Not a few towns are without street car and lighting service due to the flooding of power plants.

SOUTH ALSO HIT

Rain throughout the Southern States has been the worst in years. High waters are doing great damage and threatening many towns. The Potomac River has risen two feet, flooding great stretches of ground near Washington and paralyzing highways.

Richmond, Va., is threatened by a decided rise in the James River, which is steadily increasing. Scores of mercantile buildings along the water front are flooded. Farther

Espee's Merger Plan Approved by Commission

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, Sept. 30.—The Southern Pacific Company today won its fight for a complete double track to the Pacific Coast.

Its complete plan to acquire control of the El Paso and Southwestern System and through the Arizona Eastern Railroad, one of its subsidiaries, to construct new extensions in Maricopa, Yuma and Pinal counties, Arizona, together with its proposed financing arrangements, today were given the approval of the Interstate Commerce Commission.

The new construction of the Arizona Eastern will total approximately 175 miles and will connect the Southern Pacific lines with the Arizona Eastern. This connection, with the connection of the Southern Pacific with the Rock Island System, will constitute a direct double tract from Chicago and Missouri River territory to Southern California.

FOLLOWS GENERAL PLAN

In granting its authority for the merger the commission asserted that the plan is in harmony with the commission's own tentative plan for general railroad consolidations and that the merger will result in a balancing of east and westbound traffic and will bring about operating economies and savings estimated at nearly $3,500,000 a year.

The request of the Arizona Eastern Railroad Company for authority to retain excess earnings from its new construction was denied.

Granting of the authority by the committee was opposed by Commissioner Eastman, who in a dissenting opinion declared his opposition to any action by the commission that would permit fusing of railroads in "this irretrievable fashion," prior to the adoption of the commission's general consolidation plan.

EL PASO HALTS FIGHT

The Southern Pacific's consolidation plan shortly after it was announced was actively opposed by the city of El Paso, which filed an intervening petition in the case, but later withdrew its objections.

Hearings before the commission examiners were conducted in Washington several weeks ago. At that time officials of both the Southern Pacific Company and the El Paso and Southwestern testified as to the advantages of the consolidation, and pointed out that the arrangement would greatly increase competition between the Southern Pacific on the one hand and the Union Pacific and Santa Fe systems on the other.

TOKIO SLAPS AMERICA THROUGH VICTORY IN FIGHT ON PEACE PLAN

BY VINCENT SHEEHAN

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

GENEVA, Sept. 30.—Japan triumped over the League of Nations today when a majority of the members of the Arbitration Commission adopted a disguised version of the original Japanese proposal on the immigration conflict. The victory was one which even the Japanese may well regret, however, for in the past four days to win their point the delegates of the Mikado government had been obliged to show every card they held, even to a threat of war.

The solution found after a two days' deadlock amounts to a simple acceptance of the original Japanese proposal made Friday. It is disguised by being in the form of two amendments instead of one, but the meaning is exactly the same—to oblige the League to arbitrate the immigration question or any other question of internal policy for an indefinite length of time, even after the World Court has refused to have anything to do with it.

The only new point in the proposals today was that the Japanese amendment is now specifically based on Article XI of the League Covenant declaring the League must make every effort to settle any problem which presents an immediate war menace. To get their proposal accepted the Japanese were obliged to admit in so many words in a secret subcommittee today that this question represented a war menace. The Australians were willing to admit the proposal once it became definite in this form.

The Japanese and British dominions both declared they would accept the solution with express reserves pending the approval of their home governments. Ratification by Australia, New Zealand, Canada and South Africa is considered highly doubtful.

The results obtained today probably would have been impossible without the aid Italy gave Japan. The wily Italian diplomat, Signor Scialoja, who was one of the original makers of the League Covenant at the Versailles peace conference, supplied most of the verbal subtlety with which Japan's victory is surrounded.

Signor Scialoja, with Louis Loucheur and Sir Cecil Hurst, prepared the text today and it was unanimously adopted by the Arbitration Commission this afternoon. It will go to the Assembly with the rest of the peace system tomorrow.

LOTTA'S WILL BEGETS FIGHT

Scores of Purported Relatives Plan Contest Over $2,000,000 Bequest to Disabled Veterans

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

BOSTON, Sept. 30.—Scores of letters from persons claiming relationship with Lotta Crabtree, the actress, whose will, made public yesterday, provided a trust fund of $2,000,000 for disabled veterans of the World War, and their dependents, set aside almost as great a sum for other philanthropic purposes and bequeathed $100,000 to relatives, were received today by three persons named as executors and by the clerk of the Suffolk county probate court.

The letters were from all parts of the country and every mail added to their number.

While legal action to contest the will on behalf of relatives of the actress not named therein impended, Judge Dolan in probate court today appointed as special administrators of the estate the persons named in the will as executors and trustees — Maj.-Gen. Clarence R. Edwards, U.S.A., retired; Justice William C. Waite of the Massachusetts Supreme Court, and William A. Morse, who acted as the actress' attorney for many years and who drew the will at her instructions.

Their duties will be to deal with any emergency in connection with the estate pending the allowing of the will which will be presented about November 1.

At the same time Mayor Curley directed Corporation Counsel Sullivan to tender the good offices of the city to Gen. Jay Benton to the end that the interests of the disabled veterans of the World War may be protected adequately in the event of a will contest.

Attorney Morse estimated the real estate owned by the Crabtree estate to be worth more than $2,000,000 and the personal property to exceed $1,000,000.

Threat of a will contest came when Mrs. Robert Glenn of New York, Maude Louise Crabtree of Boston, Mrs. Charlotte L. Beitmuller of Newark, N.J., Mrs. Ethel Harmon of Scranton, Pa., and others sent attorneys here or notified Attorney Morse of their intention to take proceedings.

ASSERTED NIECE TO SEEK ESTATE SHARE

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

TUCSON (Ariz.) Sept. 30.—Carlotta Crabtree, asserted niece of Lotta Crabtree, the actress, who died in Boston last week, leaving an estate valued at approximately $4,000,000, most of which, according to the will, is to go to charities, a large amount being given for a "Lotta Dumb Animals Fund" will arrive here tomorrow from her home in Los Angeles, according to advices received tonight by Tom R. Vullock who, with his brother, Ed Vullock, reared her.

With the assistance of Vullock and other friends to establish her identity as the daughter of John Crabtree and the neice of the actress, it is said that she will make a fight for part of the fortune left by the actress.

Denver Woman's Equipage Fired by White-Hot Rivet Dropped by Builders

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

DENVER, Sept. 30.—A white-hot rivet, falling from the roof of a Sixteenth-street building where steel construction is under way, set fire to the sedan of Mrs. Marietta Hainline.

Mrs. Hainline, who had driven downtown on a shopping expedition, parked her car and went into a department store. When she returned she discovered her sedan in flames. The fire apparatus was called and the blaze was extinguished after doing damage estimated at $75.

Searching for the cause of the fire, members of the department found the rivet in the car. It had burned a hole through the roof and had fallen onto the upholstering.

AUSTRALIA SEES STRIFE WITH JAPAN

Sydney Paper Says Plea to League is a Warning to Strengthen Defense

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SYDNEY (Australia) Sept. 30. "The story of the League of Nations' meetings at Geneva should be a warning to Australia to strengthen its defense," says the Sydney Sun today in commenting on Japan's refusal to ratify the MacDonald-Herriot peace protocol unless amendments are made to it which will enable Japan to make war over a nation's internal policy, meaning the right to exclude immigrants without being proclaimed an aggressor state.

Continuing the paper says: "By its stand at Geneva, Japan gives warning that she must have her place in the sun, by negotiation, if possible, but by the bayonet if necessary. To her the League is plainly a western toy. Consistency demands her withdrawal from a congress which limits the power of shooting.

"Here is Australia, a small nation, determined even at the cost of extinction to keep herself a white nation athwart the path of millions of Asia, and here is a voice which speaks for Asia declaring that to deny to a man the right freely to enter another man's house is an act of warlike aggression. What chance is there for peace on mutual tolerance under such circumstances?"

Officers Assert Man Wore Army Togs Illegally

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 30.—A man known here as Count J. M. de Beaufort, who registered at the St. Francis Hotel a week ago from London, and who is said to have declared he was a member of the Belgian nobility, was accused in a warrant sworn out today with unlawfully wearing the Army uniforms of Belgium and the United States.

United States Commissioner Francis Krull issued the warrant on complaint of the Department of Justice, after its agents had questioned De Beaufort throughout the afternoon.

The officers say that De Beaufort has been received socially here, and has been circulating autographed copies of a publication written by him entitled "Behind the German Veil," said to be the record of his experiences as a Belgian spy during the World War.

Senator Tells Mineral Congress Every Effort Will be Made to Create Cabinet Unit

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 30.—Every effort will be made to establish a department of mines and mining to function as a unit of the President's Cabinet, Tasker L. Oddie, United States Senator from Nevada, today assured the delegates of the American Mining Congress in session in the Assembly chamber at the State Capitol.

Senator Oddie is chairman of the United States Senate Committee on Mines and Mining. He declared against too much government in business and traced his work in Congress in attempting to solve mining and mineral problems particularly in reference to the coal situation.

URGES SEASONAL BUYING

"Seasonal buying," he said, "would aid materially the problem of the coal producer relative to transportation facilities. During peak periods, when coal is in demand, transportation facilities are tested heavily. People should be encouraged to buy in the off-season. This would cut down to a level the peaks of production."

Senator Oddie spoke of the importance of the gold and silver industry and told of the work of the conference held recently in Reno, over which he presided as chairman of the Senate Gold and Silver Committee. He pointed out that 75 per cent of all silver is mined in this country.

Congress today began the task of mapping out the policies which are to guide its activities during the next year, the opening session of the convention being a resume of the needs of the mining industry by representatives of various Western States after President H. W. Seaman had given his annual address.

ASKS PREPAREDNESS

The address was a plea for preparedness, for conservation of the United States Navy's oil reserves, for development of the mineral industry and a dedication of the nation's mines to such activity in times of peace that they may be "quickly and with precision fitted into an efficient machine for national defense."

Seaman's address pointed out that the American Mining Congress "has its finger on the legislative pulse," but "is not a lobbying institution." It represents 85 per cent of the mineral production of the country and as "there are some 16,000 active mining corpo-vicinity of Huangtu and Kating. The chief development today was the use of heavier guns on the Kiangsu side. Shrapnel also was used with disastrous effects on the Chekiang forces.

HEAVY LOSSES

One shell fired into Liuho this afternoon put a dozen men out of commission, and in an attempt to capture a Kiangsu machine gun only seven men of a company of 100 survived when the gun was captured.

The Chekiang troops are hard pressed for reinforcements and they are scraping the countryside for coolies who are sent to the front as quickly as they are rounded up. The Chekiang faction's desperate need of money also is seen in the action of Gen. Ho Feng Lin, the defense leader, who is here levying a tax of $1 on every hundredweight of rice entering Shanghai. This expense is adding to the food stringency here.

Considerable confusion also is resulting from an attempt of the Chekiang forces here to issue a forced bond issue of $2,000,000 and a requirement that householders pay over one month's rent in payment for the bonds.

WU PEI-FU WILL DIRECT WAR FROM REAR

BY CHARLES DAILEY
[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PEKING, Sept. 30.—Gen. Wu Pei-Fu, commander of the Peking army which is at war with the Manchurian troops, has decided not to lead his own Third Division and will yield his command to three brigadier-generals. He will conduct the war wholly from the rear, following the example of his foe, Gen. Chang Tso-Lin. Gen. Wu is going forward shortly and will spend a few days at Tien-tsin. From there he will go to Lanchow the disembarking place for the second army.

Gen. Wu also has given over the political direction to Chang Chao Tsong, Premier in 1923, who reached Peking today. Chang had a long conference with Gen. Wu and with President Tsao Kun. Gen. Wu will now give his entire attention to the prosecution of the war. His brigadiers have been made vice-commanders of the first army, one division of which is entirely outside the Great Wall at Shanghaikwan.

In order to encourage the troops on the Shanghaikwan front Gen. Wu is sending 2,700,000 coppers for distribution. The Peking government is making strenuous efforts to raise funds to carry on the war.

Minister Wang has been ordered to return from Tokio, owing to the growing complications over the favoritism the Japanese are showing. Gen. Chang. It is stated that Japanese advisers are already at Mukden in consultation with Gen. Chang.

Coolidge-Dawes Campaign Will be Backed Strongly by Newspaper Body

A concerted effort to inform their readers of the facts in the national political campaign will follow a meeting which editors of Southern California newspapers held in the Coolidge-Dawes headquarters yesterday. One editor in each of the nine Southern California counties was named on the committee's executive staff and other editors in the counties will be made vice-chairman of the organization.

The editors expressed unqualified approval of the principles advocated by President Coolidge and Gen. Dawes and were eager to unite and harmonize their efforts to help their party's candidates and to give whatever assistance they can to the local political organizations of their party.

On the executive staff of the committee are George M. Swindell, publisher of the Bakersfield Echo, representing Kern county; I. L. Matthews, Covina Argus, Los Angeles county; J. R. Gabbert, Riverside Enterprise, Riverside county; Arthur J. Brown, San Bernardino Sun, San Bernardino county; James McMullen, San Diego Union, San Diego county; J. J. DETOUR AT REDDING HAS BEEN ELIMINATED

TEN MILES OF NEW PAVING THROUGH SHASTA COUNTY OPEN TO TRAVEL

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 30.—Another detour has been eliminated from the State highway. The California Highway Commission announces the completion and opening to traffic of ten miles of new pavement just north of Redding, Shasta county, on the main trunk line between the Sacramento Valley and the Oregon line.

The new section eliminates a detour that was necessary during the summer touring season. Grading of shoulders will be under way for several weeks, but will not seriously interfere with use of the new section. Motorists, however, are urged to use caution in traveling over the ten miles until the shoulder work is finished.

HITCHCOCK SEES G.O.P. LANDSLIDE

Popularity of Coolidge is Sweeping Nation, Says Johnson Primary Chief

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

CHICAGO, Sept. 30.—Frank H. Hitchcock, former chairman of the Republican National Committee, and preconvention manager of the Senator Hiram Johnson campaign for the Republican Presidential nomination, declared that President Coolidge will sweep the country in a vote that will surprise everyone. Mr. Hitchcock's statement was made during a call at Republican national headquarters.

"The Coolidge strength," Mr. Hitchcock's statement said, "is a political phenomenon that first became evident in the various State primaries for the Republican nomination, and it has grown since then to an extent that is scarcely appreciated. In my estimation you could scrap every issue in the campaign and Calvin Coolidge would lead the field for the simple reason that the people seem to have a confidence in him that has been bestowed on, but a few men in our history. And, having that confidence, they will not make a change."

NEW YORK, Sept. 30.—Not even his own home State, Wisconsin, is conceded to Senator La Follette by the Republicans, William M. Butler, chairman of the Republican National Committee, said today.

"I think the Republicans have a good chance to carry Wisconsin," he said. "And I think La Follette has a poor chance of carrying any State, Washington included. We are well organized there; our speakers are making a whirlwind campaign and things look bright for the present for the Republicans."

Railroad lines have been washed out in many places and bridges torn away. The Danville and Western and the Atlantic Coast railroads are unable to move trains over many parts of their lines.

In many parts of Georgia and Florida, four to five inches of rain fell.

"Southeast storm warning displayed from 10 a.m., from Delaware Breakwater to East Point, Me. MID-WEST MAY GET TAIL END OF STORMS

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CHICAGO, Sept. 30.—The Middle West may be hit by the tail end of a great "atmospheric disturbance" that is causing gales, high winds and exceptionally heavy rainstorms all along the Atlantic seaboard, and which may whip back and give this section a thorough chilling, according to the Weather Bureau report.

It is hoped that the fall in temperature which caused the mercury to drop to 58 degrees in Jacksonville, Fla., and 40 degrees in this city, may not continue. Fair weather is reported for the next two days, with rising temperatures.

"But the weather is so freakish," the forecaster says, "that no definite prediction can be made."

Meantime reports from various parts of the Middle West tell of heavy frosts and descending temperatures. Two nights of killing frosts caught thousands of acres of green corn in the field in Minnesota, Northern Wisconsin and the Dakotas.

LA FOLLETTE TICKET IS LEGAL IN ARIZONA

THIRD PARTY MANAGER SAYS STATE LAW NO BAR TO MOVEMENT

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PHOENIX, Sept. 30.—"Nothing to it," was the answer of State Chairman George U. Young when asked concerning a Democratic report that the La Follette movement in Arizona may be refused a place on the November ballot, following the California precedent. He added:

"The Arizona primary election law isn't the California law at all, although it must be admitted that it is ambiguous and contradictory. So we were decidedly careful. I filed the petitions of our three Presidential electors, each bearing over 4000 names, rejecting 1500 names that appeared to carry minor legal defects. The procedure throughout was passed on and approved by three lawyers and I have, also, the written approval of the State Attorney-General. Every technicality has been observed. The Secretary of State told me he never before had seen as fine a set of nomination petitions. Any opposition is mere political propaganda that won't work."

The chairman states that no La Follette State or county tickets will be put out. In as much as the movement cannot be considered a political party effort, he believes the time already has passed for any such action. He will claim alphabetical listing in a strategic position on the ballot between the Democratic and Republican columns. November prospects, he declares, are very rosy and he prophesies that La Follette will lead in the State returns.

Tokio Demands Are Adopted in "Compromise" Guise

"compromise," but in private conversations they are willing to admit it is no compromise at all. All it compromises is the League's future, according to best observers, as nobody is able to deny the seriousness of the step the League has taken toward abrogating the sovereign rights of nations.

A serious analysis of the two new texts adopted show the extreme danger they represent to the United States, Australia, British Columbia, and all other States which have taken legislative measures of protection against Japanese penetration.

The texts will stand as Articles V and VI of the universal peace protocol of the League. It cannot be too strongly emphasized that the League does not recognize that the United States refuses the League's jurisdiction on this question and that all nations whether members of the League or not must obey the League's decisions or suffer military punishment. This is specifically stated in Article VII.

Article V is on the question of domestic jurisdiction and originally stated that no steps could be taken by the League if there was a dispute on a question which the World Court had decided belonged to the internal jurisdiction of one country.

Japan's success today consists of the addition of the following words:

"If a question is held by the League Court or by the council to be a matter solely within the domestic jurisdiction of the State the decision shall not prevent the consideration of the situation by the council or assembly under Article XI of the covenant."

In other words, Japan is entitled to drag the United States into a long, dangerous dispute on the race question before the world's nations, even though the highest court of justice in existence has declared the question at issue is America's own business.

PUNISHING POWER

No time limit is set for this operation, and if at any time during this process the United States kicks over the traces and decides to handle its own problems in its own way, the League is obliged to punish it by the military power of fifty-four nations.

Article 6 proceeds to define an aggressor in case of war. The first paragraph originally stated that nations declaring war on a question of the internal policy of another nation must be considered the aggressor and punished as such. Japan wished this article suppressed. It has not been suppressed, but has been rendered harmless by the deletion of the following words:

"Nevertheless, in the last case the State shall only be presumed an aggressor if it has not previously submitted the question to the council or assembly under Article 11 of the covenant."

In other words, if Japan asks the League to settle the immigration question in defiance of the World Court's opinion and the United States does not recognize the League's jurisdiction or refuses to obey the League's orders, Japan can take up arms, and not only will be free from all blame, but can count on the military support of as many of the fifty-four nations as are willing to honor the signatures on this document.

PROTEST URGED

This is a detailed and careful analysis of the compromise adopted today. Two of the world's most prominent jurists who have followed the involved debate are convinced it is a dangerous document, against which the American government should make protest.

One of the leading jurists here who has consistently fought the Japanese proposal said that such a protest should take the form of a note objecting to Article 7 of the League's new protocol, which declares that this agreement binds all nations whether or not they are members of the League.

The dangerous nature of the agreement, according to the jurists, lies in the ease with which Japan can put the United States in a false position at almost any stage of the complicated arbitration process established today.

Race Betting May Return to Arizona Track

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PHOENIX, Sept. 30.—The parimutuel is expected back this fall at the State fair grounds track. Permits already have been obtained for transportation into Arizona of almost 100 head of ponies from British Columbia, from the stables of the Victoria Derby Association. About 500 more horses are coming not from Tia Juana, but mainly from Seattle and the East.

There had been understanding that last year's betting would be the last on the State track and that Gov. Hunt had admitted the machines only as an experiment. A spring meet had been planned, but was not held, though the fair week racing was continued, last November, for two weeks more. Large profit to the State is claimed to have been made on commissions paid by the machine owners. On the other hand, protests were many, most of them from the Phoenix churches, on the ground that a gambling fever possessed the youth of the city during the season of racing.

CALIFORNIANS WIN MINERAL JUDGMENTS

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

WASHINGTON, Sept. 30.—Two California claimants were awarded judgments by the Secretary of the Interior today under the terms of the war mineral relief law. A. H. Jarman of San Jose was awarded $10,526 and Byrns Brothers of San Luis Obispo, $2930. After the awards were made they were certified by the Comptroller-General for payment.

ARIZONA G.O.P. BACKS COMPACT

Indorses Coolidge Policies in State Platform

Both Party Councils Adjourn in Full Harmony

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PHOENIX, Sept. 30.—Late this afternoon the Republican and Democratic party councils made public their platforms and then adjourned, having done little else. Vacancies in the Republican ticket will be filled later, as returns still are missing from four counties and there is no assurance concerning the names that may have been written in for Secretary of State, Auditor and Corporation Commissioners.

There is legal assurance that the executive committee has full power to fill the Congressional nomination declined by Albert T. Sames of Cochise. In neither convention was there dissension, though a delegate from Yuma county urged flat-footed indorsement of the Colorado River compact.

In the Democratic body no further action was taken on the proposed reading out of La Follette supporters. The platform is considered one that represents Gov. Hunt and his policies in every particular. The Republicans expressed their ideas in 1500 words and the Democrats needed 4500.

The Republican platform, presented by J. P. Boyle of Douglas, expressed confidence in Calvin Coolidge as a character "as firm as the mountains of his native State." Indorsement was given the national administration for its economies and its efficiency, and particularly for the interest that has been taken in agriculture. Hearty approval was given "the conduct of our Republican Senator, Ralph H. Cameron, in his support of the national administration, and we commend him for his untiring efforts in bringing about the development of the San Carlos project."

Confidence is expressed in the ability and integrity of the Republican gubernatorial candidate, Dwight B. Heard, and in his giving the State a sound business administration. Approval was given his ideas on the Colorado River situation, as ample for protection of Arizona rights, the party being declared for the ratification of the compact to become effective when a definite agreement between the States of the lower basin acting through their legislatures and approved by the Federal Congress, shall have been reached.

HIT HIGH-LINE PLAN

"We are unalterably opposed to the so-called high-line canal," the document says, "which has been declared by Federal engineers to be impracticable, unfeasible and prohibitive in cost. We believe the construction of a dam in the Colorado River for flood control only would be of slight advantage to Arizona, and that the first dam constructed should be at the site where large storage capacity, flood control, large power development and desiltation may be combined."

The present Democratic administration was declared to have done nothing of a constructive nature and to have neglected State highways, while passing by the necessity for reduction of taxation, this largely due to internal strife. Favor was expressed for educational development, industrial justice, labor's right to organize, national child labor regulation and enforcement of the Eighteenth Amendment. Strong opposition will be offered to further continuance at the State Fair of the pari-mutuel system of race-track betting. There is condemnation of the Ku Klux Klan or "any other organization that seeks, directly or indirectly, to weaken fundamental American doctrine in letter or in spirit."

Opposition to the Colorado River compact and to any claims California may have on the river flow and power was contained in the main section of the Democratic platform. Gov. Hunt was commended bountifully, especially for his efforts to obtain a conference with the Governor of California. Reference was made to "the apparent determination of California to ignore the rights of Arizona." The Democracy of Arizona serves notice here and now that the State of Arizona will resist all such encroachments to the utmost and that the rights of this State will be defended without limit. Special mention in opposition was given to the Diamond Creek project. Congressman Hayden, who favors the compact, was mentioned pleasantly but not in the compact section. Condemnation was expressed of the La Follette idea of legislative review of court decisions, though the use of Federal Court injunctions was deplored.

Like the Republicans, the Democrats "denounced the invisible empire and the Ku Klux Klan as an undemocratic, anti-Christian and un-American organization. The labor plank is long and strong. The Governor was commended for his restrictive actions in regard to the foot-and-mouth disease and the asserted boll weevil infection of the Southern Arizona cotton fields.

rations in the United States, as distinguished from the legion of industrial operators who are also identified with us, it claims the right to present its views as a friend of the court, as it were, whenever and wherever the interests of its constituents are under consideration."

Organization of the southern division of the congress in the past year he characterized as "a monumental work." The silver producers, he said, owed "an everlasting debt of gratitude" to James F. Callbreath, secretary of the congress.

The needs of the mining industry was the topic of the discussion which occupied the remainder of the forenoon, with the exception of an address on the needs of the coal industry, by S. Pemberton Hutchinson, president of the National Coal Association.

WOMEN JOIN AS BACKERS OF COOLIDGE

Republicans, Democrats Attend Session; Plan New Branch of Society

Republican women, Democratic women and women who said they at first were inclined to support Robert La Follette for President, mingled forces in a meeting for women held in the Coolidge-Dawes campaign headquarters yesterday afternoon. They came from Los Angeles, Pasadena, Glendale and Alhambra, about forty in number.

Reasons for the support of President Coolidge and Gen. Dawes and how to present the reasons to persons whom they wish to have vote the Republican ticket, were discussed by the women.

The meeting was so successful that Mrs. Torrey Everett, 1221 Arden Road, Pasadena, said she will hold a Coolidge meeting in her home the 8th inst., at 2:30 o'clock, open to women of any political affiliation, who wish to help re-elect President Coolidge. The meeting probably will result in the organization of a California branch of the Coolidge Society of America, a women's nonpartisan organization, for all who wish to have President Coolidge continue in office.

Mrs. H. Josephine Winn and Mrs. W. W. Nash presided at yesterday's meeting. Among the speakers were Mrs. O. P. Clark, National Republican Committeewoman, Mrs. Charles F. Gray, who is organizing young voters; Mrs. Viola Waddell of Glendale; Mrs. Florence Collins Porter and others. Mrs. Nellie Van Slingerland, Mrs. H. V. Davis and Mrs. Dora Stearns conducted a round table for discussion of precinct problems. Mrs. Homer Prather and Mrs. Rodman Robeson served tea.

SURPLUS GENERAL IN EASTERN AREA

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

BOSTON, Sept. 30.—The promotion of Maj.-Gen. Mark L. Hersey may mean a change in the command of the First Corps Area, United States Army, according to military authorities at the Boston army base.

Gen. Hersey's recent elevation to two-star rank makes two major-generals in the New England district. Since Gen. Hersey's present command, the First District Coast Artillery, does not require a chief higher in rank than a brigadier-general, army circles are waiting the transfer either of Gen. Hersey or of Maj.-Gen. Brewster, the present corps area commander.

Gen. Brewster, as ranking officer of the area, will have his preference respected, if precedent is followed. He has not yet announced his intentions.

RUM-RUNNER IN PIRACY QUIZ

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

BREST (France) Sept. 30.—Charged with piracy on the high seas for which the penalty is death, Max Jerome Phaff, a German who claims residence in New York, this evening emerged smiling from a nine-hour encounter with French maritime justice.

Phaff was given his first official examination today before Commandant Fournier of the French navy. The piracy charge is in connection with the boarding of the French steamer Mulhouse off the Canadian coast last July when, it is asserted, 36,000 cases of whisky were removed by armed raiders to schooners which stood by.

ALIBI ASSERTED

Phaff pleaded not guilty and in his examination declared he could provide an alibi. He also invoked the argument that it was not necessary for him to commit piracy because he had unlimited credit with a big Canadian bank which enabled him to buy contraband whisky without the use of "Captain Kidd" methods. He said he was prepared to produce documents which would show that on three different occasions the Canadian bank supplied him with letters of credit for £25,000, the object being to buy whisky in England for smuggling into the United States.

"What whisky houses in London were supplying you?" asked Commandant Fournier.

BLAMES ANOTHER

"I am saving that for another day," responded Phaff.

A man now in jail in Montreal awaiting trial on a charge of rum-running or piracy—Phaff wasn't quite clear which—was the prime mover in his arrest, he said.

He declared that the man in jail "pirated my boat, the Lutzen, with 20,000 cases of whisky aboard."

He told the commandant that "this was just a little matter between rum-runners and I don't see why French justice should bother about it."

As to being an instigator of the asserted piracy, even though he were not actually present, Phaff told the court:

"You will know all about the instigators before this case is finished. I am not going to be made the goat."

LINE ACT TO IGNORE ULSTER

Boundary Bill Causes Lengthy Debate in Parliament; Action Delayed, But Passage Certain

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

LONDON, Sept. 30.—The bill intended to put the Irish Boundary Commission into force was the subject of a ten-hour debate in the House of Commons today, but the House adjourned at 11 o'clock tonight and the bill will be taken up again tomorrow.

Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald, moved the second reading of the bill and there is little doubt that the motion will carry. At the outset, he said, the government was convinced that there was nothing else to be done about this ever present Irish situation except to make Article XI of the Anglo-Irish treaty operative, as every effort by the government to have the premiers of northern and southern Ireland agree between themselves had failed.

H. H. Asquith, the Liberal leader, announced that he and his political friends would give the bill their hearty and undivided support. Stanley Baldwin, as spokesman for the Conservatives, promised that his associates would not oppose the second reading, although they intended to offer some amendments when the bill got into the committee stage.

If these are rejected, he declared, the responsibility for the bill would rest upon the Labor government alone. Mr. Asquith said it appeared to him that in view of Northern Ireland's refusal to appoint a commissioner, the government had taken the only course open to it.

Stormy scenes occurred in the House today during the questioning of Atty.-Gen. Patrick Hastings with regard to the mysterious abandoning of prosecution, on the charge of sedition of the editor of a Communist paper.

Prime Minister MacDonald declared he was not willing to allow an exposure at this time of the real circumstances of the case and urged that further consideration of it be postponed until the regular autumn session of the House. To this, all parties agreed.

Thus the case, which has been more or less of a burning topic since early August, will be taken up by the House next week while the House of Lords is dealing with the Irish bill.

Former Prime Minister Baldwin, Conservative leader, hinted during the discussion today that the opposition might move a vote of censure when the matter is taken up.

The Attorney-General asserted that the Communist party desired to make a martyr of the editor through prosecution and declared that when he decided to withdraw the proceedings he had not been approached by any person, either a member of the government or otherwise.

MEXICO EXCITED BY BOND OFFER

Arlitt's $50,000,000 Issue on Market Causes Flurry

But Texas Broker Produces Some Real Evidence

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 30.—The Ministry of Finance tonight admitted that negotiations have been under way looking toward a loan of $50,000,000 on the terms described by J. L. Arlitt of Austin, Tex., but described as premature the announcement made by Arlitt. It was added that $20,000,000 of the loan was intended to be used to pay off the interest for 1924 on the foreign debt.

BY JACK STARR-HUNT
[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 30.—Excitement reigns in financial circles here over the report from New York that $50,000,000 worth of 6 per cent Mexican gold bonds has been offered by J. L. Arlitt of New York, and Austin, Tex. Financiers are frankly perplexed over the report and all maintain they know nothing of the purported offer. One banker here stated that Arlitt is a reputable, albeit a small bond dealer, to whom such a statement might be credited. Largest American and British bankers assert they are entirely in the dark although keenly interested in the rumor.

Leading bankers admit that the rumors have been afloat for the past eight days but say they cannot give any concrete explanation for the reports. The declare, however, that "there are certain suggestive features about the Arlitt proposal," such as a steady rise of Mexican bonds in the New York market.

PANI KEEPS SILENT

It is virtually the unanimous opinion of leading bankers here that it is unlikely such a large financial deal could be negotiated unless the United States government were informed and that it would necessarily come through Morgan.

Leading oil men are silent on the subject, other than to disclaim any knowledge of the offer. It is pointed out that last week Finance Minister Pani issued a statement to the effect that Mexico did not contemplate any loan or any arrangement for an advance on oil taxes. Spokesmen for Minister Pani today declined to comment on the matter.

Eduardo Iturbide, representative of Speyer & Co., New York bankers, stated several days ago that he had received advices from New York regarding the rumor but had been unable to verify the story here. He said it is possible that Arlitt has been authorized by the Mexican government to attempt negotiation of the loan but that neither Morgan nor Speyer know of it. Iturbide is a close personal friend of Minister Pani and is generally credited with being well informed on all Finance Ministry affairs.

SUCCESS OF BOND OFFERING NOT DIVULGED

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, Sept. 30.—Public offerings of $50,000,000 Mexican government bonds, without the knowledge and participation of international bankers, today provoked widespread comment and discussion in investment circles. No information as to the success of the offering was available here as J. L. Arlitt, a banker little known in Wall street, who is attempting to float the issue, was said to be directing operations from his headquarters in Austin, Tex. Miss A. M. Hillenmayer, in charge of Mr. Arlitt's New York office, denied knowledge of the details of the transaction and said offers to purchase the bonds would be forwarded to Austin.

Unlike most foreign corporation bond offerings, the Mexican issue apparently has not been underwritten and will be sold for the government on a commission basis.

Official comment on the transaction was withheld by members of the international committee of bankers on Mexico, which negotiated the Mexican debt agreement in 1922. Suspension of this agreement was necessitated earlier this year when Mexico defaulted interest payments on the bonds involved in the plan.

EXPRESS DOUBT

Since proceedings of the sale of the present issue, it was said, would be used to pay arrears and to resume service on the debt, members of the international committee expressed the hope that the offering would be successful, although they appeared doubtful that the market could absorb such a large loan at this time.

Prices of the 6 per cent bonds offered by the Texas banker ranged from 80 to 97 on one to ten-year maturities. Mexico's 6 per cent bonds on which interest has been defaulted, sold on the New York stock exchange today at 39 1-2, while the government's 4 per cent bonds sold as low as 20.

Recent attempts by Mexico to negotiate a loan through international bankers with the oil production tax as security were unsuccessful.

Mr. Arlitt, however, asserts in his advertisements that revenue from this source will more than cover the annual service on the $50,000,000 loan.

"WHO'S ARLITT?" ANGUISHED BROKERS CRY

"Who is J. L. Arlitt?" is the query which burned the wires following the announcement. One big New York house replied that Arlitt was not known there and that the transaction was regarded in Wall Street as a joke. Los Angeles brokers had never heard either of Arlitt or of the Mexican loan. New York newspapers played the story as a mystery, and "great excitement prevailed."

In the meantime, Austin, Tex., stood pat, and so did "J. L. Arlitt, of J. L. Arlitt & Co." From the bailiwick of "Ma" Ferguson, Mr. Arlitt told a Times correspondent that he dealt directly with Minister of Finance Pani, of the Mexican government, and with the financial agent of that government in New York in the transaction.

DETAILS OF THE ISSUE

This new $50,000,000 issue will bear, according to Mr. Arlitt, 6 per cent interest, and the oil production tax received by the Mexican government is pledged to take care of the principal and interest of the bonds. Mr. Arlitt explained that this tax exceeds $20,000,000 United States money a year. In arranging this bond issue President Obregon is acting by authority granted him by Congress. [illegible] bonds mature in one to ten years, Mr. Arlitt said.

Of the proceeds, $8,750,000 will be paid the international bankers' committee on the amount July 1, 1924, and $8,750,000 on the amount due the same committee on January 1, 1925. The sum of $500,000 will be set aside to pay the first six months' interest on the bonds, as a matter of protection against possible failure of the oil production tax being available at that time. This will leave $31,000,000, which will go to the Mexican government for internal use, including the paying of interest on the floating debt.

MR. ARLITT EXPLAINS

In a further statement to The Times last night, Mr. Arlitt declared that the issue is fully sanctioned by the Mexican government, the contract being signed by Alberto Mascarenas, Consul-General and financial agent in New York. Senor Mascarenas was given authority to represent the Mexican government in the transaction by Alberto Pani, Minister of Finance. Mr. Arlitt has on file many telegrams and letters passing between him and Pani and Mascarenas showing that the bonds were officially issued and provision made for their payment from the oil production tax. The contract between Arlitt & Co. and Mascarenas acting for the Mexican government, was signed September 23, when Arlitt received a telegram of congratulation from Pani.

NOMINEES IN ARIZONA SHUFFLED

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PHOENIX, Sept. 30.—Changes already are being made in the nominees at the late primaries. In Yavapai county, Mrs. Ben Snyder has declined Republican nomination for the State Senate and in her place has been put Charles E. Burton, an Ash Fork cattleman, who was a member of the Senate in 1921. In Gila county, the Republican committee has filled a vacancy on the legislative ticket by nomination of L. L. Eakin of Globe, opposing M. F. Murphy in the central district.

At Globe the contest of Mrs. Mary Phelan candidate for reelection as county school superintendent against Miss Lucy Nash, who apparently had the Democratic nomination for superintendent by a majority of four votes, has been withdrawn. On a partial recount the lead was increased to seven.

In Yuma county, Henry Bandy, defeated for Democratic nomination to the office of sheriff by a plurality of twenty-five for Jim Chappell, incumbent, has filed notice that he will run as an independent candidate. J. Carroll Power, a Yuma Valley rancher, will be an independent candidate for supervisor.

In the State party gatherings will come up a question whether a few scattering votes for a man may make him a party candidate. As an instance, E. V. Van Wagenen of Globe has received four votes for State Auditor, an office for which there was no regular Republican candidate.

Fish Wrecked Pieters Home, Wife Asserts

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 30.—A fish that Isaac Pieters, capitalist, brought home to his bride, is listed as one of the causes of dissension that now splits the Pieters household, in an answer filed in Superior Court today by Mrs. Helen L. Pieters of Los Angeles. Mrs. Pieters says she did not know much about kitchen work and her preparations to cook the fish without removing its head caused Pieters to fly into a rage and slam the fish on the floor. For two days thereafter Pieters refused to speak to his bride, it is charged.

'DIRTY WORK' SCENTED BY LA FOLLETTE

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, Sept. 30.—Senator Robert M. La Follette, independent Presidential candidate, in a statement tonight declared that "the refusal of the Attorney-General of Louisiana to place the names of the La Follette-Wheeler electors on the ballot in that State and the definite report that comes from Michigan that legal technicalities are to be used there by the two political machines to accomplish the same purpose show how desperate the reactionaries in both of the old parties consider their cause."

"The legal arm of the government which should be the most potent factor in helping the people to express their will freely at the polls," continued the Senator's statement, "is instinctively being appealed to by the reactionary forces which dominate the two old parties to help defeat their free expression.

"But all of these efforts will eventually fail of their purpose. These attempts to deprive the people at the ballot box of the utmost freedom of choice as to who shall exercise their delegated authority will react most disastrously against those guilty of trying to prevent the fullest expression of the people's will."

Southern California supporters of La Follette will meet tomorrow evening at 7:30 o'clock at the American Legion Stadium, El Centro street, near Hollywood Boulevard, to protest against the Supreme Court decision barring La Follette electors from the California ballot. Representatives of union labor, Socialists and others will be present and speakers of all factions united under the La Follette banner will urge the audience to support the nominees of the third party.

LA FOLLETTE ELECTOR TANGLE BEFORE COURT

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

OLYMPIA (Wash.) Sept. 30.—The question of whether there are to be four so-called "La Follette" tickets on the ballot in the general election November 4 or only one, was brought up for decision before the State Supreme Court here today.

Writs of mandamus to restrain the Secretary of State from certifying the names of Presidential electors and candidates for stock offices named by three parties calling themselves "La Follette" organizations are being sought by the fourth party, the Progressive party, which claims direct authority from Senator La Follette to work in his behalf in this State.

The first case to come up for hearing was the action brought against the "La Follette State party," which filed a complete State ticket but no Presidential electors with the Secretary of State today.

BANK OFFICIALS STAND ACCUSED

Oklahoma Prosecutor Brings Grave Charges

State Bank Failure Laid to Manipulations

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

EL RENO (Okla.) Sept. 30.—Continuing their drive against officials of banks which failed in Oklahoma during the last three years, State Banking Department prosecutors will place Joe Hewitt, former cashier of the Mustang State Bank on trial here this week.

Hewitt already has been sentenced to five years in the State penitentiary for making false reports to the Bank Commissioner on the amount of overdrafts on the bank's books.

Shortly before Hewitt was placed on trial the first time, Harry Hale and Jack Sheppard were acquitted of a charge of attempting to rob the Mustang bank. Their own testimony, accusing Hewitt of hiring them to rob the bank, secured their acquittal.

The prosecution of Joe Hewitt and his brother, A. N. Hewitt, was the climax of a strange series of happenings in the little town of Mustang, near Oklahoma City.

First a milling plant owned by the Newitts burned to the ground. It was insured. Not long after came the attempted robbery, for which Hale and Sheppard said they were to be paid $100 each. A few days later the bank's books disappeared, there were evidences of a successful robbery and the State took charge of the bank.

It was found that the bank would have been unable to operate longer unless some such contingency as a robbery and the subsequent payment of insurance money should develop. The Hewitts were arrested and charged with offenses leading to the bank's insolvency, as well as the attempted destruction of the books.

COAST BUSINESS HORIZON BRIGHT

New York Banker Surprised at Activity Here

Lumber, Fruit, Petroleum Future Excellent

Says Coolidge Prospects Fine, But Work Needed

A distinct note of optimism both for the business outlook on the Pacific Coast and the Presidential candidacy of Calvin Coolidge was sounded last night by Willis T. Booth, former Los Angeles banker and now president of the International Chamber of Commerce and the Guaranty Trust Company of New York, who arrived here yesterday for a ten-day visit while on a tour of inspection of the country.

"The general business conditions on the Pacific Coast, while not entirely satisfactory, are very much better than we had been led to believe they were," he said. "Reports which had drifted through to the East had tended to indicate that the business industries of the Pacific Coast and particularly California were suffering some setbacks. It seems evident, however, that conditions here on the whole are better than anywhere else in the country.

"This is due to a group of reasons, all of which tend to emphasize the importance of the natural resources of the Pacific Coast area.

"Up to within the last year or two the eastern market for lumber had largely been supplied by timber cut in the southern part of the United States. This timber has been gradually cut over with the result that the only sources now available in a large way are those of Oregon and Washington.

"About 6,000,000,000 feet of lumber are used annually in the Atlantic markets. Of this about 2,000,000,000 feet are now supplied by the Pacific Coast through the canal, and this amount will continue to grow.

"Large investments have been made by eastern mill men in the Northwest in recent months, and while the lumber business is going through a period of depression, prices are still fair and markets are continually expanding.

"What affects one section of the Pacific Coast affects the entire Coast and prosperity in Washington and Oregon will have its effect here.

FRUIT INDUSTRY BETTER

"The dried-fruit business in California, which finds its principal market in Europe, has been distinctly off until the present year. This year it will be almost normal, and the income therefrom even with smaller crops, will be substantial.

"There has been a general knowledge that diplomatic conditions in Europe have adversely affected the Middle West, but the reaction will be equally as important.

"As to the petroleum industry on this Coast, Germany once formed a principal market for gasoline and this market has been entirely cut off for several years. It is now rehabilitating itself and the direct distribution of petroleum and its products through the canal to Europe will affect distinctively our great oil industry here.

"The prosperity which is finding its reflection in the Middle West in agriculture is not as much dependent on the size of the crop as in the economy of harvesting conditions. Farm labor, which last year cost an average of $6 a day, is now plentiful at $3 a day. And the return to the grower is more properly proportioned to his investment, labor and risk.

"The freedom of money in large centers reflects a little slowdown in industry, but higher economy in operation. There never was a time in the history of the country when the cost of production was so carefully weighed. All business today is being run with the highest character of practical economy. Extensions are restricted to actual needs; the aggregate of all these shows less employment of funds and a stronger financial prosperity in all of our major industries.

"Available capital will, no doubt, find its way into domestic and foreign investments where the same seems attractive. If American investments can be made abroad in substantial amounts without undue hazard, as seems to be in prospect, it will give us one of our best assurances for markets for our industries when markets are needed.

"We need have no fear of German competition in industry. When Germany is restorted to a gold basis, the cost of living and labor will likewise revert to a gold basis and the cost of manufacture will follow on relative lines. Our position certainly will be much better than before the war.

CLIMATE IS ADVANTAGE

"I am more than delighted each year to see the advance of Southern California as a manufacturing center. From practical experience we can demonstrate the advantages of climate in manufacturing as an element in the cost, and as our population increases here to afford markets, our steady growth in industry will not only be natural but on a strongly established competitive basis.

"I have always felt that this section of the country will be the most populous and prosperous area in the United States and my experience in the East and abroad tends to confirm this opinion.

"Of course all of this must be based on sound political conditions in our own country. The coming Presidential election will be settled entirely in the border States of the North and West and in California.

"I have just traveled through all of these States rather leisurely and I believe that the outlook for Coolidge's election is encouraging, but it will require a lot of intelligent effort.

"A hard-working, conscientious, intelligent and quiet person like Coolidge, without any element of the dramatic, is not easily appreciated at his full worth, particularly in the West.

"If Mr. Dawes could be brought out here to show our people clearly and at first hand the importance of the issues and the sterling character of his running-mate, the necessary enthusiasm could be developed in the campaign and the election of Collidge and Dawes would be made virtually certain.

"The great personality of Mr. Coolidge must be sold to the West by some one in authority and with a capacity to make the issues clearly understood."

Mr. Booth is to be the principal speaker at a meeting of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce today.

BENGALS TAKE OPENING GAME

Ken Penner Staggers Home With Victory

BY ROBERT E. RAY

Although Ken Penner was a little wobbly in a couple of innings, he was good enough to hurl the Tigers to a 9-to-4 victory over the lowly Sacramento Solons in the first of the series yesterday at the local ball orchard. The Senators used a trio of hurlers, starting with the veteran Charley Hall, who was driven to the showers in the fifth, and ending with "Dink" Peters, who finished up after Umpire Jack Carroll ousted Bill Hughes from the pastime in the seventh.

All three Sacramento hurlers looked alike to the Bengals, who socked the trio for a total of seventeen safeties. Charley Deal and Gordon Slade each gathered three hits apiece, while Wes Griffin got two for two. Blakesley hit a home run into the right-field stands with one on in the first inning.

RYAN MAKES BOW

Buddy Ryan made his bow here as a manager, having replaced Charley Pick as pilot of the Solons since the Sacramento club made its last appearance in Los Angeles. The Senators apparently lose just as well under the leadership of Ryan as they did under Pick, and certainly look no better. The Solons failed to show any pep, and the result was that yesterday's game made one wonder why baseball is called the national pastime.

Blakesley put the Bengals off in front in the first when he drove one of Hall's offerings into the bleachers for the circuit, scoring Benosky, who had singled, ahead of him. Siglin's error on McDowell's grounder, Chadbourne's sacrifice, a walk to Griffin, Penner's long fly to Cochrane, which allowed McDowell to take third after the catch, and Slade's single over short combined to give Vernon another in the second.

Penner experienced a tough inning in the fourth, when the Solons pushed over three markers and knotted the count. Shea opened with a hit to center and took third on Mollwitz's double to the left-field fence. Murphy attempted to pick Shea off third, but tossed somewhere into left field, Shea scoring and Mollwitz taking third. Hemingway walked and then Cochrane singled to right, Mollwitz scoring and Hemingway taking third. After Gorman fanned, Hall drove a sacrifice fly to Blakesley that allowed Hemingway to count.

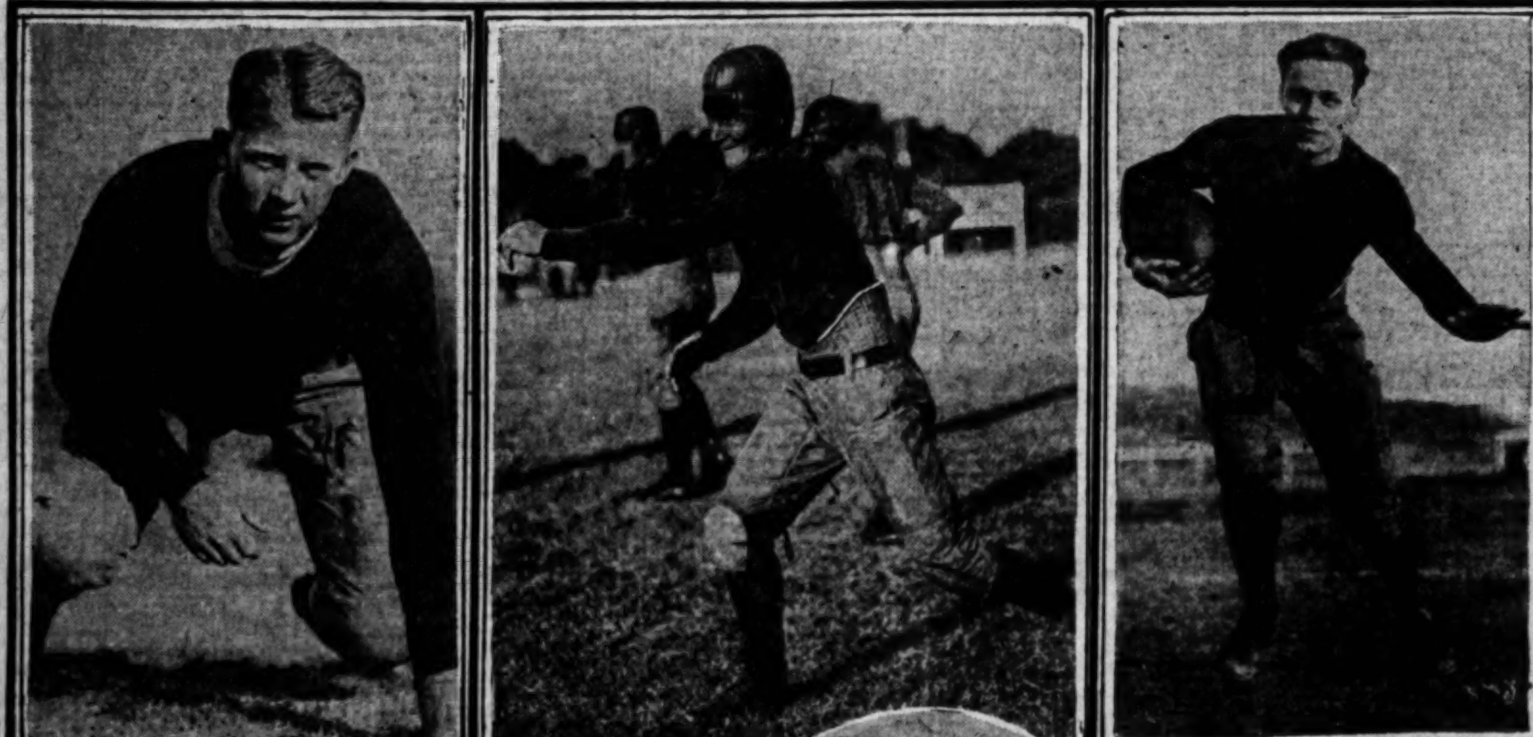
PLAY LEADING ROLES IN SATURDAY'S GRID CLASHES

The men pictured below will be much in the limelight Saturday when some of the local elevens swing into action for the first time this year. At the left is shown Jim Lawson, Stanford end and captain, who will lead his squad against the invading Occidental outfit. Center shows Earl ("Fuz") Merritt, star Pomona quarter, who will get his chance against U.S.C. at the Coliseum. To the right is Clarence Ebers, flashy Occidental halfback, who is playing his last year for the Tigers. Capt. Champ Clark, Pomona halfback, was caught in the act of booting the pigskin in the lower photo.



"HOLLY" ADAMS IN FOLD

Veteran Trojan Center to Start Against Pomona in Saturday's Game at Coliseum

BY BRAVEN DYER

"Holly" Adams, veteran Trojan center, who has been out of the U.S.C. line-up because of late registration, will get into Saturday's game with Pomona College at the Coliseum.

That's the word from the Trojan campus last night, following three hours' practice under the watchful eyes of Coach Elmer Henderson. Adams was a bit tardy in getting his classes arranged and it was feared for a time that he would not play for a month or more, but a little oil on the administrative wheels hurried things up a bit and now the U.S.C. is all set to go.

With Adams in at center somebody is going to get left out. Chief Newman, who has been filling in there, is Henderson's best passing bet, and the Trojan mentor wants him in the backfield on certain stipulated occasions. But where is Gus to place him with Hawkins, Earle, Le Febvre and Laranetta showing such class? There seems to be no reason to believe that the U. S. C. ball-packing combination will be changed against the Sagehens. The Pomona linemen are infinitely more experienced than Caltech's and Henderson would probably like to know what his regular backfield choices can do against a bit stronger opposition.

It begins to look as if Manuel Laranetta might be the man to get left out of the regular Trojan backfield, now that Newman is again available. Hawkins is a fixture, while Earle cannot be shifted. Le Febvre has the edge on Laranetta because he is practically as fast as the former Jefferson High School star, can hit the line harder, and is tougher to stop. This would give Newman the outside half berth. He is adept at taking out his men and as Henderson's offensive plans call for a forward pass now and then, it will be best to have the chief on hand.

The addition of Adams gives the Trojans a veteran line from end to end with the exception of one guard. Dorsey and Phythian played last year as did Norm Anderson and Fay Thomas. Buster DuPuy was a corking guard. That leaves but one hole to fill, and by shoving Brice Taylor in as running guard the gap seems to be plugged in a thorough manner. Taylor is exceptional material for a guard. He does the century in better than 10-flat, and weighs close to 190 pounds. He can get out of the line for interference with remarkable speed, all of which makes Henderson's backfield men happy. Harshberger, a big senior, playing his first collegiate football, is making a strong bid for one of the guard berths and may start the game in DuPuy's place Saturday. He weighs in the neighborhood of 190 pounds.

Field Thompson, one of Capt. Hawkins's understudies at quarter, is recovering from the effect of being knocked cuckoo in the Caltech game. Field entered the fray in the second quarter and after half a dozen plays received a sock on the dome that rendered him non compos mentis for some time. Last summer Field dislocated one of the neck vertebrae in his spine and Saturday's wallop twisted his mechanism considerably.

The U.S.C. frosh meet LaVerna College in Saturday's preliminary game. Coach Chet Dolley has been drilling his charges religiously following their none too brilliant showing against Glendale last week. It is to be remembered that the Babes were short on practice, however, and should do much better against the LaVerne outfit.

WILLS-DEMPSEY FIGHT PROPOSED

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

MEXICO CITY, Sept 30.—Jerome Bassity of San Francisco, who several days ago received a concession from the Mexican government to construct a Monte Carlo on the Pacific Coast just south of San Diego, tonight cabled Jack Kearns offering to stage the world's championship heavyweight fight between Jack Dempsey and Harry Wills on July 4 at the new city. The amount of the offer was not made public. As soon as word is received from Kearns an offer will be made Wills.

OBSERVATIONS

BY THE INNOCENT BYSTANDER
BILL HENRY

One thing they'll have out at U.S.C. this season that ought to give the rooters a lot of genuine satisfaction, and that's an aggressive attack on straight football. That's something entirely new. It's something that the Trojans really haven't had against a good team since the days of Leadingham, Dean and Tiernan in the backfield several seasons ago. The Trojan second-string players have had it for a long time, but invariably the crew that played the big games was one apparently chosen on a basis of safety first.

Last year the Trojan football team was enough to make strong men weep. It was so good that with no offense whatsoever it was able to beat as good a team as Stanford by sheer aggressiveness when the other side had the ball. A team with the native ability and pepper that last year's varsity had should have won the Coast title without drawing more than a couple of long breaths.

But instead of an offensive the Trojans would give the ball to Campbell and let him do what he could with it. Occasionally Campbell would break loose for a good gain, but as a general thing after a couple of ineffectual attempts Otto Anderson would boot the ball out of danger. The best ball carrier in the backfield, Chet Dolley, didn't carry the ball half a dozen times during the season. The only thing the Trojan varsity did to get excited over was to break loose with a shower of desperate forward passes during the last few minutes of each game.

But this season it's different. Instead of sitting around and waiting for a chance to block a punt or recover a fumble, the Trojans seem determined this year to get out and make a few yards on straight football. They have the weight, the speed, the experience and the plays. They had practically the same thing last year, but they didn't use it for some unknown reason.

Good old-fashioned straight football is the stuff that gives the team and the rooters a lot of confidence. This thing of watching the other team do its stuff is harrowing on the nerves and doesn't put out much confidence. The team that can take the ball and make a first down once in a while by good solid fundamental football is the team that makes an impression with the rooters and with the opposing squad.

DETAILS OF BIG SERIES DECIDED ON

Judge Landis Takes Charge of Baseball Classic; Huge Ticket Sale Reported

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, Sept. 30.—Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis, commissioner of baseball, took charge of the 1924 world series today, when he held a final meeting early this afternoon at the Waldorf-Astoria with C. A. Stoneham, president of the Giants, and Eddie Eynon, secretary of the Washington club.

Several minor details were ironed out. There were no changes in schedule or other major matters, which were settled at the meeting held here ten days ago.

This will be the commissioner's first world series in which part of the activities will be away from New York.

"It got to be a regular habit for me to be coming to New York at this time of the year," said the judge, laughing. "Well, Washington should put a new thrill into the series. There was wonderful interest in the pennant races and I am sure it will be a ripping series."

President John A. Heydler of the National League this afternoon appointed Bill Klem and Erine Quigley, veterans of his staff, as the umpires for the world series. Ban Johnson yesterday named Billy Dineen and Tommy Connolly for his league. Umpires in the world series receive $1000.

The Giants' offices on West Forty-fourth street again show their usual October world-series activity. In addition to handling the Giants' world-series tickets the office is also selling tickets for the Army-Notre Dame football game on Saturday, October 18.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, Sept. 30.—Mike McTigue, world's light heavy-heavyweight champion must meet Gene Tunney in his first title match in this State if he applies for a license, the State Athletic Commission declared today after Tunney had appeared with his manager, Billy Gibson, and posted the necessary forfeit fees to bind such a match.

The proposed Berlenbach-McTigue match tentatively scheduled for Madison Square Garden sometime in November will have to await a McTigue-Tunney match in the event McTigue applies for a license here. McTigue has not been a licensed boxer in New York since he won the world's light-heavyweight title from Battling Siki.

PUBLIC EXPECTS A CLOSE SERIES

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, Sept. 30.—World series wagering was brisk in Wall Street and Broadway theatrical districts, but with backers of both the Giants and Senators asking 6-to-5 odds. This was indicative of public opinion looking forward to a close series.

ROCKFORD FLASH IS WINNER ALL THE WAY

Grabs Three Out of Four Rounds in Main Fistic Go at Vernon; Fuente Pops McGreer in Semi-Wind-up

BY PAUL LOWRY

Sammy Mandell gave the press agents a new lease on life last night when he lived up to all the advance information of the hired purveyors of alleged news and solidly thrashed Johnny Adams, the so-called lightweight champion of the Pacific Coast, in a fast and furious main event at Jack Doyle's swat pavilion. The Rockford (Ill.) flash won three out of four rounds and it wouldn't have taken much of a stretch of the imagination to award him the other round for good measure.

Possessing one of the prettiest lefts that has ever been uncoiled for action at Vernon and a flipping right that he knows how to use Mandell was all over his man in the first and second rounds. He forced the fighting all the way, tied up Adams when they came to grips and piled up more points than he would ever need in three or four fights.

Adams's big bid for fame came in the third round, when he switched his tactics, and, instead of letting Mandell come to him, rushed the eastern lad and kept on top of him for a couple of minutes. But this method proved too wearing for Adams, and Mandell soon regained the upper hand. In the final round, which was the Illinois boy's by a bigger margin than any of the others, he stung Adams continually with zipping lefts to the body and jarred him with hard rights to the head.

Before the fight started a whole flock of ambitious youths struggled into the ring, and asked for a chance at the winner. Of the five—Danny Frush, Young Gatto, Frankie Farren, Johnny Trambitas and Phil Salvador—Frush and Salvador drew the plaudits of the crowd and Phil won the straw vote for popularity honors.

The semi-wind-up was misplaced, for while Tony Fuente, introduced by Dan Tobey as the champion of Mexico, knocked out Jack McGreer in the second round, there was nothing about the bout that savored of the interesting or elevating.

Both the Jimmy McLarnin-Benny Diaz fight and the Ernie Owens-Hank Gatten scrap were far classier than the next to the last bout on the card. McLarnin, who looks like a kid of 12, but fights like a veteran, threw so many gloves at Diaz that the Mexican must have thought everybody around the ring was taking a poke at him. McLarnin won all the way. He is a classy kid.

Ernie Owens, who has been fighting in the Bay City regions for the last four or five months, returned a vastly improved boy. His boxing is great. He kept an inquisitive left in Gatten's face all during the fight and so tied up the Mexican that the latter landed barely three solid blows in the four rounds.

There were a bunch of substitutions in the first three fights. In the preliminary, Eddie Spurley knocked out Benny Navarro, fighting in place of Billy Otis, in the third round. Johnny Fiske drew with Joe Burns, pinch-hitting for Harry Foley, though Burns won three of the four rounds. Bert Tribby massacred Jimmy Dykes, subbing for Marty Burman, Dykes exhibiting a wonderful ability to soak up punishment.

Marvel Board at Loew's to 'Play' Games

From the offices of the West Coast Theaters, Inc., comes announcement of the new Wonder Marvel Baseball Player Board which has been secured to reproduce the world's series baseball games this year at Loew's State Theater. This new baseball player board is without doubt the greatest board ever invented for reproducing baseball games. It is not a mechanical board and no mechanical devices are used, and very little electrical appliances are necessary. The games are reproduced by a crew of six experienced baseball players who are carefully rehearsed and each has his part or position to play, no other board is so complete as this. The board does not require sign cards to denote players as in other boards, you see the ball going and do not have to look in any other direction to find out what it is. The board is a real invention of the baseball age.

A total of twenty-six intersectional football games are listed for the grid year. There will be ten games between the East and Middle West; two of the East and Pacific Coast; eleven contests between the North and South; three between the West and South; one between the Middle West and Far West, and one between the East and Canada.

SAMOHI GRID HOPES BRIGHT

Eight Lettermen Report to Coach Shutt

Santa Monica Has Hopes for Another Title

Lightweight Chances Don't Seem so Rosy

A visit to the Santa Monica High School athletic field convinces the observer that all the rumors in circulation anent the husky and powerful squad with which Coach Vincent (Dutch) Shutt would be blessed this season are true to the minutest detail.

Aside from a quantity of beef that looks too tough to masticate, the Samohians include within their ranks a group of eight lettermen. The majority of the football insignia earners at Samohi are men from the Bay League championship team of last season. A few earned their letters in previous years playing for the Bay District school.

Among the gridiron notables at Santa Monica is Emmet Murrel, the gentleman who won recognition as one of the foremost tackles in State prep circles in 1923. Other lettermen are Clifton Brown, end; Capt. Roy Baldwin, quarterback; Vincent Keating, guard; Howard Wraith, halfback; Garfield Leon, center; Alvin Schaub, tackle, and Frank Amo, end.

GOOD MATERIAL

Coach Shutt does not look to only his first-string veterans of other years for his regular line-up, for he finds among the reserves of past seasons and new candidates, considerable good-looking material.

For instance, there is "Bob" Connelly, a backfield man who weighs over 200 pounds. Other men who may prove available for Shutt's secondary defense are Ted Charnock and Franklin Smith. Henry Darling, guard; Pierce Sherman, end, and Bob Kenaston, end, are found daily on the Samohi gridiron attempting to rank themselves above their mates, so as to secure places on what looms up as another formidable Shutt eleven.

To students and football fans of the Bay League it is difficult to put across the opinion that Shutt will fail to produce an eleven highly feared throughout the circuit, considering the prospects that present themselves with eight lettermen back in the fold.

Santa Monica will play its first league match on October 17, it is reported. Coach Shutt has yet to announce the dates of arranged practice skirmishes.

While the Samohi varsity bears every favorable sign of being a top-notch team, fortune has not smiled in her usual pleasant manner upon Coach Lock Livernash, who worries over the welfare of the Santa Monica lightweight pigskin toters.

OBSERVATIONS

BY BILL HENRY

for the varsity squad last season.

In other words, U.S.C., with the same men she had last year, is twice as good a football team because she plays better fundamental football. There are no "passengers" on the team. Eleven men are in every play and they're all trying to do something definite. The Trojans have plenty of punting ability, good forward passers, fine line plungers, strong interference runners, excellent open field men and material to burn. It ought to be a big year for the Trojans.

A lot of things in sport are difficult to explain. While you're worrying your head over the remarkable changes in the Trojan football squad you might try explaining the reversal of form in the ranks of the Angel ball club. There's the same thing all over again. The Seraphs, up to a few weeks ago, were the saddest-looking outfit that ever graced the cellar in the Pacific Coast League. They just naturally found it impossible to win ball games.

Now, with what to all intents and purposes is the same team in the field, they are knocking 'em dead. They have clawed their way out of the cellar and into fourth place and are still going strong. Aside from a new first baseman, there is no change in the line-up. They just naturally started in to play ball, and that's about the best answer you can give.

A city in the throes of its first league championship ought to provide a lot of money for the world series. Washington fans are likely to jam the Senators' ball park to see their American League champs endeavor to thrown Jawn McGraw's Giants in the world's series. The Washington club not only should have a successful year as a baseball club, but likewise as a financial investment.

A world series in Washington ought to give the politicians a first-class method of getting their minds off the forthcoming Presidential election. As far as that is concerned, if the vote of the District of Columbia were to settle the Presidency, the easiest man in the world to elect would be Walter Johnson.

SHERMAN OUT OF GAME

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SEATTLE (Wash.) Sept. 30.—Les Sherman, quarterback last year, will not be able to play this season, it was announced today at the University of Washington. Sherman's trouble is an old one, due to an infection.

GETTING AWAY WITH THE SILVERWARE

SAGEHENS HARD AT IT

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

POMONA COLLEGE, Sept. 30.—At least three more days of stiff practice with a mixture of hard scrimmage is the bill of fare that Coach Nixon announced to his players this afternoon in preparation for the annual tussle with the U.S.C. Trojans Saturday.

This afternoon Nixon's Sagehens were sweating under the rays of an unsympathetic sun. Little real scrimmage was held, but the backfield men were given every opportunity to show their ability at catching punts, while the linemen tried out their skill at blocking and tackling. Borey Bell was doing most of the punting, and in all likelihood he will be the chief punter against the Trojans.

MANY PUNTERS

But Bell isn't the only man that Nixon has who is proficient with his toe. Roland Clark did some nice punting last year and fans may rest assured that he will have ample opportunity to show off his polish in this branch of the game before many Saturdays pass. Then there are McCully, Baynham and Merritt, who may be called upon to fall back on a punt formation whenever they are needed.

Coach Heath seems to be drilling one and only one thing into his linemen. That is the art of tackling and blocking. Of course, he is always reminding his beefy guards and tackles that they must develop speed, for if his front wall is to compare with that of the Trojans they will have to develop along sprinters' lines before Saturday.

COWAN OUT

Jack Cowan, one of Nixon's hopes as an end man, received an injury last night that may bother him for the Trojan game. Cowan is a fast man and his absence could not but be missed. Stafford, another wing man, is also laid up. He will be in poor condition for the Trojan affair and wing honors seem to rest among Worden and Draper, Selly Rich and Kettell.

Nixon might try Otho Vernon, tackle and letter man, as an end, but that seems unlikely if Cowan and Stafford can play. Crosby, a member of last year's frosh team, is another chap who has been tackling nicely, and possesses a world of speed.

Nationals Put on Farce Game With Red Sox

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

BOSTON, Sept. 30.—Washington, with the American League pennant firmly clutched in its hands, took the lid off today and put on a baseball farce with the Red Sox to wind up the season. They celebrated on this the last day, following a season in which they have been constantly on edge, striving with the Yankees for the flag every inch of the way. And today they threw their hats in the air, threw the ball all over the lot and gleefully watched the Red Sox scamper around the bases.

After Boston had scored four runs in the fourth and then six more in the sixth, they made no further pretense of playing ball. Nick Altrock, baseball comedian de luxe, was sent in to pitch and a good time was had by all.

The final score was: Boston 13; Senators 1.

Manhattan College is represented by its first gridiron squad this season. They will open against Fordham University on the 4th inst. Jim McCarthy, who starred at Colgate fourteen years ago, is coaching the Manhattan aspirants.

ALUMNUS DEFENDS SAINTS

Local Alumni Official Rises to Point of Order Anent Recent Story

In view of the fact that the Santa Clara football team, which surprised a lot of folks last week by holding California to a 13-to-7 score, is to play here against Occidental October 18, and also because a recent article in these columns questioned the eligibility rules of the northern institution, the following facts, submitted by C. M. Castruccio, a member of the Southern California alumni group, are printed:

Second—No transfers are eligible without first satisfying the one-year residence rule.

Third—No four-year men are eligible.

The use of freshmen is permitted by Santa Clara by special agreement with California and Stanford. The reason is apparent—the entire college registration at Santa Clara is considerably less than 500.

As between St. Mary's and Santa Clara it is mutually agreed that freshmen may be used.

However, it may be of interest to know that Santa Clara, in its game with Occidental at the Coliseum October 18, will not use any first-year men. On the contrary, Santa Clara has agreed to play according to the rules of the Southern California Conference. As further proof of such agreement Santa Clara's freshmen engage Stanford freshmen at Palo Alto on that date. Santa Clara has commenced to schedule games for the freshmen and the first-year men will play not less than four games this season. It is Santa Clara's intention to observe the freshmen rule just as soon as it is possible.

PING BODIE COMING BACK FROM IOWA

"Ping" Bodie, former Vernon outfielder, mighty slugger, and present member of the Des Moines (Iowa) team, will return to Los Angeles in October, according to a letter received here by Joe Pirrone. Bodie stated that he might bring several other players with him and play professional winter baseball here.

SOCCER REFS HOLD SPECIAL MEETING

BULLDOGS LOOK FOR BIG YEAR

Meet Alhambra Eleven Today in Practice Tilt

Last Season's Reserves Will Help Coach Baker

Several Beefy Men Gladden Bulldog Mentor

BY CHARLES WEST

Although Coach Baker has a nucleus of only two letter men around which to build the Pasadena High football machine for this season, a strong list of reserves left over from last year will fill in the gaps nicely, and much is expected of the Bulldogs in the Coast League doings. Baker, a former Washington athlete, developed an aggressive bunch of players out of apparently poor material last season, and with his present prospects Pasadena should be well represented.

Capt. Bill Schmidt, a 170-pound fullback, and Gene Conterno, halfback, are the only two monogrammed veterans out for the team this season, graduation having placed havoc with Baker's squad, but a dozen men who sat on the bench absorbing splinters and knowledge last year are ready for action now, and from the way they were galloping around Horrell Field yesterday, are full of ambition.

TO YELP SIGNALS

Collins and Ramsey are battling for the quarterback job at present, while the remaining position in the ball-carrying department seems to have fallen to Felds. The line has an imposing young gentleman for center who is built on the order of a warehouse, same being Barnes, whose poundage approaches 200. Clark and Ward, who press the scales down to the comforting figure of 167 pounds each, seem to be the Bulldogs' best bets for the tackle positions, and Bert DeGroot, brother of the famous Dud of Stanford, and Disbrow are holding the wing positions at present.

Pasadena opens the Coast League season with Whittier at Whittier the 18th inst. This afternoon Baker will shoo his men at Alhambra's representatives in a practice affair at Pasadena.

Alhambra High, a member of the Central League, has the most encouraging outlook in several seasons. Three backs and one lineman from last year's squad are on the job, Capt. Howard Bell, who uses his 180 pounds of ability at tackle; Rhodes, Atwood and Olson being the veterans.

KNOW THEIR STUFF

Coach Downing has been guiding the pigskin affairs of Alhambra for three seasons, and has a bunch of men well-schooled in his system, who should make their presence felt during the coming season. Downing is being assisted by Francis Daugherty, former Franklin High mentor, who can't keep away from a gridiron.

Alhambra will present a chunky line averaging about 165 from tackle to tackle, although the ends are paper weights. The subs seem to be plenty large enough. Fans out Alhambra way are all prepared for a glorious season.

the same inning, punching four hits for the three tallies. Griffin led off with a hit to right center and went to third on Penner's double to right. Slade's single to left brought in both runners. Menoskey's sacrifice and Murphy's hit brought Slade the rest of the way around.

Sacramento got its final run in the fifth on Siglin's infield hit, Slade's error and Shea's single.

After McDowell singled to open the Vernon fifth, Hughes was sent in to replace Hall. Hughes blanked the locals in the fifth and sixth, but was battered for two runs in the seventh by the Tigers. Five singles, a sacrifice and an error by Kopp gave the Bengals their scores. Kopp's throw to the plate cut off Chadbourne at the plate and prevented the locals from scoring more than two runs.

The Bengals's ninth run came off Peters in the eighth. After two were out Deal doubled to left center and came home when McDowell singled over second. Walks to Chadbourne and Griffin filled the sacks, but Penner ended the rally with a loft to Kopp. Gorman robbed Blakesley of an extra base hit to open the eighth when he took the latter's long drive to center with one hand after a long run.

FARREN AND WILDER AT WILMINGTON

Classy Lightweights Top Good Card; Tony Fuente and McClure in Wind-up

Frankie Farren of Los Angeles and Freddie Wilder of Cleveland at weights of 135 pounds are scheduled for the main event at the Wilmington Athletic Club for tonight. These two go-getters are sure to please the fans.

The semi-wind-up will be of great interest, as Tony Fuente of Los Angeles and Sunshine McClure of Idaho at 170 pounds, hold down that spot. Fuente knocked out Young Ford in three rounds, knocked out Leo Matlock in four rounds, knocked out Stanley Shimkers in one round, decision over Sonny Goodrich in four rounds, knocked out Harry Freeman in one round, decision over Jimmy Barry in four rounds, knocked out Tommy Owens in two rounds, knocked out Leo Balarge in two rounds, and knocked out Harry Lee in three rounds.

Sunshine McClure has fought the best and leading heavyweights in the Northwest, and whipped them.

That the main, semi and special events are all highly pleasing to the boxing enthusiasts is easily attested by the advance sales, which are the heaviest recorded since opening night. Reservations may be made by telephoning Wilmington 608. Reservations received to date include some from San Francisco and San Diego.

NEWSIES TO STAGE BOXFEST MONDAY

The next boxing tournament to be put on by the newsboys, will be held next Monday. Watches will be presented to the winners of the 115, 112 and eighty-pound classes.

For the main event, Rudy Benton will take on Kid Evans, for the 112-pound championship. In their last meeting Evans grabbed a close decision, which Benton hopes to get back. In the semi-wind-up, Jimmy Adams and Ralph Vokie will clash at 115 pounds. This fight looks as good as the main event. The rest of the card will be a humdinger.

The fights will be held at the Newsboys' clubrooms on North Spring.

Duck Season to Open in California Today

MANY NIMRODS SEEK LIMITS

City Deserted by Sportsmen on Eve of Season

Club Reservations Are All Taken for Year

Pete Peterson on Tour of Inspection

At a half-hour before the sun rises this morning, the 1924 duck season in California will open and judging from the way the hunters began leaving town yesterday, hundreds of shooters should be out after a limit of the quack-quacks.

A report was received yesterday at the B. H. Dyas Company declaring that all reservations at Hinshaw Dam Club for the opening today had been taken. Many ducks are available at Hinshaw and by tonight, a good many limits are expected to be bagged.

Another report received at the Dyas Company from Imperial Valley, indicated that excellent shooting would be had by the hunters at Fred Raymer's and Ed Finney's clubs on the Alamo River. There is no water shortage at the valley and lots of ducks.

Pete Peterson, hunting authority at Dyas's, accompanied by "Outdoor" Franklin of the Howard Automobile Company left yesterday for their opening day shoot at Hinshaw Dam. The two sportsmen also will do considerable scouting while away. The trip is being made in Franklin's Buick scout car.

A full list of hunters is looked for at the Gilbreath Club, near Wasco, while the private duck and gun clubs will have their full quota of hunters.

BEES PUT CRIMP IN HOPES OF OAKS

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

OAKLAND, Sept. 30.—Salt Lake put a crimp into Oakland's pennant chances here this afternoon when they defeated Howard's men, 5 to 3. In the fifth inning, after one run had been scored, two men were on bases when Pittenger hit a long fly to left-field. The smash went for a freak home-run when Fielder Bratcher fell over a water pipe near the fence and sprained his ankle. He was carried off the field. Score:

WATTS OUTSHINES CHRISTIE JEWELERS

The Christie Jewelry and Watts Chamber of Commerce baseball teams, each made sensational rallies in the ninth inning, but the Watts team got one too many and won the game, 7 to 6. The Chamber of Commerce team had a 3-to-3 lead when the Jewelers went to bat in the ninth inning. They made three runs and it looked like it was all over. Then the Watts boys came back in their half with four runs to take the game. Myers, Watts outfielder, kept up his sensational hitting with three hits in four times at bat. Myers has gotten that many hits in the past three games. The score:

SALESMEN DOWN L. A. COUNTY FARM TEAM

The L. A. County Farm baseball team didn't get its revenge. The Farmers took a 4-to-2 beating from their old enemies, the Title Insurance baseballers, Saturday. They were outhit and outplayed throughout the game. They had a one-run lead until the sixth inning came around when the Salesmen got five hits for their total score. In a desperate attempt to tie it up the Farmers banged out two hits in the sixth, seventh and eighth innings, but only made one run. The pitchers' duel held the batters down, nobody getting more than two hits. Howarth and Sigler, of the winners, and McNeil of the Farmers were the only ones to get more than one hit. The score:

POISE

Article CXVIII

There are two meanings to the word poise! There is an outward poise of the body; yet a still more important condition is the inner poise of a person. The meaning of the word poise given in the Standard Dictionary is: "To support in equilibrium; be balanced or suspended; to be in doubt. The state of being balanced. Equanimity; repose."

The word is most commonly used to express the idea of one who has a correct carriage. We lose sight of the other meaning; the inner poise, or proper balance within.

The enemies of poise are many and of different origins, both of feeling and of impulse.

They all tend, however, toward the same results, the cessation of effort under pretexts more or less specious.

It is of no use deceiving ourselves. Lack of poise has its roots deep in all the faults which are caused by apathy and purposeless variety.

Balance between the desire to succeed and the fear of failure, the timid man leads a miserable existence, tortured by unavailing regrets and by no less aspirations, which torment him like the worm that dieth not.

AVOIDS ALL

Little by little the habit of physical inaction engenders a moral inertia and the victim learns to fly from every opportunity of escaping from his bondage.

Very soon an habitual state of idleness takes possession of him and causes him to avoid everything that tends to make action necessary.

The dread of responsibility that might devolve upon him turns him aside from every sort of endeavor, and he passes his life in a hopeless and sluggish inaction, from a fear of drawing down upon himself reproaches to which he might have to make answer, or of being compelled to take part in discussions which would involve the disturbing of his indolent repose.

Are we to suppose, then, that he finds real happiness in such a state of things?

Certainly not, for this negative existence weighs upon him with all the burden of a monotony that he feels powerless to throw off. His own mediocrity enrages him, while the success of others fills him with dismay.

Nevertheless, his weakness of character allows the hate of action to sneak more loudly to him than legitimate ambition, and keeps him in a state of obvious inferiority that of itself gives birth to numberless new enemies, who end by destroying him utterly.

He is first attacked by slowness of coomprehension, the inevitable consequence of that idleness that causes the cowardly to shun the battle. Rather than combat influences from without he allows them daily to assume a more prominent and a more definite place in his thoughts.

KEEP ACTIVE

The thought we wish to convey is this! Do not allow your physical body to become inactive, weakened or rundown; but on the other hand do not allow the inner man to weaken, either. Build up a body that will keep the proper poise as to proper carrage, but remember that a proper balanced inner man is just as important.

The person who can at all times keep his composure under stress of any kind, never allow business worries to unnerve him to the extent of losing his temper, or his head, as we often say, is the person who is doing big things with the greatest amount of ease, and is less liable to have a break down. This person is better able to relax, thereby will conserve his energy.

By allowing the physical body to deteriorate, one will soon bring on that lack of inner poise. On the other hand giving into fits of anger, jealousy and hatred, and harboring those conditions will cause the nervous system to become run down; a poisoned system being the final result.

Do not mislead yourself into believing that because you have built up a strong pair of shoulders, developed a large chest expansion, that you are capable of doing big things in the business world. Unless you have trained your mind and nerves to keep that poise within, at all times, and under the most trying circumstances, you have misjudged the real meaning of the word poise; and are not making the headway you imagine you are.

There is a time to correct these conditions; and that time is in their early stages, before they become deep seated.

WILL POWER ROUTED

For the man who has no poise there is no snatching victory from defeat. His feeble will power is completely routed, and the effort involved in stemming the tide of adverse opinion is to him an impossibility.

From dread of being carried away by the current, and feeling himself incapable of struggling against it, he prefers to hide himself in the caves along the shores, rather than to make one desperate effort to cross the stream.

But the very isolation he seeks, in depriving him of moral support, increases his embarrassment.

Poise, on the other hand, invites sympathy. It aids men to expand. It creates friends when needed, and weaves the bonds of comradeship and of protection without whtich our social fabric could not hold together.

Rickard Drops Huge Sum in Firpo Battle

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

TRENTON (N. J.) Sept. 30.—Tex Rickard lost $5605 in promoting the Wills-Firpo fight in Jersey City, according to a statement filed today with State Comptroller Newton A. K. Bugbee, who is also State Athletic Commissioner. Total expenditures as set forth by Mr. Rickard, in connection with the bout, were $467,855, and the total income was $462,250. Firpo received $150,211 as his share of the receipts and Wills $150,000.

The Federal tax was $46,285, and the State tax an equal amount. Juan Homs, Rickard's representative in Brazil, received $4871 for salary and expenses. The health of the fighters was insured at a cost of $5000, while $3712 was paid for fire insurance and $5285 for liability insurance.

Jefferson is Victorious in Practice Tilt

Jefferson High defeated Gardena High in a practice grid battle, 20 to 0, on the Jefferson grounds yesterday. Although Gardena had the heavier team, the Jeffersonians were able to keep the ball in Gardena's territory for almost the entire game. Every player on the Jefferson squad had his turn in the line-up.

The Jefferson line, although light, put up a stone-wall defense which held the Gardena team. Gardena has a weak line but the backfield was able to complete a few passes.

Jefferson has the lightest team in the City League, the entire squad not averaging over 140 pounds. In previous practice games the Democrats defeated California College and University High School.

BIG BEAR IS OPEN TO GUN

Duck Shooting Permissible on Both Valley Lakes

"No Smoking Allowed" as a Fire-Preventing Plan

Strong Stand for Strictest Game-Law Observance

BY EDWIN L. HEDDERLY,
California Fish and Game Commission

Enthusiam of the "unattached" duck hunters, whose thoughts in the fall fondly turn toward Big Bear Valley, now may join the thermometer in going after the altitude record.

Just as the shot-scared "sprigs" will be soaring skyward bright and early this morning, when the opening bombardment breaks loose beneath them on Baldwin, the Big Lake, Henshaw and a hundred other wet places, so the erstwhile dashed hopes of the hit-and-miss fraternity are due to rise again to dizzy heights.

Rumors that fire-prevention regulations of the Forest Service would also prevent mountain-lake duck shooting by forbidding discharge of firearms became confused in the hunting-licensees' minds with certain county ordinances elsewhere relating to shooting in the highlands. Such confusion seems to have been spread and enlarged upon by persons whose objectives may have been only selfish desire to monopolize the first day's duck shooting before the law-abiding majority of the sporting public awakened.

SITUATION CLEARED

Wherefore, the sportsmen's Fish and Game Commission is pleased to pass along the explanation whereby the Forest Service clears the situation. None of the authorities interested was afraid that either lake would be set afire; but the present dry heat enormously increases the forest-fire hazard.

No smoking will be permitted anywhere on government land excepting at designated camping sites. No shooting of firearms back from the shores of the lakes will be allowed on government land, and private landowners are asked also to comply closely with these restrictions for the common good, since a bad fire is no more careful about where it starts than whose boundary it jumps.

Unless everybody constitutes himself a "comittee of one" to watch his own and everybody else's conduct there is likely to be a flare-up of fires so bad that it will put the quietus upon this sport of wild-fowling which the Fish and Game Commission has gone to such extraordinary pains toward fostering and developing in behalf of the rank and file of duck hunters who have to depend upon the free public shooting of the mountain lakes.

SPECIAL LAWS ENACTED

Special laws were enacted to permit any duck shooting in Big Bear Valley at all; it is a game refuge wherein no other hunting is allowed. Its continued maintenance as a paradise for the nonmillionaire class of licensed shooters may be said to hang in the balance this season, dependent upon much closer compliance with all restrictive laws than ever before. People heavily interested there are appreciating this.

Such is one reason for the strong stand taken in behalf of strict game-law observance as stated on the numerous cloth posters which hunters tomorrow will find confronting them throughout the territory served by the Baldwin Lake Chamber of Commerce, and over the approval of the Fish and Game Commission, which asks the hearty and active co-operation of every true sportsman in helping to enforce the laws upon which rests the maintenance of Big Bear Valley lakes as an open resort for the rank and file of "unattached" wildfowlers, who resent such monopolizing of the shooting as they suffered from last year and are about ready to see it closed for everybody unless all have an equally fair chance, freed from the impossible competition of professional violators.

Various methods of stabilizing the sport have been suggested, such as the three-day-a-week shooting plan being put into operation at the new Lake Henshaw on Warner's ranch in San Diego county and general throughout the San Diego city water-storage lake system, where "duck drives" are staged Wednesdays and Sundays. This prevents the game from being driven out of the country entirely by day after day of incessant banging—a lesson the private-preserve clubmen long since learned by limiting themselves to two mornings' shooting each week, because the birds would not stand for more.

WILLIAMS CUBS WIN OVER HOWITZER NINE

Despite a five-run lead made in the early innings of the game, the Williams Cubs beat the Howitzer baseball team, 6 to 5, at Hazard Playground Sunday. The Cubs ended the game with one of the most sensational rallies ever seen, getting one run in the seventh and ninth frames and two in the eighth, to tie the score. Then in the tenth they got one hit for the winning run. Stogsdil and Carter were the rival hurlers. Lafranchi, of the winners, got a homer, a double and two singles in five trips to the plate. He far outdistanced any of his teammate's, none of whom got more than one hit. The score:

TO SHIP CUCUMBERS

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

HOLTVILLE, Sept. 30.—H. A. Terwilliger, pioneer cucumber grower of Imperial Valley, asserts that he expects to ship ripe cucumbers to market on the Coast by October 10. This is several weeks earlier than he has ever before shipped "cukes" to market. Excellent prices are offered for the vegetable, according to Terwilliger, and a good profit from his crop is expected. Terwilliger has grown cucumbers on his place near Holtville for several years and never ended a season without a fine profit.

CEMETERY PARK BASIS OF SUITS

Lot Owners Seek to Have Directors Ousted

Valhalla Mausoleum Again in Court Action

Mandate Asked for Election and Business Meeting

Seeking to oust the Osborne-Fitzpatrick Finance Company and its directors from the asserted control of the Valhalla Mausoleum and Memorial Parks, several owners of lots or purchase contracts in the cemetery project yesterday filed two lengthy suits in Superior Court in behalf of the 7000 persons said to have purchased sections in the parks.

The suits were directed at John R. Osborne, C. C. Fitzpatrick, Laura C. Osborne, Ada E. Fitzpatrick, the Osborne-Fitzpatrick Finance Company and the Valhalla Mausoleum Park and the Valhalla Memorial Park. The parks, it was stated, were made defendants in the actions for technical reasons only.

Charges that the individual defendants had appropriated to their own use millions of dollars realized from the sale of lots in the parks were incorporated in the complaints, which stated the defendants had failed to act in good faith as trustees of the money expended by the plaintiffs and other lot owners.

One of the actions dealt with the business transactions surrounding the floating of the Mausoleum Park project while the other, setting forth practically the same allegations, dealt with the Valhalla Memorial Park.

The plaintiff asked that the purchasers be adjudged owners of the property; that the defendants be compelled to convey the same to the parks, or trustees appointed to take over the business of the parks, free of any claims of the defendants.

The plaintiffs also asked a writ of mandate to issue commanding the defendants to call an election and business meeting and to make a report of the affairs of the parks. An accounting of all moneys taken was asked as was also an injunction restraining the defendants from spending any additional sums realized from the sale of lots in the projects.

The complaints were prepared by Attorneys John W. Maltman and D. B. Maxwell, who were retained by investors in the tracts when the parks first were subjected to an investigation several months ago.

They were both treated at the Receiving Hospital.

Grand Jury to Report Soon on Nicholson Case

The grand jury investigation into charges against A. J. Nicholson, Long Beach cafe owner, who is accused of an unnatural offense against Florette Duvall, artists' model, and also of attempted bribery, has been concluded, it was indicated yesterday.

All the witnesses have been examined, it was intimated, and a report embodying the jury's findings may be filed tomorrow.

Nicholson was arrested in Mrs. Duvall's apartment in Long Beach, and is said to have offered a considerable sum to the District Attorney's investigators to hush up the case. The matter has been under investigation by the grand jury for several weeks.

SITE IS PICKED FOR HOLLYWOOD DOG SHOW

TENT WILL BE PITCHED ON BOULEVARD AT CORNER OF ORCHID STREET

Following official closing of the entry list for the third annual dog show, officials of the Hollywood Kennel Club, under auspices of which the filmland canine exhibits are arranged and held, have chosen the northwest corner of Hollywood Boulevard and Orchid street, one block west of the Hollywood Hotel, for the show site. Here the big top, which will measure 140 by 250 feet, is to be raised and ready for the two days, the 10th and 11th insts.

Claude Hill, secretary of the show, declares that there will be nearly 800 dogs on the benches representing seventy or more species and breeds.

Internationally known experts of dogdom will handle the prize awards, Walter H. Reeves of Belleville, Ontario; William T. Drew of Mt. Vernon, N. Y., and Alva Rosenberg of Brooklyn. They will arrive in Hollywood several days prior to the show opening.

BIGAMY IS ASSERTED

Man Under Arrest Charged With Desertion, Marrying Again

Arthur Ochenbach was arrested yesterday by Investigator Elliott of the District Attorney's office on a suspicion of bigamy charge.

It is asserted that Ochenbach, also known under the alias of Brown, deserted his wife and two children some months ago and married Mabel Walburn here on September 25, last. The girl was questioned at length yesterday and fainted in the District Attorney's office. She stated that she knew the suspect only by his first name at the time they are said to have been married.

GRAND JURY TAKES UP McCORMICK QUIZ

The grand jury yesterday opened an investigation into the asserted criminal operations of Cliff McCormick, former private detective, and Carey Wilson, both of whom are awaiting trial on robbery charges. The grand jury is expected to delve into the testimony given by McCormick during the trial of Godfrey Cowdrey, recently convicted of the murder of Joseph Langley, manager of the Alvarado Theater. McCormick was the principal witness against Cowdrey, and it was his testimony which to a great degree influenced the jury in returning a verdict of guilty against Cowdrey.

GINEBRA, Septiembre 30.—Triunfó el Japón hoy sobre la Sociedad de Naciones, pues la mayoría de los miembros de la Comisión de Arbitraje aprobó una versión disfrazada de la proposición japonesa original sobre los conflictos de inmigración. La victoria, sin embargo, es de aquellas que hasta los mismos japoneses pueden llegar a lamentar, pues para ganar el punto que sostenían, los delegados del Mikado han estado soltando en estos últimos cuatro días todas sus prendas, haciendo revelaciones que implican hasta una amenaza de guerra.

Despues de haber estado atollada dos días, la Sociedad llegó a una solución que equivale sencillamente a aceptar la proposición original hecha el viernes por el Japón. Se la ha disfrazado presentándola en la forma de dos enmiendas en lugar de una sola; pero su significación es exactamente la misma, a saber, obligar a la Sociedad a resolver por arbitraje la cuestión de inmigración, o cualquiera otra cuestión de política interior que sea de duración indefinida, y a pesar de que el Tribunal Mundial se haya rehusado a intervenir en ella.

El unico punto nuevo que presentaban hoy las propuestas es que la enmienda japonesa se basa ahora especificamente en el Artículo XI del Pacto de la Sociedad, por el que se dispone que ésta debe hacer todos los esfuerzos posibles para solucionar cualquier problema que entrañe inmediata amenaza de guerra. Cuando la proposición quedó puntualizada de esta manera, los australianos convinieron en aceptarla.

Tanto los japoneses como los dominios británicos declararon que aceptarían la solución, con reservas expresas, mientras recababan la aprobación de sus respectivos gobiernos. Se considera sumamente dudosa la ratificación de los gobiernos de Australia, Nueva Zelandia, el Canadá y Sudáfrica.

Los resultados obtenidos hoy habrían sido quizá imposibles sin la ayuda que Italia le prestó al Japón. El taimado diplomático italiano, Signor Scialoja, que fue uno de los redactores originales del Pacto de la Sociedad de Naciones en la Conferencia de Paz de Versailles, aportó la mayor parte de la sutileza verbal que hizo posible la victoria japonesa.

El texto fue preparado hoy por el señor Scialoja, con Louis Loucheur y Sir Cecil Hurst, y unánimemente aprobado esta tarde por la Comisión de Arbitraje. Mañana será presentado a la Asamblea con lo demás del sistema de paz.

Se Prevé una Crisis Dinástica en España

LONDRES, Septiembre 30.—Hay noticias de que durante estos últimos meses el Rey de España ha estado invirtiendo fuertes sumas de dinero en títulos de rentas británicas.

Media docena de corredores se han encargado de llevar a cabo estas operaciones, las que han sido hechas bajo nombre supuesto; pero se sabe que el comprador ha sido Don Alfonso.

En la ciudad de Londres se cree que el Rey se está preparando para una probable crisis dinástica en España.

La "Flapper" no Ha Hallado Buena Acogida en Yucatán

CIUDAD DE MEJICO, Septiembre 30.—No todo es color de rosa en Yucatán, el Estado peninsular mejicano que tan famoso se ha hecho como la mayor fábrica de divorcios del mundo. Según noticias de prensa están teniendo allá muchas dificultades, y de ellas es culpable la "flapper" de los Estados Unidos.

Las autoridades de Migración del Estado confiesan paladinamente que no han podido con el problema de ese ejemplar de mujer americana, y han pedido ayuda al Ministro de lo Interior. Se ha llegado por fin a resolver que, a menos de tener las "flappers" americanas cartas de los maridos de quienes quieren divorciarse, por las que éstos digan estar de acuerdo con el proyecto, o de sus padres o tutores, no se les permitirá entrar en Yucatán. Las "flappers" han escandalizado a los socialistas liberales de Yucatán, y de allí que se haya dictado el decreto de referencia.

Las dificultades comenzaron hace varias semanas, en que los periódicos de los Estados Unidos dijeron cuán fácil era conseguir el divorcio en el Estado mejicano citado. Hubo todo un éxodo de mujeres hacia aquella tierra de promisión, y, según noticias, la mayor parte de ellas respondían al tipo que ha dado en denominarse "flapper". Sintiéndose felices ante la probabilidad de su ansiada libertad, comenzaron allá inmediatamente la juerga.

NOTAS LOCALES

Ya Ha Comenzado a Aflojar el Calor

Ayer llegaron noticias de las principales poblaciones de Sudcalifornia, anunciando que la oleada de calor ha pasado y que podemos estar seguros de tiempo más fresco. En Los Angeles no llegó ayer el termómetro sino a 95 grados, es decir, siete menos de los registrados el lunes. Hoy tendremos día más fresco aún, según reza el informe de la Oficina Meteorológica de los Estados Unidos.

A pesar de que fue ayer menos sofocante el calor, hubo un caso de insolación. El paciente fue tratado en la Casa de Socorro. La policía dió además cuenta de varios otros casos, en que las víctimas fueron mujeres, que se trastornaron pasajeramente en el barrio de las tiendas.

Según mensajes recibidos ayer de Hanford, los viticultores del Valle de San Joaquín recibieron con positivo alborozo la ola caliente. Aunque allí no llegó el termómetro más que a 90 grados en estos últimos tres días, es decir, menos de la máxima que se registra en dicho valle en tiempo de verano, no deja de ser esa temperatura extraordinariamente alta para esta época del año, y muy benéfica para la cosecha de uva.

DEPORTES

Futbol

POMONA COLLEGE, Septiembre 30.—Esta tarde anunció a sus jugadores el instructor Nixon que el programa vigente constaría por lo menos de otros tres días de dura práctica, mezclada con reñidas escaramuzas. Ello es indispensable para que sus muchachos estén aparejados para el combate anual del sábado contra los Troyanos de la Universidad de Sudcalifornia.

Hoy en la tarde los "Sagehens" de Nixon sudaban la gota gorda bajo los rayos de un sol de fuego. Hubo pocas escaramuzas importantes, pero dióseles toda clase de oportunidades a los zagueros para demostrar su habilidad en el puntapié, en tanto que los jugadores de línea se ensayaron en atajar y atacar. La mayor parte de los puntapiés los estuvo dando Borey Bell, quien va a ser sin duda el principal "pateador" contra los Troyanos.

The Wrath to Come

By E. Phillips Oppenheim

Stoneham returned from a lecturing tour in the West, dispirited, and with a frank confession of failure. He presented himself at Grant's rooms just as the latter was finishing breakfast.

"I've bad news, old chap," he declared at once. "I've done my best, and I guess I've made about as much impression upon my audiences as if Pussyfoot Johnson had come back to life and were preaching prohibition once more. They won't have it at any price."

Grant pushed a box of cigars across the table and rang for a waiter to remove his tray.

"'America outside' still their motto, eh?" he observed, as he drew a chair up to the open window.

"You see," Stoneham went on, "they've never forgotten what a triumph it was for American diplomacy that our people in those days, refused all invitations to join the Genoa conference. We scored immensely all around by remaining outside, and you know what a general muddle that affair ended in. The fact of it is," he continued, selecting and lighting his cigar, "our people over here have never regained their faith in British diplomacy since those days. They can't see that they stand to be hurt in any way by remaining outside, and they can see that they might be drawn into a lot of trouble if they got involved in some of these economic disputes. We make our own rules now and play our own game, and we're the richest country in the world. It's a pretty hard situation to shake, Grant."

Grant was less perturbed than his companion had imagined possible.

"I've talked with Cornelius Blunn, since you've been away," he announced. "I've heard the same story from him. I believe he's right. I believe you're right. I believe that if the matter were to be decided upon today, the invitation to join the pact would be rejected by an overwhelming majority. Fortunately, the meeting of the Limitation of Armaments is to come first."

"Sure, but what difference does that make?" Stoneham inquired.

"It's going to make all the difference," Grant assured him. "I'm on the track of things already, and the conference doesn't take place fo- another month."

'Am I to be wise to this?"

"You are. But we've got to move warily. Blunn can afford to be good-natured about our fight against him so far as it has gone. He knows very well that his propaganda department is in perfect order. He can practically count his votes. He knows that on a fight as things are at present, we have'nt a chance. The moment he realizes that we are getting round his flanks, though, he'll be dangerous. Dan, you remember my telling you about Cleo, the little dancing girl, who used to go about with Count Itash?"

"Quite well."

"Well, Itash has brought the other girl over here. Cleo has followed, and Cleo paid me a visit the day before yesterday. She gave me a hint and I verified it. She is coming here again this morning."

"Do you trust her?" Stoneham asked doubtfully. "Do you think it really likely that a man like Itash would have told her secrets?"

"Of course he wouldn't," Grant agreed. "But this is the point. Itash has a habit of which he is ignorant. He talks in his sleep. Cleo admits that she thought nothing of it, at first;—that she did not even listen. Then some of the things he said struck her as being strange. Finally she understood. He was worrying over a failure of his to keep secret two great contracts for steel given last year and the year before. I followed this up. It happened to be rather in my line. What about this for a bombshell, Dan? Japan bought steel plates enough in Germany during the last two years to build every scrap of naval armament to which she was entitled. She also bought from different firms in America, some in the name of China, and some in her own name, three times the same quantity of steel, all of which was shipped."

"But say, how could she get away with a thing like that?" Stoneham asked incredulously.

"Largely bluff. The steel plates from Germany she declared faulty and announced her intention of using them for factory construction. Germany, with unusual complacency, actually admitted at the last meeting of the Limitation of Armaments that the plates were unfit for battleships, and, nominally, received a large compensation. This is the first little hint Mademoiselle Cleo has given me, Dan, and by the time I get my dispatches in from Japan—I have a good man out there, thank God—I think I shall be able to give the Limitation of Armaments Conference a shock. Cleo has a few other little matters to tell me about, too."

"Say, this is great!" Stoneham exclaimed. "Pity you couldn't have got her to make a complete disclosure while she was about it."

"I did my best," Grant assured him. "I offered her everything in the world except my hand and fortune, and I don't think she'd have accepted those. She's simply crazy over this fellow Itash. She's going slowly in case he relents."

Stoneham, with a start, sat upright in his chair. A sudden recollection had flashed into his brain.

"My God!" he cried. "Whatever have I been thinking about? What did you say her name was?"

"I've never heard her called anything but Mademoiselle Cleo. What about her? Don't tell me anything's happened already."

Stoneham caught up one of the newspapers from the table and pointed to a paragraph on the first page.

"Haven't looked at a paper," was

Grant read the paragraph eagerly. It occupied only a short space but the headlines were thick and prominent.

the feverish reply. "I hadn't finished my mail when you came in."

ATTEMPTED MURDER ON BROADWAY

Famous French Danseuse Shot by a Rival

"At a few minutes before 2 o'clock this morning, what seems to have been a deliberate attempt at murder took place on the corner of Broadway and Thirty-seventh street. It appears that Count Itash, who is here on an official mission to the Embassy of his country at Washington, was leaving Mason's Restaurant with Mademoiselle Yvonne, a well-known French dancer, when two shots where fired from amongst the crowd of passers-by. Mademoiselle Yvonne was slightly wounded but was able to return home in a taxicab. The assailant was distinctly seen by several of the passers-by, but managed to temporarily escape during the confusion. Her identity is known, however, and her arrest is momentarily expected."

LATER:

"Count Itash, on being interviewed, declared himself wholly unable to account in any way for the incident. He was not aware that the young lady by whom he was accompanied had any enemies in New York or any acquaintances at all. He was inclined to believe that the shot might have been intended for himself. Mademoiselle Yvonne, who is in a state of nervous prostration, declines to be interviewed at present. Her wound is apparently very slight but she is suffering from shock. Mademoiselle Yvonne was premiere danseuse last season in the Cafe de Paris in Monte Carlo, and has many friends both in Paris and over here. Her photograph appears on another page.

LATER:

"Mademoiselle Yvonne has denounced Mademoiselle Cleo, of Monaco, a rival danseuse, as her attempted murderess."

"Fool!" Grant exclaimed. "We are done, Dan. The police will have her, and if I know anything of Mr. Cornelius Blunn, she won't see daylight again until it's too late."

His companion was thoughtful for a moment.

"I'm not sure," he reflected, "that the best thing in the world for us won't be to have her safely under arrest. Blunn's gang can't get at her in prison anyhow. And she can be seen there."

"Blunn has a terrific pull with the police," Grant reminded him.

Stoneham moved toward the telephone.

"I'll ring up Police Headquarters and see if she's been arrested," he announced. "I know a man there who'll look after this for us."

His hand was already upon the telephone when there was an imperative knock on the door. He glanced around. Grant rose to his feet. Before either of them could say a word, the door was thrown open and closed again. Cleo stood there with her back to it, holding tightly to the handle, panting for breath.

Stoneham asked at once for the number.

"What do you want to say to Itash?" Grant demanded. "Tell me the rest quickly. You're French, Itash is in league with the Germans."

"Bah!" she sobbed. "He could be in league with the devil if he would come back to me. Listen. I ask him. He shall hear what I know. Then he shall choose. He shall take me and my silence and leave her forever, or I will kill her and I will tell you his secrets."

"Is that 1817 Plaza?" Stoneham inquired.

"Mademoiselle Cleo is here in 940 Hotel Great Central, the apartment of Mr. Grant Slattery. She desires you to come."

Cleo sprang across the room. She snatched the receiver in her own hand. She broke into a stream of incoherent French, rocking herself back and forth all the time, as though distracted with pain.

"I heard you speak those things," she cried.

SAN ANTONIO (Tex.) Sept. 30.—A more sure harbinger of the early visit of "Old Crimp" to the Southland, than the arrival of ducks and geese in large numbers which has already begun, is the reported thefts of seven gas stoves from a local church, and the nightly thefts of winter clothing, blankets and coverings, reported to police headquarters.

BELGIUM'S ROYAL PAIR SLUMMING

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

LONDON, Sept. 30.—Many stories are being told about the incognito visit last week of the King and Queen of Belgium in London, when they traveled about on busses and street cars unescorted and unnoticed. One of the best is about Sunday morning in a Jewish street market in Commercial Road, White Chapel, which is London's Jewish quarter. They boarded a bus in Picadilly Circus and rode on the top to Aldgate and then walked down Commercial Road.

Both were plainly dressed, the King in an old baggy blue suit and the Queen in a black coat and skirt. They halted before street stands, examined the wares and asked prices. Finally, they stopped at a stand kept by an old woman selling gayly colored celluloid combs.

"My wife would like that one," said the King to the old woman. "What is the price?"

"One shilling," replied the woman.

"Too dear. I'll give you ten pence," said the King.

"Take it," grumbled the old woman.

And the King dropped the gaudy comb into his pocket, handed over ten pence and walked off unrecognized except by a detective who had been assigned by Scotland Yard to keep an eye on them, whether they liked it or not.

WASHINGTON TO BACK COOLIDGE

Gov. Hart Says State Will Go Republican at Polls

Asserts Radical Sentiment is Clearly on Wane

Declares Issues Need Only to be Emphasized

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

WASHINGTON, Sept. 30.—Gov. Louis F. Hart of Washington, who called at the White House and conferred with President Coolidge today, expressed the conviction that if the conservative elements put their backs to the wheel, victory for Coolidge in the State is as certain as it is in the State of Maine.

"Radicalism is clearly on the wane," Gov. Hart said, "and my personal conviction is that when the ballots are counted on November 4 La Follette and the Socialist third ticket will receive a worse defeat than that which was administered to the Farmer-Labor party four years ago. This has been my conviction all along, before the primaries in the State were held, and since that time the situation has changed for the better for President Coolidge and the Republican party. The issue is the Constitution against revolutionary proposals, sanity and conservatism against radical innovations in the business life of the nation, Coolidge and his policies against uncertainty and upheaval. This only needs to be made clear and Washington will not be in doubt. We must work and take nothing for granted."

LA FOLLETTE ON WANE

C. L. Babcock, treasurer of the State, who accompanied Gov. Hart to Washington, said that sentiment in the State of Washington is undergoing a rapid change and that since the primaries La Follette sentiment has been weakening. A great many of the farmers have changed their views, he said, and are seriously alarmed over the issue of government ownership of public utilities which the Socialist third party is sponsoring.

"The experience we have had with the municipal ownership of street railways in Seattle, for instance, has not strengthened the belief of the people of Washington that it would be wise to launch a gigantic national scheme of government ownership and operation. The great majority of thinking people realize that the moment these great corporations are taken off the tax rolls, the burden on the small homeowner and on the average citizen increases. Tax burdens have been an issue and a policy that looks to increasing instead of diminishing them is looked upon with alarm by the mass of the people. This is aside altogether," he said, "from the effect that a mammoth scheme of government ownership would have on the economic, social and political life of the nation.

RADICALS LACK COHESION

"The radicalism we have in Washington is not of the kind that is for anybody or anything in particular. It lacks cohesion and it lacks an incentive. To this I attribute the weakening of La Follette sentiment. At the same time, it is still strong enough to merit serious attention from the Republican leaders."

Hart and Babcock attended a large dairy congress at Waterloo, Iowa. They said that they were "agreeably surprised" to find that the overwhelming majority of the farmers who attended the congress were strong supporters of President Coolidge. The general feeling of prosperity in the West, they said, is one of the assets of the campaign from the standpoint of the Republicans, but by far the strongest asset is the confidence of the masses of the people in the leadership of President Coolidge and in the steadfast character of the administration that his election will assure for all the people.

HIGH WATER PARALYZES PETROGRAD

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PETROGRAD, Sept. 30.—Once every 100 years, in 1724, 1824, and this year, an old prophecy has been fulfilled. Petrograd is under water. Between these 100-year periods everyone has forgotten the prophecy, so nobody was prepared for the flood, which came more suddenly than Noah's.

In one hour Petrograd was under water. In a few hours the Neva had risen eleven and one-half feet, just as in the time of Peter the Great and Alexander I. In one hour Petrograd, a city of 1,000,000, was without water, light, telegraph, telephone, fire protection or any transportation. Everywhere was water. Everyone was scared, wondering whether all Russia was flooded. No person had enough food stored.

The soviet trusts suffered 13,000,000 gold rubles ($6,000,000) damage alone. Warehouses, railroads and machine plants were damaged. Prince Felix Yoursoupoff's palace on the Neva was one of the worst sufferers. The opera house was flooded, as well as palaces in the suburbs.

Food supplies are now arriving in Petrograd as well as Moscow. The fire department is pumping the water away. Moscow is more concerned with Petrograd than with the Georgian revolution or League of Nations.

SHIP-LINE OFFICALS GIVE UP IN DISGUST

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

LONDON, Sept. 30.—Whe White Star Line has just closed its office in Moscow, opened two years ago, having found it impossible to do business under the soviets. Among the reasons for the impossibility of doing practical business are the soviet system of arbitrary legislation by decree, the imposition of levies and taxes without notice, and without regard for profits, and the molestation of employees by police and cheka.

SEEKS THRILLS FOR THRILLERS

Young Writer Turns Burglar to Get "Color"

Was Friend of Chicago Boy Murderer

Tells Police Story of Life at University

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

PASADENA, Sept. 30.—Earl Ryan, 20-year-old Los Angeles youth, arrested yesterday on suspicion of robbing the safe in a local business house, today confessed the crime and at the same time told detectives an amazing tale of how he is the son of a prominent Chicago family, is an intimate friend of Richard Loeb, participant in the famous Franks murder, and that he tried to crack the safe merely to obtain the proper atmosphere and thrill for a short story he was writing.

Young Ryan was arrested by Detective Lieutenants Stanley Decker and Ben Kaighin when he was leaving the rear of the Sherwin-Williams Paint Store on East Colorado street. Investigation revealed that he had entered the Nelson Shoe Store first and then attempted to crack the safe next door by hitting the combination with a hammer. Ryan said it was his first "job."

In telling detectives the story of his life Ryan said:

"I graduated from Bloom High School in Chicago and later attended the Northwestern University, where I majored in journalism. I met Dickie Loeb at a frat dance at the University of Chicago."

Ryan further told officers how he was expelled from college following a "party" and at the same time his parents disowned him. From then on, he said, he had been "kicking around" the States.

"My great ambition is to write something. Something real big," he further related. "I have written scores of short stories and scenarios, but all have been returned from publishers with the same criticism, 'Your stuff lacks feeling and understanding.' I came to Los Angeles to get this 'feeling' and breaking into those two stores was just part of my plan to educate myself to writing good stories with real first-hand thrills in them.

"I am not sorry that I was caught. The most I can get is three years and during that time I can get some valuable information for stories."

Ryan told in detail how he hammered the combination on the safe and later used a punch in an effort to open it. Although he disfigured the safe, he failed to get it open. Today officers issued a formal complaint against the youth charging him with burglary and larceny.

Letter Lingers a Long Time on Short Journey

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

HUNTINGTON PARK, Sept. 30.—Some Los Angeles company undoubtedly lost a sale by delay in arrival of their bid for furnishing the city with a lawn mower, and the city now has to go to the expense of readvertising for a mower.

City Clerk Hunter stated before a meeting of the Trustees that bids were to have been opened on September 15, but that none had been received until the 16th. He stated that he had a letter and bid from a Los Angeles company, the letter being written on September 10; the check accompanying the bid being dated September 11; the postmark on the envelope being Los Angeles, September 12, and the letter reached his office on September 16, just a day late.

This shows that it took four days for the letter to come from Los Angeles to this city, a distance of five or six miles.

SANTA ANA, Sept. 30.—The first gun in the Orange county political campaign will be fired here tomorrow night when Republicans from all over the county gather at the Temple Theater for a huge Coolidge-Dawes rally, sponsored by the Santa Ana Coolidge-Dawes Club, headed by W. C. Jerome as president.

The speaking program will be featured by addresses by former United States Senator Frank P. Flint, Los Angeles; C. C. Teague, Santa Paula, president of the California Walnut Growers' Association, and Congressman Phil Swing.

The tariff is listed among the political subjects to be discussed by the speakers, according to Jerome, who has completed arrangements for the rally. The gathering will be enlivened by vocal selections by a Santa Ana quartet.

It is expected that county-wide plans will be perfected for conducting the Coolidge-Dawes campaign to a satisfactory close at the polls in November. The membership of the booster clubs organized in various cities in the county will be urged to work diligently to get out the vote.

The Orange, Anaheim and Fullerton clubs have been invited to send large delegations to the rally.

The attempted attack was frustrated when Robert Clark of this city, who was driving past the Boler home with a woman companion, heard the screams of the Boler girl. Clark jumped from his machine and ran to the house in time to see the attacker jump over the railing and escape in an automobile.

KLAN LEADERS ON THE CARPET

Officials Investigate Asserted Riot at Ontario

Victim in Hospital With Fractured Skull

One Member of Mob Says He Fired Revolver

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

ONTARIO, Sept. 30.—In an effort to learn the facts concerning an asserted beating administered to A. McDougal by the Ku Klux Klan here Sunday night city and county officials are conducting investigations.

McDougal, who is 61 years old, was arrested for having contributed to the delinquency of Stella Hollingsworth, aged 12, and the charge has been openly made that the Klan attempted to take the place of the law, and did physical harm to the prisoner. The man is now in the County Hospital where physicians state he is suffering from a fractured skull and is in a critical condition.

Councilmen Isaac Jones, chairman of the Police Commission, stated this evening, following a meeting of that body with Mayor Willard D. Ball, today, that no public announcement could be made until the commission, which numbers also Councilman Charles Latimer, had had an opportunity to get all the facts in the case.

Mr. Jones stated that so far his efforts to get in touch with W. B. Hollingsworth, father of the girl, and a prominent Klansman, had proven unavailing and that the commission wished to get his story of the affair first hand before proceeding. Mayor Ball also stated that he would have nothing to say for publication until the case had been thoroughly investigated. He declared that the only question concerning the city was whether or not proper co-operation was given by the police department.

City Attorney E. H. Jolliffe, who has made some investigations of the case in an unofficial capacity, declared this afternoon that he would not recommend the discharge from the police department of all officers who are known to be affiliated with the Klan. Mr. Jolliffe asserted that he could not believe that all officers so affiliated held their allegiance to the Klan above their duty to the city as policemen.

Representatives of the District Attorney's office were in Ontario the greater part of the day conferring with Chief of Police W. O. Hardy and members of his force, and with other city officials, but so far as could be learned, no definite action has been taken.

It is understood that the fact that a number of persons who participated in Sunday night's mob were armed. Dr. W. M. Moore, prominent Klansman and participant in the McDougal affair, has admitted firing a revolver into the air at the time of the aged man's arrest. Investigation of the scene of the arrest, in the rear of an East A-street hotel, failed to disclose the projecting nail on which McDougal is said to have struck his head when he was reported to have fallen.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

ALHAMBRA, Sept. 30.—The path of the traveling "tent show" attempting to revive the spoken drama is not strewn with roses.

Attorneys for the Motion Picture Owners' Association appeared before the City Council last night and asked that a city ordinance be amended to place a prohibitive license fee upon all tent shows, carnivals and similar amusements. Local theater managers also added their voices to the argument.

As a result the commission has drafted an amendment which will oblige the city to charge tent shows, etc., $100 for the first day and $75 for each succeeding day if they would attempt to elevate the state of the drama in Alhambra. The existing ordinance provides for a fee of $2 a day for such enterprises.

The issue has been stirred up here by the appearance of a tent show which opened Monday night, presenting spoken drama. The proprietor secured a license for one week.

The amended ordinance is not intended to prevent chautauquas nor local carnivals and entertainments under canvas.

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

LONG BEACH, Sept. 30.—A few minutes after a Coroner's jury had cleared him of blame in connection with the death of a messenger boy Saturday night, in a traffic accident, Wesson Truss, 28 years of age, was arrested by Detective Sergeant Le Barron on a charge that the car which he had driven and which ran down the boy had been stolen.

The inquest was conducted over the body of William Eldo Bennett, 15. The boy was on his bicycle when the car driven by Truss struck and killed him. Testimony showed that the boy had no lights on his bicycle and that the heavy fog Saturday night had made the accident unavoidable.

A few minutes later, however, Truss was placed under arrest. It is charged that he had taken the car which he was driving at the time of the accident without the owner's permission. Shortly before the accident, Truss had been released from the City Jail, where he served fifty-two days of a 180-day jail sentence for violation of the liquor laws.

Clammer, the complaining witness, testified that he leased a barn to Iriberi on Prado Road, south of this city, and that a fire at the property some weeks ago disclosed a still, barrels and corn mash.

Iriberi in turn, testified that he had sublet the property to a man by the name of Bloom, who has since disappeared from sight. He insisted that he knew nothing of the still and other articles.

Constable W. J. Tebo of Chino Township, and J. C. Paccillas were the witnesses who failed to appear at today's trial and for whom bench warrants will be issued, it is said.

Firemen Save City of Taft From Flames

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

TAFT, Sept. 30.—Fire of unknown origin, discovered in the laundry of Sam Kee on Center street, early this morning threatened the entire business district of Taft and caused $50,000 damage before being extinguished by the fire department. Good water pressure and quick work on the part of the fire fighters saved most of the business block between Fourth and Fifth streets on Center street.

The fire was discovered about 2 a.m. and quickly spread to adjoining structures. An alarm was turned in as soon as the flames were discovered in the laundry, and the fire department responded immediately, succeeding in confining the blaze to the laundry and adjoining business house.

Business concerns burned out were McMann's Bakery, with a loss of $2500; the Jersey Creamery, with a loss of $8000; the Sam Bailin store, with a loss of $18,000; the Sam Kee Laundry, with a loss of $2000, and the Star Grocery Company, with a loss of $3500.

Culver Council Delays Action on Race Track

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

CULVER CITY, Sept. 30.—The action on the application of the Speedway Corporation of Los Angeles for a ten-year franchise to run an automobile speedway at the Culver City race track was delayed for one week at last night's session of the City Council.

A check of petitions for and against the franchise revealed a 3 to 2 majority of registered voters against granting a franchise without a vote of the people. Although Trustees a week ago decided they would be governed by the petitions, they declared last night that the petitions were ambiguous and did not indicate the real sentiment of the people in this city.

City Attorney J. F. Imel was instructed to draft new petitions which would be definitely for and against granting a franchise. These are to be circulated and turned in Saturday.

Decision was also made at last night's session to advertise for a City Manager, who when appointed will hold office for a period of ninety days. After that time, it will be put to a vote of the people whether or not they wish a continuance of the City Manager form of government. Harry Culver, the founder of the city, is said to be very much in favor of this form of city government.

BANKERS HOLD GOLDEN MEET

Fiftieth Annual Convention of A.B.A., in Chicago

Retiring President Opposes Government Ownership

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CHICAGO, Sept. 30.—Opening the fiftieth annual convention of the American Bankers' Association at the Auditorium Theater here today, Walter W. Head, president of the organization, unequivocally opposed government ownership of railroads and other great basic industries, urged the bankers to combat vigorously all efforts to give Congress the power to override decisions of the Supreme Court, and declared that the causes of the agricultural crisis were predominately economic and the remedy lay in the application of sound economic principles rather than in the pursuit of political panaceas.

E. T. Meredith, former Secretary of Agriculture, followed President Head on the program, and emphasized in his address to the bankers the need of a better realization on the part of business men of the fact that agriculture is the controlling factor in all business. O. Howard Wolfe, cashier of the Philadelphia Bank of Philadelphia, addressed the State secretaries section of the American Bankers' Association, taking as his theme the wide range of services the banks perform for their customers, some of which are conducted at serious losses.

Two of the sections held elections, the State bank division choosing William C. Gordon as president, and the State secretaries section electing W. F. Augustine to serve in a similar capacity. Mr. Gordon is president of the Farmers' Savings Bank of Marshall, Mo., and Augustine is vice-president of the Merchants' National Bank of Richmond, Va., and secretary of the Virginia Bankers' Association.

Mr. Head, the retiring president of the American Bankers' Association, after reviewing in his address the association's fifty years of service to the banking profession and the nation, dwelt upon the burden of taxation now prevailing and stated that it had reached the point of oppression.

TAXATION BURDEN

"The Federal taxes of 1920," he said, "aggregated more than $5,500,000,000. This year, after strenuous efforts to reduce the war-time peak, the total still exceeds $3,000,000,000. State and local taxes have increased at an even greater rate. Taxation has become more than a problem; it is a threat of impending disaster.

"Nor is the burden of government limited to taxation. We are oppressed by a multiplicity of restrictive laws and administrative regulations. It is estimated that there are over 2,000,000 laws and ordinances in the records of nation, States and municipalities.

"In the face of this record, despite the general recognition of the overwhelming burden of government, we find ourselves constantly waging a defensive battle against plans and programs which would transfer still greater duties to government, which would hamper individual initiative still further, which will—if put into practice—crush individual ambition and destroy individual opportunity.

"We are being urged to desert ideals of individual enterprise, to enthrone government instead of the individual as the mainspring of industrial achievement. We face demands for government ownership and operation of railroads, of coal mines, of various great basic industries. These efforts to nationalize our industries are especially destructive at the present time, when our railroads need careful guidance in order that they may avoid financial disaster and in order that the transportation burden, borne by the public, may be kept at the lowest possible figure."

UPHOLD CONSTITUTION

One of our greatest needs today, Mr. Head declared, is to repel the attacks now being made upon the integrity of the Constitution of the United States. He continued, "We should—we must—oppose vigorously all efforts to give Congress the power to override decisions of the Supreme Court—and thereby destroy the division of governmental power which is the inherent strength of our constitutional system. In the words of a Presidential candidate: 'These proposed amendments can have no other purpose than an entire change in our constitutional system, for in attempting to destroy or limit the power of the Supreme Court to adjudicate upon the Constitutionality of legislation, we are giving up at one stroke not merely our belief in the separation of judicial and legislative powers, but our reliance upon the Constitution as the supreme law of the land . . When all such proposals are reduced to their simplest terms, they stand forth naked and undisguised as an attack on our theory of government under a written Constitution.

In his discussion of agriculture, Ex-Secretary Meredith pointed out in demonstrating his thesis that business and agriculture are interdependent to a close degree, that "the opportunity to go into banking, the publishing business, to market groceries, to establish a drug store, all these in the final analysis have been given to us because of agriculture. The conditions in agriculture from year to year affect every one of these institutions most vitally.

AGRICULTURE

"The income from agriculture, and consequently its support of business, is regular, not hit and miss or spotted throughout the year, and not largely all in one season of the year as many business men seem to be under the impression it is. When one single source of farm income takes a slump, the calamity howlers make so much of it that some are led to overestimate its effect upon general business, as was the case with wheat. One would think that the farmer received his entire income from wheat, and yet 1922 production figures show that the farmer received less for his wheat than he did for his corn, hay, cotton or vegetables, as well as from several sources of animal product income.

"It is true that a decreased income from any one farm product such as wheat is a serious blow to the farmers who are depending on this one crop for their major income, but we should keep in mind, when considering agriculture as a whole, that a slump in any one product does not materially impair agricultural purchasing power as a whole. The idea that the farmer gets his income in the fall is quite prevalent and just as erroneous. An average distribution of income would be 8.3 per cent each month, which is not very different from the farmer's actual experience."

Although the convention formally opened today, the savings bank division met yesterday for preliminary discussions. Alvin P. Howard, vice-president of the Hibernia Bank and Trust Company of New Orleans, was chosen to head the division for the coming year. The trust company division, which also convened yesterday, elected Lucius Teter, president of the Chicago Trust Company of Chicago, as president.

BAD CHECKS

A few days ago the car belonging to Elmer H. Young was in a collision, and in the confusion following the accident the registration certificate was stolen from the car, together with some personal papers belonging to Mr. Young.

Using these papers as a means of identification and representing himself to be Elmer H. Young, the thief has been passing a number of bad checks in and around Los Angeles. The last one which was turned over to the forgery detail was drawn on the Hellman bank for $12, signed H. R. Bowm, and the criminal stated that this amount was given to him as payment for labor.

Following is a description of this man: American, age 22; height 5 ft. 8 inches; weight 160 pounds; dark hair and well dressed.

The public should be on the alert for a person answering the above description, and any information regarding this man's activities or whereabouts should be forwarded to the forgery detail at Central Police Station.

LOS ANGELES MARKET

CATTLE: The larger part of today's supply were yesterday's arrivals that came in too late for the afternoon trade. Active demand developed for the steers at strong prices. The better grades of fat cows and heifers sold readily at fully steady prices, while the in-between kinds were rather slow sellers on a steady to weak basis. A three-car string of 1072-pound northern steers topped at 8.75, while 1047-pound averages turned for 8.50. Medium 990 to 1074-pound northerns cashed for 7.75 and 8.00, respectively. A car of common 716-pound Arizona steers realized 4.00. A load of good 1122-pound northern cows cleared for 5.65, while two cars of 982-pound spayed heifers went over for 5.60. The usual run of cows, mostly northerns, cleared from 4.25 to 4.85. Canners and cutters were scarce and sold mostly from 2.00 to 3.25, while the small supply of bulls went over from 3.25 to 3.75.

CALVES: Fresh arrivals were small, although offerings were fairly liberal, due to the fact that ten loads were held over. Buyers bought sparingly at prices generally weak to 50 cents lower. A fair clearance was effected, due to the fact that some calves were reloaded for outside markets. Odd head good handy weight sold upward to 7.00, while the bulk, common nad medium 210 to 318-pound range calves, cleared from 5.00 to 6.25, with part load 134-pound averages at 6.50.

HOGS: Very narrow demand existed for butchers and only one load had sold up to a late hour. This load averaged 153 pounds and brought 11.50. The recent hot days have caused a decrease in pork consumption and packers are having difficulty in moving their product.

SHEEP: No sheep arrived and buyers advise that they will pay upward to 12.50 or more for choice handy weight wooled lambs.

BUSINESS NEWS OF BUSY MARTS

Security Bank Announces New Plant at Wilmington

Banker Visions Satisfactory Business Outlook

First Mortgage Bond Issue; Gossip of the "Street"

The new building at 107 West Anaheim street which the Security Trust and Savings Bank has built to house its Wilmington branch will be formally opened for business this morning. Since last May the branch has been occupying temporary quarters nearby.

The new building which is an attractive one-story structure is a unit of what will eventually be a much larger building to occupy the entire corner of Anaheim and Canal streets. Safe deposit vaults are provided as an added feature of the Security's Wilmington service. The vault is equipped with two five-ton steel doors.

Fred Richardson is manager of the Wilmington Security branch. He was formerly president of Corona National Bank, and before that served for eleven years as president of the Wellston State Bank of Wellston, Okla.

BOND OFFERINGS

Blair & Co. Inc., are offering an issue of $2,000,000 National Tower Building first mortgage fee and leasehold twenty-year sinking fund, 6 1-2 per cent gold bonds, due October 1, 1944.

The issue is secured by a closed mortgage on the properties of the National Tower Corporation, situated at the northeast corner of Broadway and Thirty-seventh street, New York City, where there is now located on the leasehold premises a twelve-story mercantile building. In addition, the corporation has acquired in fee an undivided unit on the south side of Thirty-eighth street, on which it is now constructing a twenty-story modern, fireproof, steel frame addition to the present building, having a frontage on Thirty-eighth street of 100 feet and running to and connecting with the present building, so that the completed structure will be operated as one undivided unit.

The bonds are also unconditionally guaranteed as to principal and interest by indorsement of the corporation, R. Sadowsky, Inc., one of the leading garment manufacturers in New York City, which controls the ownership of the building. The net worth of the guarantor corporation is certified to be in excess of $4,000,000. Earnings on the combined properties have been estimated at $375,000 per annum. The maximum annual interest charges on this issue amount to $130,000.

DAY'S BEST INTERVIEW

George E. Roberts, vice-president, the National City Bank, New York: "The outlook for business this fall and for next summer is very satisfactory. Conditions are more favorable to stability and general prosperity than at any time in recent years. The rise of prices of farm products gives reason for hope that the depression which has affected the great body of people on the farms has passed and probably will not return.

The last few months have furnished a demonstration that the prices of farm products have been weighed down by a comparatively small surplus, and with restoration of normal industrial conditions in Europe the increased demand from that quarter, together with the increasing demand of our own growing population, will maintain a higher level of prices hereafter.

The banking situation is very strong, and the country is accumulating capital sufficient for a vast amount of development work at home, and also to supply anticipated foreign demands. The acceptance of the Dawes plan for the reparation settlement gives promise that industry will be quickened all over the world, and that the course of social and industrial progress, which was interrupted by the war, is about to be fully resumed."

ORGANIZES NEW FIRM

Joseph C. Tyler, who was formerly associated with Carstens & Earles, Incorporated, has announced his resignation from that firm. Mr. Tyler has formed a company to be known as Joseph C. Tyler & Co. and will engage in the bond business in San Francisco.

The founder of the new firm is well known in financial circles on the Pacific slope through his activities over the past twelve years, first as manager of the bond department of the Spokane and Eastern Trust Company of Spokane, and later as manager of the bond department of Carstens & Earles, Incorporated, in Seattle and San Francisco.

NEW QUARTERS

The Earl R. Obern Company, advertising counselors, today moved to their new and enlarged quarters at 807 Lincoln Building. The company has been located in the Union League Building, but the need for additional facilities, the enlarging of the various departments and the addition of an art department have made necessary the change to a more central location, according to Earl R. Obern.

UTILITY ADVERTISING

That the public utilities are rapidly adjusting themselves to serious and systematized plans of advertising, particularly in carrying on their customer-ownership campaigns, was pointed out by E. Paul Young, manager of investment and advertising departments, Illinois Power and Light Corporation, Chicago, speaking before the Great Lakes section of the National Electric Light Association in session at French Lick Springs, Ind.

Mr. Young, who was formerly associated with the Los Angeles office of Blyth, Witter & Co., was one of the principal speakers on the program at the meeting, which opened September 24 and closed September 27. His topic was "Advertising Utility Securities."

RANCH PROFITS

Net operating profit of the Ellison Ranching Company for the fiscal year ending May 31, 1924, totaled $89,247.19, and after the payment of nonoperating expenses the company was able to transfer $39,181.35 to surplus, according to the statistical department of Drak, Riley & Thomas. The Ellison Ranching Company first mortgage 8 per cent bonds are owned in part by Southern California investors.

At the end of the fiscal year the company owned live stock numbering 45,629 and valued at $647,855, which compares with 40,319 and $814,460 for the previous year. Gross profit on live stock, consisting of the sale of cattle, sheep and hogs totaled $149,689.50. The sale of wool, hides, hay and pasturage yielded $56,082.81.

DIVIDEND CHECKS

Checks representing $126,000 in quarterly dividends will be mailed today to the stockholders of the Globe Grain and Milling Company, A. D. Buckley, secretary of the company announced yesterday. The common stockholders will receive their first dividend since January 1, 1921, which is being paid at the rate of $4 annually, and represents a total quarterly payment of $50,000. It is No. 92 in the list of common dividends paid by the company.

The first preferred stockholders will receive dividend No. 31, at the annual rate of 7 per cent and amounting to $42,000. Second preferred stock will be paid No. 11, totaling $4000, and at the annual rate of 8 per cent.

WORLD TRADERS

BANKER RETURNS

Throughout the East there is a marked overabundance of money according to Paul E. Neuschaefer, cashier of the Union Bank and Trust Company of Los Angeles, who has just returned from a combination business and pleasure trip covering three weeks' time.

In the course of this trip Mr. Neuschaefer visited St. Louis, Chicago, New York and Baltimore. On his return he passed through the Texas cotton district at Ft. Worth and El Paso. In each of the localities he visited he called on a large number of banks and wholesale houses.

PERSONAL MENTION

Maj. Walter K. Tuller of the legal firm of O'Melveny, Milliken, Tuller & MacNeil, today received a wire from John R. Quinn, retiring National Commander of the American Legion, advising that he would arrive in Los Angeles today to take up his active duties as vice-president of the Seaboard National Bank of Los Angeles, to which position he has recently been elected.

BUSINESS IMPROVEMENT

Evidence of Trade Expansion; Money Supply Abundant; Wheat and Cotton Situation

Definite improvement in some of the most important branches of business has taken place in the last few weeks, states the current issue of the Guaranty Survey, which has just been issued by the Guaranty Trust Company of New York. Not only has there been further expansion in wholesale and retail distribution, but industrial activity, which, generally speaking, has been the laggard in the upward movement, has given definite signs of response to the influences making for progress.

"Up to the present," the Survey continues, "no pronounced general revival has occurred. Such changes as have actually appeared, however, are mostly of a favorable nature. The tangible evidences of increased activity are confined to a few lines, but it is significant that the clearest indications of improvement are present in some of those industries which have been in the most unfavorable positions.

"Evidences of trade expansion are seen in the recent movement of railway freight, which has been gradually approaching last year's series of high records. In part, of course the increase in railroad traffic is due to the seasonal movement of agricultural commodities. But a broader basis of growth is indicated by the fact that, in the week ended September 6, loadings of miscellaneous freight were the largest ever recorded in a similar period. Loadings of merchandise and freight in less than carload lots were also in excess of the total of a year ago.

"Automobile production increased in August, and further slight expansion is reported this month, together with more active distribution by manufacturers. The improved economic position of the farming population is expected to provide an important stimulus to sales in the immediate future.

MONEY SUPPLY ABUNDANT

"One of the most striking features of the present situation is the extraordinary abundance of money. Interest rates, after a slight stiffening early this month in response to the seasonal increase in demand, have returned to the midsummer level. There will probably be a larger demand for money during the remaining months of the year, and some firmness may be expected in the next sixty days as a result of crop moving and other seasonal factors. Both the abundance of loanable funds and the outlook for gradual expansion in business are likely to maintain security prices at high levels for some months to come.

"The condition of the wheat crops in other producing countries is not so favorable as in the United States. Long-continued wet weather throughout the European wheat belt, the worst in sixty years, has gravely affected not only the quantity but the quality of the crop. It has also had the effect of greatly reducing the food value of the potato crop, and anxiety as to the winter's food supply is already manifest throughout Europe. The wheat production of the world, excluding Russia, will be from 10 to 11 per cent smaller than that of last year, while the latest reports from Russia indicate that that country will have great difficulty in providing a comparatively modest surplus for export.

COTTON SITUATION

"One of the most encouraging of recent business developments is the improvement in the outlook for the cotton textile industry. For more than a year the manufacturers of cotton goods have been facing an exceptionally severe depression, the effects of which have been felt in many other branches of industry and trade.

"Among the obstacles to the even and continuous revival of business since 1921 has been the lack of balance between economic groups, due to the fact that certain basic industries have been seriously embarrassed by special conditions which have prevented them from swinging into line in any general upward movement. A conspicuous example is the cotton textile industry, in which the factor of primary importance has been a succession of short crops, with steadily diminishing stocks and rising prices for the raw material. This is the exact reverse of the situation which has been causing trouble in several agricultural lines, and its principal reaction has been upon the manufacturing rather than upon the agricultural branch of the industry.

"If the economic position of the cotton farmer had been similar to that of the wheat grower or ranchman, the short crops would have caused a depression in the cotton belt, just as low wheat prices caused a depression in the wheat belt. Cotton, like wheat, is a world crop, and the price is a world price. But the cotton farmer is in a peculiarly advantageous position, due to the fact that American cotton constitutes so large a portion of the world's supply that it virtually dominates the market. For many years the American crop has invariably represented more than half of the world's production. The relative price, therefore, tends to move inversely with the size of the domestic output, short crops being offset by high prices.

"The average relative price has been rising steadily since 1920, while stocks have regularly diminished year by year. Talk of a 'cotton famine' has been heard with increasing frequency, and it appears that another short crop this year would have been virtually sufficient to bring about such a situation.

"It is doubtful, however, whether the new crop will make possible any material increase in the world's carry-over of cotton. It will provide immediate relief from a dangerous situation. But a series of harvests equal to this year's output would be no more than sufficient to supply the domestic and foreign requirements, and to increase stocks to a point of comparative safety."

COTTON WORKS LOWER ON WEATHER REPORTS

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, Sept. 30.—Spot cotton closed today 35 points net lower at 25.75 cents.

Cotton futures reacted sharply after an initial upturn. Weather predictions for the belt induced the selling, especially from hedging sources, and renewed activities by the professional operators. On the opening call October advanced more than $2 a bale on heavy concentrated buying, and other months showed proportionate gains but all this and some 30 points more were lost on the subsequent reaction. Final prices were 8 to 14 points above the low levels, but 20 to 30 points net lower.

Eastern Firms Participate in Bond Offering

For the first time several of the larger eastern bond houses are today participating in a syndicate offering western issues in the West. This is noticeable in an offering of $4,743,000 of 6 per cent serial gold bonds, in three issues, for the Salt River Valley Water Users' Association hydro-electric development, which is being placed on the market by the Anglo London Paris Company, Rutter & Co., of New York, Marshall Field, Glore, Ward & Co., and Stevenson, Perry, Stacy & Co., of Chicago; Stephens & Co., and Freeman, Smith and Camp Company. All the issues are legal investments for savings banks and trust funds in California and Arizona and the two district issues are tax exempt.

The bonds are $2,500,000 Salt River Water Users' Association, due 1938-43, sold on a 6 per cent basis; $665,000 Roosevelt Agricultural Improvement District No. 1, maturing 1935-54, offered on a 5.40 and 5.50 per cent basis, and $1,578,000 Agricultural Improvement District No. 2, due 1939-54, on a 5.40 and 5.50 per cent basis.

The bonds have what is termed a double security. The association, the largest producer of hydro-electric power in Arizona, has present net earnings from power sales of over twice the bond interest requirements, and future earnings are estimated at four and a half times interest charges. It is a public utility, the bonds of which are secured by the earnings and operating properties, and are further secured by assessments already levied against 240,000 acres of land surrounding Phoenix, Ariz., appraised by the Superintendent of Banks of the State of California at $42,000,000. Such assessments are a lien on the land prior to all previous and subsequent mortgages. Additions and improvements just finished and those being made by the Salt River Valley Water Users' Association will increase the annual net earnings from $382,663, which has been the average for the past three years, to approximately $1,700,000 per annum.

PRICE OF FLOUR IS ADVANCED BY DEALERS

The Sam Seelig Company reports another advance in local flour which brings the price up to $8.60 per barrel in forty-nine-pound bags or $1.60 per barrel over the price prevailing a year ago.

The advance, according to Edward Dale, vice-president, is caused solely by world wheat crop conditions. The Russian government, in placing a ban on the exportation of wheat from that country, has been the cause of sending buying orders from all European countries into the American markets and this, in turn, has brought about rapid advances in price of Canadian and domestic grain.

Even at yesterday's prices, Mr. Dale says, the market is considered noticeably strong and further increases can be expected in flour should the wheat market continue on its upward climb. As a general statement, an increase of 5 cents per bushel in wheat brings an advance of 25 cents per barrel on flour. This is based on the assumption that five bushels of wheat will produce one barrel of flour.

The Sam Seelig executive further states that Germany is entering the markets for canned fruits and dried fruits and commodities of a like nature. All surplus stocks in these lines have been cleaned up and buyers for 1924 packs of this class of merchandise are compelled to pay advances every time they enter the market for additional supplies.

Definite Compensation—Specified

Acting in the capacity of selling agents involves a minimum risk—definite compensation is received whether the products sold net a profit or loss to the owner. The large fruit auction houses receive a certain amount for each box of fruit sold. Compensation is not dependent upon a profitable transaction for the grower.

The Earl Fruit Company was incorporated in California in 1887. It is a national institution as well as one of the oldest of its kind in the West. Through controlling ownership of two of the largest auction companies on the Atlantic Coast, powerful influence is exerted in every field of distribution.

Its activities include fruits grown in other States as well as California. The California fruit crop in one year amounted to $270,000,000 or 67% of all agricultural products grown in the State.

A substantial income is derived from the distribution of fruit produced by many growers—income from the sale of box shook used in packing fruit—income from fruit grown on lands owned by the company.

Earnings for the current year, it is estimated, will run approximately $1,000,000, or considerably in excess of last year. Interest charges on bonds will require only $242,385.

Properties of the company have been appraised at $7,624,471; and include—agricultural lands, industrial sites, packing houses and equipment, warehouses, sawmill and box factory. Total assets of the company are in excess of $12,000,000.

Earl Fruit Company First (Closed) Mortgage Bonds due 1938 have been certified as a Legal Investment for Savings Banks in California. At the present price, 95½ plus accrued interest, the yield is 7.10%, offering an attractive as well as sound investment.

BOND QUOTATIONS

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, Sept. 30.—With trading retarded by the higher money situation bond prices today drifted irregularly lower. Activity in the leading income and adjustment bonds, including those of the Frisco and Katy railroads, was prompted by the fact that they sell ex-interest tomorrow. Price movements generally were narrow and insignificant.

Despite a good demand for a number of northwestern railroad bonds, the main trend of the rail group was lower. Some of the high-grade issues, including those of the Burlington, Southern Pacific and Big Four roads, were heavy.

Liberty bonds were irregular with the Treasury 4 1-4s in demand.

Following are yesterday's high, low and closing prices of bonds on the New York Stock Exchange, and the total sales of each bond. This market is over Associated Press wires and to expedite transmission the closing is omitted when it is the same as the low, and both low and close are omitted when they are the same as the high.

Public Service Company of Northern Illinois

Due July 1, 1964

Price 96 and Interest, Yielding Over 5¾%

Interest payable January 1 and July 1, without deduction for normal Federal Income Tax now or hereafter deductible at the source, not in excess of 2%. Coupon bonds in interchangeable denominations of $1,000, $500 and $100.

For detailed information regarding these Bonds, attention is directed to a letter of Mr. Samuel Insull, Chairman, from which the following is summarized:

Territory: The Public Service Company of Northern Illinois now serves 202 communities located in a compact area of Illinois, containing some 6,000 square miles and located in fifteen counties, having a combined population, according to the 1920 census, of 1,054,383, excluding the City of Chicago. Electric service is rendered in 198 communities, gas in 56, water in 5 and heat in 4. The Company's field of operation, embracing the wealthy suburban territory tributary to Chicago and the surrounding widely diversified manufacturing districts, is an excellent market for light and power and industrial gas.

Security: The First Lien and Refunding Mortgage Bonds, including the present issue, in the opinion of counsel, will be secured (a) by a first mortgage collateral lien on the power plant of the Waukegan Generating Company, through pledge of substantially all of the latter's capital stock, and all of its First Mortgage Gold Bonds from time to time outstanding, such bonds aggregating, upon completion of the present financing, $3,461,000 principal amount, (b) by the pledge of $23,789,000 principal amount of the Company's First and Refunding Mortgage Gold Bonds, and (c) by a direct mortgage lien on all of the Company's physical property now owned or hereafter acquired, subject only to prior lien bonds from time to time outstanding.

The First Lien and Refunding Mortgage Gold Bonds precede (as of August 31, 1924) 100,000 shares of outstanding Preferred Stock paying 6% per annum and 48,053 shares of outstanding Preferred Stock paying 7% per annum and 217,880 shares of outstanding Common Stock paying $7 per share per annum, all having a combined market value, as indicated by recent quotations, of over $36,000,000; and in addition 15,523 shares of 7% Preferred Stock have been sold, payments for which will be completed from time to time prior to May 2, 1925.

Earnings: For the year ended December 31, 1923, gross earnings were $16,740,708.69 and net earnings, before depreciation, etc., $5,983,091.07. The annual interest requirement on the funded debt of the Company in the hands of the public, including the present issue, is $2,866,260. Gross and net earnings for the calendar year 1924 to date show an increase over those for the similar period of 1923.

Management: The management is in the hands of experienced public utilities men, who have built up for the Company a well established and growing business, which is evidenced by the increasing popularity of the Company's service. The Company was awarded the Charles A. Coffin Foundation Medal for the year 1923 in recognition of its "distinguished contribution to the development of electric light and power for the convenience of the public and the benefit of the industry."

HOW IRRIGATION ACT OPERATES

Machinery for Collection of Assessments Explained

Redemption and Alternative Enforcement; Summary

Because of the rapid expansion of the irrigation area in California and the growing volume of securities being offered, the public interest in such development and the safeguarding of these important investments is of increasing interest not only to the bondholders, but to everyone who has at heart the agricultural prosperity of the State.

To secure an interpretation of the Irrigation District Act and its operation in easily understood terminology, S. M. Haskins, of the law firm of Gibson, Dunn & Crutcher, has written a series of three articles for The Times.

The third and last of these, presented herewith, deals with the machinery for collecting assessments, duties of the District Attorney in the premises, remedies for noncollection, redemption, title and conveyance, and alternative enforcement.

BY S. M. HASKINS

The California Irrigation District Act specifically takes care of any failure on the part of the public officials of an irrigation district to perform their duties by providing that, if the board of directors of the district refuses or neglects to make the necessary assessment and levy for the payment of bond principal or interest, the duly equalized assessment made by the County Assessor of the county within which the district is located shall be made the basis of the assessment of the district. And the law further provides that the Board of Supervisors of the county shall cause an assessment roll of the district to be prepared. In other words, if the board of directors does not act in preparing the assessment roll and levying the assessment, the Board of Supervisors must step in and perform the duties of the board of directors.

In case the collector or treasurer of any district refuses to perform the duties imposed upon him by the law, then the County Tax Collector and the County Treasurer must perform such duties and shall be accountable under their official bond for so doing.

DISTRICT ATTORNEY'S DUTIES

The law also recites the specific duties of the District Attorney of the county in such cases of nonperformance of duty. It shall be the duty of the District Attorney of each county in which the district is located to ascertain whether or not such duties are being performed. If the board of directors or any official has neglected or refused to perform any of the duties in question the District Attorney must notify the County Board of Supervisors, or the other county officials concerned, or both. Unless the Board of Supervisors or the other county officials proceed within thirty days to the performance of these duties the District Attorney shall take whatever action in court may be necessary to compel performance. In the event that the District Attorney fails to do this the law provides that the Attorney-General of the State must take such measures as may be necessary to enforce the performance of the duties relating to the levying and collection of assessments as in this act provided.

A writ of mandamus will also lie against the Attorney-General and other officials to compel the performance of their duties as placed upon them by law.

Because of these remedies in the event of the failure of the officials to act the law is much stronger and better devised in the case of irrigation-district bonds than it is in regard to general county and city municipal obligations.

NONCOLLECTION REMEDIES

However, an assessment made must be paid, and our next task is to ascertain the remedies the law provides in case of failure to collect this assessment. The assessment upon the land is a lien against the property assessed from and after the first Monday in March for any year. Assessments become delinquent at 6 o'clock on the last Monday of December and, unless paid, 10 per cent is added to the amount thereof.

On or before the first day of February the collector must publish the delinquent list. The publication must designate the time and place of sale of the land for taxes. The time of sale must not be less than twenty-one nor more than twenty-eight days from the first publication of the delinquent list. The property is sold for the amount of the delinquent taxes and charges, including penalties. The title so acquired is subject to the right of redemption, but with this contingency the title may be conveyed by deed. A certificate of sale is made out at these tax sales and filed with the County Recorder, and after such filing the lien of the assessments vests with the purchaser and is only divested by the payment to him, or to the collector for his use, of the purchase money and 2 per cent per month from the day of sale until redemption.

REDEMPTION CONVEYANCE

Redemption of the property sold may be made by the owner or any party interested within three years from the date of purchase, or at any time thereafter before the final deed has been made and delivered. If the property is not redeemed within the time herein provided the collector, upon demand, must make to the purchaser or his assignee a deed to the property. Such deed conveys to the grantee the absolute title to the lands.

ALTERNATIVE ENFORCEMENT

The board of directors may, at any time after any assessment has become delinquent, direct the collector not to proceed with the sale of any property, but to bring suit against the delinquent taxpayer in the proper court in the name of the district and enforce collection.

The provisions of this section would seem to give a double remedy in the case of financially responsible persons. In other words, the land may either be sold for taxes or recovery of the taxes made by direct suit.

Irrigation bonds are not subject to any California State tax except inheritance tax, nor to any Federal income tax. Individuals are not required to declare ownership to the Federal government.

This completes our discussion of the act. An effort has been made to discuss clearly and completely those sections which vitally affect the safety of the bonds of these districts. It seems that all necessary legal safeguards have been thrown around such obligations and that, under the workings of the law, these bonds are as safe as the future of the land against which they are a lien. This is the implication from the act. If the bondholder has satisfied himself as to the value of the district up to the amount of bonds issued he need have no fear as to the ultimate payment of his obligation.

LOS ANGELES EXCHANGE

A wide range resulting in a decline of 3 cents from the previous day was the reaction on the Los Angeles Stock Exchange yesterday to the official announcement of the discovery of oil on the land of the Los Angeles Investment Company. The stock opened strong at 3.88 and climbed to 3.92, but from that point the selling overbalanced the buying and prices slumped to a final of 3.82. Trading was heavy and interest in the possibilities of the development of a new oil field was especially keen.

The Julian issues recovered slightly, the preferred advancing 1-8 of a point to 13 5-8, and the common acquiring the same amount at 8 5-8. United Oil declined 1-4 to 39 5-8, and U. S. Royalties dropped 1-2 cent to 4½.

California Petroleum 6 1-2s of 1933 were in demand at 100 3-4. Union Oil 6s of 1942 sold at 102 3-4 and Pacific Gas 5 1-2s of 1952 at 97 5-8. Buying was active of San Joaquin issues.

Spirited Buying Follows Bullish Wheat Estimate

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CHICAGO, Sept. 30.—Bullish figures on the world's statistical wheat situation, with a Department of Agriculture statement that leading countries of the world had an exportable surplus of 685,000,000 bushels, which compared with trade estimates of import needs of 750,000,000 to 800,000,000 bushels, led to free buying, and an advance to a new high on the crop. Heavy profit-taking developed on the advance and the finish was at net gains of only ¼@⅝c on the deferred futures, with September up 2¼ cents. Rye gained 2⅞@3¼c, with all deliveries in new ground for the season.

The corn market was decidedly unsettled, and after a range of nearly 2 cents, the finish was unchanged to ⅝ cent lower, with September leading. Oats were ⅜@1⅝c higher, with September leading.

The export demand for cash wheat showed no evidence of falling off and sales for the day were estimated at 1,250,000 bushels in all positions. Removal of hedges against this business was a factor in making the advance. Sentiment remains decidedly bullish, although considerable caution was shown in going long on bulges, as the deferred deliveries were up 11¼@11½c from the low of last week.

On all breaks there was an excellent class of buying. Winnipeg again showed more strength than Chicago and gained 1⅛@1⅝c for the day, with all deliveries selling at 1.50 and over, except the December, during the day. Argentine cables told of a need of rain in some sections. September here closed at 1.39⅞@1.40⅛, December at 1.41⅝@1.41¾ and May at 1.47⅛@1.47¼.

Damage reports from Iowa as the result of frost the past two days was responsible for a rally in corn of nearly 2 cents, after an early dip, but the undertone was easy and the finish was at intermediate figures, with September at 1.12¼@1.12⅜, December at 1.09⅝@1.10 and May at 1.11⅛@1.11⅜.

Evening-up on the part of shorts was responsible for the strength in September oats, which also had some effect on the deferred deliveries. Foreigners were aggressive buyers of barley at Winnipeg, and October there at one time was up 9 cents. Export sales of 250,000 bushels of barley were reported at the seaboard, but nothing was said regarding oats.

While the German government remains out of the market for rye, there was a good demand from private exporters, and sales for the day at the seaboard were estimated at 750,000 bushels. The seaboard bought futures here freely.

MATURITIES AND YIELDS
1936 to 1943, to yield 5.40% — 1944 to 1954, to yield 5.50%

Organization. Salt River Valley Water Users' Association, incorporated in 1903 to co-operate with the United States Bureau of Reclamation in the development of the Salt River project, now controls all power possibilities on the Salt River, below and including the Roosevelt Dam and power plant, 70 miles from Phoenix, Arizona, developing 23,000 h.p., the Mormon Flat Storage and Regulating Dam in the course of construction, the Horse Mesa Dam and power plant to be constructed, and four modernly constructed power plants in Salt River Valley, now in operation.

Purpose of Issues. Proceeds from these bonds will be used to construct a 300-foot dam and a power plant generating 40,000 h.p. at Horse Mesa and enlarging the transmission system.

Revenue. The Association is the largest producer of hydro-electric power in Arizona. Net average power earnings for the past three years have been $382,663 annually. Estimated net income for 1925, due to additional production at Roosevelt Plant, is placed at $750,000, and for 1927, when developments now in the course of construction are completed, and thereafter, at $1,700,000 annually, as compared with the maximum principal and interest requirements of $1,062,580 on all outstanding indebtedness.

Inspiration Contract. Inspiration Consolidated Copper Company, affiliated with the Anaconda Copper Company, is the largest user of power in Arizona, and has contracted its power requirements from the Association for 25 years, and for the first 15 years agrees to pay in monthly installments not less than $565,500 per annum. This minimum guarantee is nearly twice interest charges on these issues and is in addition to present revenues. This contract is directly pledged to secure payment of principal and interest of these three issues.

Security. Principal and interest are further assured, in addition to the pledge of power revenue, by annual assessments already levied to meet all charges for the Association bonds, against the 240,000 acres of highly cultivated lands in the Association appraised by the Superintendent of Banks of California at $42,000,000. These assessments are a lien prior to all previous or subsequent mortgage debt. Assessments must be paid in 30 days or water service must be refused. Land may be sold in six months if such assessments are delinquent.

Assessed value of the lands, for State and County purposes, is $36,000,000, or $150 per acre.

"Don't Say No"

You won't come and meet me some evening this week at the Trinity Auditorium, at 9th and Grand Avenue, where I am screening my picture of the "JULIAN PETROLEUM CORPORATION," and personally addressing my audience.

Every intelligent citizen realizes that I am fighting a very uneven battle, but even so I'm going to win my fight, because the essence of it all is "RIGHT OVER WRONG," and I am a staunch believer that "Right" must prevail.

I am fighting with every ounce of energy I have to protect the investments of nearly 50,000 people, many of whom have trusted me with their life savings.

I have a message I want to get over to every citizen of this community that is a lover of fair play; I can't write it and I must talk to you.

I am fighting a powerful, merciless, and unscrupulous hidden force that has respect for nothing but their greed for money.

The admission is free and the show starts at 8:15 P.M., so be there.

MARKET REVIEW

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, Sept. 30.—In some respects the money market repeated Monday's signs of greater firmness; in others it did not. Call loans on the stock exchange did not go above 2½ per cent, thus failing to duplicate the preceding day's high rate. On the other hand, the advance of 1-4 of 1 per cent made only tentatively the day before in time to answer to stock exchange collateral was generally quoted today. In both respects the money market duplicated its action of the first week in September, when time money rose to precisely the extent of today; falling back the ensuing week, however, to the original rates. If the same result follows completion of the pending "October settlements," very easy money should be insured for the rest of the season because, even in a normal autumn money market, demand for credit commonly reaches its maximum at the beginning of October.

The stock exchange did not clearly reflect the course of money rates. It was a day of entire uncertainty on the stock market; advances and declines were about equally balanced, the changes running to one or two points in both directions. Nothing was indicated by the day's movement, beyond the variety in the speculative position of different professional groups. As heretofore, the general financial public was supremely indifferent.

Probably it is watching the highly diversified accounts, sent on by newspaper correspondents at the political battle fronts, with more interest than the stock exchange fluctuations.

The bond market might have been said to have got its second breath today, after its pause of Monday on the slight ruffling of the money market. It did not resume its recent slow advance; but as a whole it lost no more ground and the Treasury 4 1-4 per cents of 1922, the most mobile of the United States government securities recovered most of Monday's decline. Business was lighter than the day before, both in stocks and bonds.

Today brought perceptible improvement in sterling and francs, and both held the advance. The European exchange market, however, still moves as uncertainly and with as little clear purpose as the stock market. Silver bullion in London went above the previous high point of 1924: today's price, which is nearly 10 per cent above the present year's lowest, has not been reached in exactly two years.

Buying Active; Prices Firm

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, Sept. 30.—Stock market averages:

	Twenty industrials.	Twenty railroads.
Monday	102.08	91.09
Week ago	102.91	90.96
High, 1924	104.13	93.15
Low, 1924	90.27	81.00

Active buying of the standard industrials imparted a firm tone to closing prices in today's stock market after an early period of irregularity. Net gains were small. Chief speculative interest centered in the southwestern rails, several of which attained new peak prices for the year on buying influenced by high current earnings and merger developments.

Higher call money rates caused some selling by professional traders in the early dealings but it failed to bring out much long stock and was eventually abandoned except in issues in which unfavorable developments are reported pending. Extensive gasoline price cuts along the Atlantic seaboard had a temporary depressing influence in oil shares.

United States Steel closed 5-8 of a point higher at 108½ on a small turnover. Chairman Gary, in a statement issued after the directors' meeting at the close of the market, said that the operation of the finishing mills was between 63 and 65 per cent of capacity and that September bookings and shipments were better than those of the preceding month with further improvement expected in October.

Declaration of only the regular quarterly dividend of 1 1-4 per cent on American Can was followed by heavy selling by bear traders. They succeeded in hammering the stock down to 127⅛ but it was taken up as quick as it was offered and the price soon rallied to 129 1-4, easing slightly below that figure at the close.

Call money renewed at 2½ per cent and held at that figure all day. Time money and commercial paper rates held firm with business reports. Foreign exchanges responded favorably to reports of progress in connection with the flotation of the German loan. Demand sterling ruled about 1-4 to 1 cent higher around $4.45 1-4 and French francs were moderately active at 5 1-4 cents.

REACH HALF OF JEWISH FUND QUOTA

Pledges aggregating $500,000 were made last night at the official launching of the campaign for $1,000,000 for the erection of a Jewish hospital, a Jewish orphans' home and a Young Men's Hebrew Association in Los Angeles, at a meeting conducted in the Ambassador, preceded by a banquet.

The largest individual pledge came from Marco H. Hellman, local banker, and was for $75,000. Samuel Newmark served as toastmaster and presented the speakers.

"Several years ago you gave generously in order that your destitute brethren across the seas might not perish," the speaker said. "You gave for their hospitals, their orphan asylums and their synagogues so that not only their bodies but their souls might survive. During that time you were big hearted enough to postpone the needs of your own community.

"Tonight I come to you with a mission that is nearer home. The Jewish community here needs a new hospital, one properly equipped for the call your people will make on it. Your little orphans also need a new home. Then we must not forget the great need for a community center where the religious, recreational and educational needs of our youth can be properly taken care of. I am sure your response will be generous."

Other speakers were Mr. Hellman, Louis M. Cole, Henry Louis, chairman of the executive committee, and George Mosbacher, president of the local Federation of Jewish Charities.

Sol Lesser, representing the motion-picture industry, pledged $100,000. A pledge of $50,000 was received from the Ben R. Meyers estate and another of the same amount from the estate of Kaspare Cohn. In all more than 200 pledges were received. An early pledge of $20,000 was made by Dr. Boris Bogen.

The campaign is scheduled to continue one week.

Woman Disarms Thief Suspect by False Faint

One of the several things a woman can think of—to do when she is confronted with an armed robber in the hall outside her apartment proved the undoing of Arthur A. Brundage, it was testified yesterday in Justice Scott's court. Brundage was held to answer for the attempted robbery of Mrs. Louise C. Johnson of 427 South Normandie avenue.

"I had just stepped into the hall and saw this man there," she said. "He pointed a revolver at me and told me to throw up my hands.

"I pretended to faint, gave a gasp and fell forward on him, knocking the gun out of his hand. I grabbed it and chased him down stairs and out into the street, where passersby caught him and held him until the police came."

All of which happened the 15th inst., she said.

SOLICITOR FOR PAVING FILES SUIT

Petition Circulator Says He Didn't Know What Was in Documents Handled

That he did not know he was circulating a petition for patented paving until the petition was filed and passed by the City Council, was the statement yesterday of Peter Mulder, realty man at Los Angeles Harbor, following his filing a suit in the harbor justice Court against the California Willite Company for $275.29, held due him as commission. C. M. Wheeler, sales manager of the company, is made defendant in a similar separate action by Mulder.

The suit follows the petition by property owners along twenty blocks on Twenty-first, Twenty-second, Twenty-third, Meyer and Sepulveda streets for 480,450 square feet of Willite paving.

According to the brief, the plaintiff held a contract with the company through Wheeler whereby Mulder was to receive one-quarter cent commission on each square foot of paving which he obtained for the company, one-fourth of this to be paid him when the majority petition was filed and the remainder, when the legal contract for improvement was obtained.

On the strength of this contract, the plaintiff asserts, he circulated the petitions and the latter were filed about August 15 and passed by the Council and now await the Mayor's signature. He asserts he has fulfilled the first part of his contract, and that $300.29 is now due him, less $25 already advanced.

Even after those signing the petition had "gotten cold feet and attempted to halt is passage," he said, he "won them back to Willite paving."

"But I never knew until after the petition was in that it was for patented paving," he added.

Dr. C. W. Schley Freed in Trial for Auto Death

Dr. W. C. Schley, Pasadena physician, was acquitted of a manslaughter charge in twenty-three minutes yesterday by a jury in Judge Hahn's court. The jury, at a previous trial, had disagreed.

Dr. Schley was accused of killing Mrs. Ida Elizabeth Walker of Pasadena in an automobile collision on Orange Grove avenue, January 3, last.

The physician said he was on a hurry call to attend a patient. He admitted taking a drink of liquor about an hour before the accident, but introduced expert testimony to show he was not under the influence of intoxicants. He himself testified that two drinks would not affect his ability to drive a car. He was defended by Attorneys Grier and Carater.

BANK THEFT HEARING

George Halpick, youthful bank bandit suspect, was arraigned yesterday in Judge Hahn's department of Superior Court and pleaded not guilty to a charge of bank robbery.

It is asserted that the suspect walked into the Citizens' National Bank at Fifth and Spring streets some months ago and presented a written demand for money to one of the tellers, backing it up with a revolver.

The teller handed out about $480 to the bandit with one hand while he pressed the burglar alarm with the other. Special officers overpowered the suspect and placed him under arrest. Halpick's trial was set for November 7.

FLEET BACK IN HARBOR TODAY

Simple Homecoming Planned for Battleships

Unusual Shore Leave to be Given Personnel

Naval Inquiry Under Way in Bay City Accident

The stage was all set last night at the harbor, for the homecoming at daybreak this morning of the battleship divisions, which have just completed their annual summer cruise in Puget Sound waters. Rear-Admiral George R. Marvell, commander of the base force, and his staff from the flagship Procyon have been busy day and night for the past two days establishing the shore communications system and plotting anchorages for the dreadnaughts in the Outer Harbor.

The fleet's entry this morning will be smoothly done and without display or show of any sort, aside from the regulation exchange of salutes between the U.S.S. Procyon and the U.S.S. California, the flagship of the commander-in-chief of the battle fleet, Admiral Samuel S. Robison, and between the California and Fort MacArthur.

There will be but nine ships in the force arriving this morning, eight battleships, the California, New Mexico, Tennessee, Pennsylvania, Arizona, Nevada, Oklahoma and Colorado and the minesweeper Brant. The dreadnaught Idaho is already at this base, while the U.S.S. Mississippi and U.S.S. Maryland are both at the Puget Sound navy yard, undergoing annual overhaul, and will join Admiral Robison's flag here later. The U.S.S. West Virginia, now completing calibration tests off the Delaware capes, will arrive here the 27th inst. and immediately thereafter will relieve the U.S.S. New Mexico as flagship of the battleship divisions.

The hospital ship Relief, the navy tanker Neches and the naval aircraft tender Aroostook arrived in harbor yesterday, in advance of the fleet. The Relief and the Neches came from San Francisco and the Aroostook from San Diego.

The 11,000 officers and men of the force here this morning will be given their first liberty in the home port this afternoon and, until the 13th inst., when training for the fall gunnery program begins, the personnel will have unusual leave and liberty privileges.

Interest at the port is centering in the arrival of the U.S.S. Colorado, the Navy's new 16-inch-gun, electrically driven superdreadnaught, which recently joined the fleet at San Francisco. Fundamentally, she is a sister ship of the U.S.S. Maryland and U.S.S. West Virginia, but has fire-control systems and propulsion machinery which are expected to give her a range of effectiveness considerably beyond that of the other units of the fleet.

The fleet was operating off the local coast yesterday in tactical exercises with the destroyer squadrons under Rear-Admiral Frank H. Schofield. On board the flagship California there was in session the special board of inquiry appointed by Admiral Robison to investigate the accident in San Francisco Bay last Saturday, which is believed to have damaged the battleships Arizona and Mississippi, the destroyers Wood and Hull and the tanker Cuyama, when the Cuyama dragged her anchor under force of the gale blowing in the bay.

Admiral Robert E. Coontz, commander-in-chief of the United States fleet, will not return to this base until the 30th inst. He is now en route to San Francisco from Honolulu aboard the flagship Seattle, and will remain at that port until late October. The Seattle will be anchored off Venice for the Navy Day celebration on the 27th inst., afterward proceeding to this base.

JEWELRY THIEVES SOUGHT

The theft of a large amount of jewelry and $16 in currency from the home of Mrs. S. Schwartz, [illegible] Tamarind avenue, is being investigated by Hollywood police detectives. Thieves entered the Schwartz home through a rear window, a report to the police stated, taking with them pocket books and jewelry belonging to visitors who had left the articles in a back room.

REGISTER!

The Presidential election this year marks one of the greatest contests in the history of the United States and whatever the outcome will always be regarded as an epochal event. Success for Coolidge or Davis or La Follette, or a deadlock in the Electoral College and a consequent attempt to decide the issue in the House of Representatives or the Senate, will have a bearing so vital to national affairs and conditions as to affect the personal welfare of every citizen. No citizen of California who fails to register on or before Saturday, October 4, will be eligible to have a share in deciding this great issue. Registration deputies are located in various sections of Los Angeles city and county. All necessary information relating to details of registration may be obtained by telephoning the Registrar of Voters, MAin 2800.

WHAT LA FOLLETTE-ISM MEANS

To what extent are the young people of America able to influence their elders politically? This is one of the questions which the coming election will answer.

During the last scholastic year over 1,000,000 high school pupils made an intensive study of the Constitution in their work in the National Oratorical Contest.

A few weeks after the close of that contest Senator La Follette announced his candidacy for the Presidency on a platform which amounts to a repudiation of the Constitution.

There was, of course, no absolute uniformity in the ideas presented by the million pupils in their interpretations of the American governmental system. However, one thing stood out beyond any mistake in the orations. They recognized that the very essence of our system of government is in the distribution of powers between the three departments, and the careful provisions made against mob-mindedness, expressing itself in either an arbitrary Legislature or a stampeded electorate.

It is not strange that these students of the Constitution arrived with such unvarying accuracy at those basic conclusions. Indeed, it would have been strange if, having seriously studied that great document, they had not reached them. Likewise it would have been strange if, looking out on the world of today, they had not been struck by the fact that there must be exceptional merit in our fundamental law, else America would not now enjoy the primacy among all the peoples of the earth.

Over against the principles set forth in the Constitution and emphasized by the youthful orators stands a totally different political philosophy championed by Senator La Follette, who desires to subordinate the judicial to the legislative branch of the government. Fundamentally it is the philosophy of the direct actionist. It is not a new idea. It is not an untried one. It is older than the Constitution. It is as old, almost, as anarchy. Furthermore, it has in it certain elements of subtle attraction. For that reason it has, frequently in the past, exercised a strong emotional appeal.

The Constitution seeks to fortify freedom from within and without—against both the despot and the mob. Its framers knew that the despotism of a committee or a legislative body can become just as intolerable as that of an individual. They knew, above all, that it is almost impossible for men to pass dispassionately upon their own acts and decrees. Therefore the Constitution provides its checks and balances. The executive cannot make the laws. The Legislature cannot execute or judge them, and the judiciary cannot either legislate or carry laws into force. Likewise the people are guaranteed certain sacred individual rights, which are, in the Constitution, placed beyond the reach of any or all the agencies of the government. In turn the people are protected against themselves, so that the mere will of a majority cannot violate the constitutional rights of a minority, any more than one of the governmental departments, or two working together, or even all three can.

Such a system of government cannot be swept away by an individual, a clique or even a majority of the people. Neither can a temporary weakness or depravity in one of the governmental branches undermine the whole. Such a system is deep-rooted, deliberate, permanent. Contrast it with the La Follette plan. He would make the judicial branch subordinate to the legislative. By so doing he would make it possible for Congress and the President to completely change our system of government by simply passing, approving and repassing a series of legislative acts. Such a contingency is not only possible but probable, if his suggestion is adopted, and if history is to be taken as a guide. An axiom of political science is that those in power are never satisfied with the exercise of less than their maximum authority and are ever eager to extend even that. In this connection it is noteworthy that the advocate of this scheme for aggrandizing the Legislature at the expense of the judiciary is himself a legislator.

Let us imagine that in a period of unrest the people elected a radical President and Congress. Or, more specifically, that they elected La Follette and filled both Houses with his supporters. That Congress, under the La Follette plan (assuming it to be actually in operation) might pass a law extending its term of office. If the Supreme Court held that such an act was invalid because in violation of the Constitution, Congress, with a like-minded President concurring, could then make itself the judge of the point at issue and by repassing the act make it as much a part of the fundamental law as if there were no constitutional provision against it. Under our present system of government a law is unconstitutional (that is to say, of no effect) only when it is specifically declared to be so by the final authority in the matter. Under that same system the final authority on constitutionality is the Supreme Court. But the La Follette plan would change all that, and in effect, make Congress the ultimate arbiter of the constitutionality of its own legislation.

Such a Congress, having triumphed over the judiciary, might well be tempted to test its strength with the executive. In some emergency it might pass a law taking the administrative power almost entirely away from the executive and vesting it in a committee appointed by Congress. That, of course, would be a violation of the La Follette scheme itself, but the point is that Congress, being the sole judge of the Constitution and of its own acts, could stretch its power to the point of overriding the President. In other words, the La Follette plan, while seemingly merely tinkering with the Constitution, really lifts away the whole three-phase system of government and substitutes therefor government by Congress alone. Congress might be shrewd enough to refrain from going the limit of its power and even extending it at the outset. Nevertheless, the gigantic new authority would be temptingly at hand and it could be extended. Inevitably it would be, sooner or later.

Similarly, Congress might, under special stress, decide to abolish trial by jury, habeas corpus, freedom of speech and religion—and, in fact, any or all of those great individual guarantees contained in the bill of rights of our Constitution. The resistance of the Supreme Court to such an attempt would be futile if Congress, having overridden or merely working with a like-minded President, decided to declare the law constitutional in spite of both the Supreme Court and the Constitution itself. In this connection it is worth remembering that Congress and the President are always apt to be under the same spur of a temporary issue, while the Supreme Court, remote from an election, is actuated by different standards.

The issue raised by Senator La Follette transcends all others in this campaign. It overshadows the personalities and incidental issues of the contest. It points directly to government by the legislative branch alone as the history of all these experiments in immediately responsive government shows. It places this question squarely before the American people: Do you wish to continue that system of balanced, constitutional government which has proven so unmistakably successful over a period of almost a century and a half, or do you wish to substitute therefor government by Congress alone?

The million boys and girls who made their recent study of the Constitution will have no direct vote on the immediate issue. But they will, it is certain, watch the outcome closely, for it affects not only their own welfare and happiness but that of their children and their children's children.

CHEAP WATER IN COLORADO PLAN

Mulholland Asserts Supply is Easy to Obtain

Tells League That Aqueduct Project is Feasible

Declares Stream Free from Human Pollution

Colorado River water for domestic use in Los Angeles and vicinity was described as not only necessary in the near future, but also relatively inexpensive and easy to obtain by aqueduct, in a speech by William Mulholland last night before the Municipal League at the regular monthly meeting of that body in Paulais' banquet hall, 741 South Broadway.

"We know it can be done," said the engineer in speaking of the proposed 250-mile aqueduct across desert and mountain, "and we have studied and discounted the difficulties."

Preceded by A. L. Sonderegger, one of the special engineers recently engaged by the Public Service Commission, who declared, in substance, that his investigation convinced him that if all the water possibilities of the Owens River Valley were developed they would in time prove inadequate to meet the city's needs, Engineer Mulholland spoke enthusiastically for the Colorado River project.

NO POLLUTION

After declaring the Colorado provided the only water really accessible to Los Angeles, he attacked the arguments advanced against the plan and explained the project from end to end on a large map.

"Some people say that the water of the river is muddy and unfit for drinking," he declared. "While it is muddy it is clean beside the water used by eastern cities and almost free from pollution from human contact. Besides the treating of drinking water is now really a science."

Mulholland declared that while the water must be raised over an elevation of 1400 feet, it could be brought to Los Angeles at a price 3 cents in excess of that charged for the Los Angeles aqueduct water, or for 13 cents a hundred feet, the average rate paid for water in all large American cities.

In discussing the building of the aqueduct, he said that investigation had revealed to him that in spite of doubling costs of labor and materials, engineering work of the type, because of advanced methods and the use of modern machinery, can be done as cheaply now as thirty years ago. He pointed out that tractors take the place of mules in providing locomotion for the great shovels; that the country to be traversed provides plenty of good rock and gravel for the concrete work.

In comparison with the building of the Los Angeles aqueduct to the Owens River Valley, he showed on the map where the first pipeline had to be brought over three mountain ranges and that construction work was carried on under great difficulties owing to the inaccessibility of the country and the lack of water. But little trouble from these sources would hinder the work on the Colorado project, he declared, and when finished the great aqueduct would have a capacity of 1500 second feet, a supply equal to that pouring into New York City.

TUNNEL IS INDEX

Mulholland was followed by his assistant, H. A. Van Norman, who briefly substantiated the points made by his chief and, in addition, pointed out a few striking features of the project.

From the proposed Blythe or Parker intakes on the Colorado, the distance by aqueduct to Los Angeles would be about equal to that of the present aqueduct. The time it would take to finish the work once started, he said, might be estimated by the time it would take to complete an eleven-mile tunnel that would be necessary to build. That work would be commenced first, he believed, and the remainder of the aqueduct brought to completion about the time the tunnel was finished.

PORT IS SETTING MARK IN TRADE

Great Strides Revealed in Customs' Report

Increase of Four Million Recorded in Exports

Foreign Ships Are Active During September

Outstanding increases in exports and imports at Los Angeles Harbor during September are taken by shipping men to mean that the port is going ahead at a more rapid rate than ever before.

Exports from the port last month, according to the monthly report of Customs Officer Schwaebe, amounted to $6,500,000 in value, as compared with $2,487,445 for September, 1923.

SHIPMENTS INCREASE

During September 497 commercial vessels of 1,244,391 tons net, reached the harbor from all ports of the world, according to figures announced yesterday by the Chamber of Commerce Marine Exchange. This shows a marked increase over the preceding month.

Imports, according to customs figures, were $2,765,000, as compared with $2,000,808 in September, last year. The shipments to Hawaii, a trade that a few years ago was little developed, were valued at $428,000 and to Alaska, $107,124.

Tankships, utilized in the export of Southern California oil to various markets of the world, led all other types of carriers arriving in the month. One hundred forty tankers arrived to load a cargo of 9,855,299 barrels.

The bulk of the oil shipments, 4,121,770 barrels was sent out to Pacific domestic ports, while the export to Atlantic domestic ports ranked second with 3,139,582 barrels. Pacific foreign shipments totaled 1,598,677, as compared with the Atlantic foreign total of 904,270 barrels.

Last month was the best period in the export of oil from Los Angeles Harbor for some months. Revival of the coastwise lumber trade brought a total of ninety-two ships into port last month, with 113,780,000 feet of North Pacific lumber. This consisted of 93,930,000 feet of fir and 19,790,000 feet of redwood and brought the year's total receipts to 1,017,302,000 feet.

Foreign ships were again exceptionally active in shipping last month at Los Angeles Harbor. The 497 arrivals were under the following flags: United States, 440; British, 26; Mexican, 5; French, 3; German, 3; Danzig, 2; Japanese, 12; Norwegian, 4; Dutch, 2, and Swedish 1.

The freight handled over the municipal wharves during the fiscal year which ended on June 30, last, showed an increase of 6,630,362 tons over the previous year, according to a report yesterday by the Board of Harbor Commissioners. The value of the tonnage handled during the fiscal year was an increase in value over the previous year of $87,271,293.

TAX RECEIPTS GROW

During the fiscal year 1923-1924 the total freight of all kinds handled over the municipal wharves was 25,550,464 tons, valued at $643,221,303. Of this total of 25,550,464 tons, 3,513,426 was inbound and 22,037,038 tons was outbound commerce. During the fiscal year which has just closed 6215 vessels arrived at the port, representing a total net tonnage of 16,510,045 tons.

Other branches of the Federal government also show increases.

Income tax receipts increased by $1,703,476 over September, 1923, in spite of the 25 per cent deduction recently allowed by Congress. The month's collections by the Internal Revenue Collector Goodcell amounted to $9,925,454, an increase of $754,735 over September, last year. Of that sum, $9,158,439 was for income taxes, the remainder being for various taxes.

Further evidence of active business conditions and general prosperity was found in the report of Postmaster O'Brien. The month's business by the local postoffice amounted to $590,731, an increase of $71,919 over September, 1923.

FIGHT IN COUNCIL ROOMS

Charles Eyton, Famous Players-Lasky Manager, in Row at Cahuenga Avenue Hearing

Fisticuffs in the City Council chamber between Charles Eyton, general manager of Famous Players-Lasky, and a Hollywood real-estate dealer named Barnett, followed a hearing on the extension of Cahuenga avenue before the Public Works Committee yesterday, according to reports of those present. Two blows were struck, it was said, and the participants then clinched. They were separated by friends—"pried apart" was the phrase used by one onlooker.

In the discussion before the committee, Eyton is said to have made a remark which Barnett resented by calling him a liar. Chairman Wheeler called the men to order, and after the close of the hearing there was a mix-up in which the wrong man is said to have been struck.

Then Eyton and Barnett faced each other and Eyton is said to have demanded to know whether Barnett meant what he said. Barnett said he did and Eyton's fist flashed out, according to the report. Barnett promptly returned the blow. Neither blow had any serious effect. The belligerents were surrounded in a moment by an excited crowd of men and women, and in the mix-up one man's shirt was nearly torn from his back. They left in the midst of knots of their partisans.

Two rival routes for Cahuenga avenue south of Sunset Boulevard drew about 100 property owners to the hearing, which was conducted by Chairman Wheeler and Councilman Criswell. One set of property owners wanted the street cut straight through, the other wanted it deflected by way of Cole street, and each side marshaled many papers and maps to convince the committee. Hot words were uttered on both sides during the discussion, which ended when the committee announced it would take the matter under advisement and make a personal inspection of the ground.

As the crowd was filing out, it was declared, the discussion between Eyton and his opponent began. The Councilmen, it was said, heard the blows, but were too late in turning around to see the fight.

Eyton could not be found last night to give his account of the affair, but he is said to have told friends of striking his antagonist.

Other reports were to the effect that there had been another encounter in the corridor outside the Council Chamber and still another on the way out, growing out of the fisticuffs, but no details were available.

FROM 200 TO ZERO---RIGHT HERE!

Workers Oblivious to Weather's Mood

While a perspiring public yesterday tried languidly to work at 95 deg., The Times's high-jumping thermometer discovered that on the outskirts of the city men were working briskly at a heat of 200 deg., totally unaware of the heat outside, while in local ice and creamery plants, shiveringly clad in overshoes, sweaters and gloves, workers shoveled frost off the pipes with the mercury resting at zero. Every hour they had to leave their work to thaw out.

Accompanied by a reporter and photographer, the thermometer left First and Broadway registering 88 deg. at 10 o'clock in the morning and started out to find where the two extremes of weather could be found in Los Angeles. Out on Sunset Boulevard, where the street was being repaired, men were working in the heat of a road engine at 100 deg., and various foundries and shops went as high as 115 deg. However, at the Southern California Iron and Steel Company at Huntington Park, weather which could properly be termed weather was discovered.

While the huge furnaces heated the air to 200 degs., Supt. Jack McConnell and his men cheerfully shoveled dolomite into the yawning fiery mouths of the furnace, and just as briskly and cheerily poured the molten steel out into the moulds. The men were compelled to wear blue glasses and nose guards to prevent being burned by the heat of the seething metal. Daddy Stevens, who has fed the greedy fiery furnace for years, was quite oblivious of the warm day.

"Hot day, isn't it?" he was asked by the dripping reporter. Daddy Stevens adjusted his nose guard on his baked nose, and said, "Is it? Hadn't noticed it!" And peered lovingly into the hissing door of the furnace. Then he turned around and grinned. "Doesn't make any difference whether its cold or hot outside, it's nice and warm here."

The thermometer uncertain whether to burst at 200 deg., or leave and get back to normal again finally left in search of a cool antidote in the line of weather. The beach was almost as warm as the city, and even the ocean was steaming, but deep in the high storehouse of the Merchants' Ice and Storage Company, the icy fingers of winter settled down on the thermometer bringing it to rest at zero.

W. H. Ball, with his feet covered with overshoes, with a heavy sweater and warm gloves, was shoveling frost which had collected in the pipes. It had piled up like a snow drift, and while he stood on it he lifted one foot after another to warm them before going on.

W H Ball says "My but the weather so chilly"

"Hot weather, isn't it?" he was asked. "I thought it was Christmas," he answered, and breathed on his hands to keep them from getting stiff. Mr. Ball and the other men who work in the room with 300 tons of ice, have to step outside every little while to thaw out, for the cold is unendurable. The sun outside can play all sorts of Indian summer tricks, and give local thermometers a lesson in high jumping, but the men who playfully haul tons of ice around day after day at a temperature of zero, do not know what summer means.

At the National Creamery Company, in the storage room where the ice cream is kept for delivery, the thermometer throbbed twenty degrees lower still yesterday, and men working in that room could stay there but a few minutes. Row upon row of ice cream cans perched on the shelves while frosted pipes above contained steam frozen to 20 deg. below zero.

The thermometer struggled wearily to bed last night after the most active day of its existence. It had discovered that in Los Angeles, all the weather from the North Pole to the Equator could be found. And, it also discovered that the only people who did not complain about the extremes of the weather are the men who have a right to know what real extremes mean.

HEAT WAVE COLLAPSES

General falling temperatures were reported from principal Southern California points yesterday, indicating that the heat wave has been broken and that cooler weather may be expected. In Los Angeles the maximum temperature was 95 deg., seven degrees below Monday's record of 102. It will be still cooler today, according to the United States Weather Bureau report.

Despite the fact that the heat was less oppressive yesterday, one case of heat prostration was brought to the Receiving Hospital and police officers reported several cases where women were overcome temporarily in the downtown district.

A. P. Neal, 60 years of age, a newspaper dealer, was taken from his stand at Third and Spring streets to the hospital, suffering from a cerebral hemorrhage brought on by the heat, according to the police surgeons. His condition was said to be critical.

Dispatches from San Dego declared that the warm spell which began there Sunday morning, and which reached its maximum temperature of 88 deg. Monday, appeared to be broken yesterday, when the highest figure was 77 deg.

CAHUENGA PASS SWEPT BY FIRE

Foothill Homes Narrowly Escape Destruction

Cahuenga Pass, one of the busiest arteries leading out of Los Angeles, was closed to traffic for an hour and a half yesterday afternoon when a fierce brush blaze, originating a few hundred yards this side of the summit, swept down the pass a distance of a half-mile before any progress was made in combating it.

The fire was checked by means of a firebreak which was hurriedly constructed at the top of the ridge on the west side of the canyon, and within a few hundred feet of a number of homes. Only the considerable force of men employed made it possible to beat the flames to the ridge.

Fifteen truck drivers, fighting the flames with shovels on the side of the canyon, were trapped by the rapidly traveling flames, and for a time their situation was serious. They were finally able to make their way out with nothing more serious than minor burns.

The entire Hollywood fire-fighting equipment, as well as all available police officers, were rushed to the scene within a few minutes after the first alarm had been given. This force was augmented by drafts from the ranks of scores of automobilists who travel hourly through the pass, and vounteer forces hurriedly recruited at Hollywood motion-picture studios.

Hollywood apparatus was called to the scene of the blaze shortly after 3 o'clock, when a truck and trailer belonging to the Vernon Seed & Milling Company carrying hay, were reported burning in the pass. Before the apparatus departed is was discovered that sparks from the burning truck had ignited the brush 100 feet up on the side of the canyon. The blaze spread in the tinder-dry brush with lightning-like rapidity and was out of control almost before it was discovered.

STUDIO FORCE CALLED

A force of men from the Universal Studios near-by, numbering more than fifty, and led by four production managers, was hurled into the fight at once, while Norman Sprowl, business manager of the studios, mounted upon a horse, galloped about the district recruiting fighters. The four production managers were Martin Murphy, William Crimley, James Hum and William Rau.

The fire was brought under control at 5 o'clock and traffic resumed. A force of approximately 500 was engaged in fighting the blaze.

Cahuenga Pass is the main highway out of Hollywood to the San Fernando Valley, and the highway to San Francisco. It has been estimated that approximately 100 cars go into the pass every minute during the busy part of the day, and hundreds of cars were stalled at both entrances to the pass within a short time.

FIRES UNDER CONTROL

The situation in the hills north of Hollywood, where several hundred men were engaged Monday in fighting blazes in Benedict and Franklin canyons which imperiled residences in the Beverly Hills district, was improved Monday to the extent that many of the men were shifted to the Angeles Forest conflagration.

With more than 500 county and Federal men established at three camps near the center of the Angeles Forest blaze, north of Waterman Peak, reports last night were of an encouraging nature. Although the flame was reported sweeping through the timber and brush in the direction of Antelope Valley, it was hoped it might be checked before it worked its way far up the valley.

One of the county camps is in Little Rock Creek, near the junction of the creek with the South Fork. Here, 250 men are in charge of Assistant County Forester Graves. It is the intention of the fighters to work east and south to Alder Creek and into Devil's Canyon, which runs north from the west fork of the San Gabriel. An unfavorable westerly wind yesterday caused the fire to spread somewhat and it is reported burning on a front of about six miles into Alder Creek.

DIFFICULTIES GREAT

About 250 men, under Assistant Forester Merril, are stationed at Buckhorn Flat, which is nearer the center of the firewept area, but is also more inaccessible. Reports from this point say the fighters will work toward Mount Waterman and eventually join with the other county men and Federal men in the Devil's Canyon area.

The difficulties of fighting the flames in the Angeles Forest are great, reports stated. To establish both camps, it was necessary for the men to take pack trains from ten to twelve miles from the highway where the supply trucks were unloaded. Provisions have been made, however, for a fight to the finish and the blaze is expected to be brought under control within a few days.

The excessive heat of the past two days has added to the worries of the officials in charge of the battle in the Angeles Forest. The men are wilting under the strain of the long fight and the heat and it has become necessary to keep reserves rushing to their assistance. As yet there have been no desertions, according to County Forester Flintham, but conditions are such that it would not be surprising if a percentage of the men left.

County Forester Flintham, in charge of the county forces engaged in the fight, has taken personal charge at Little Rock Creek, where a desperate attempt to check or divert the flames from Antelope Valley was being staged.

Little of detail regarding the progress found its way out of the fire-infested district yesterday.

The City Council yesterday received from the Hollywood Foothills Association a letter announcing that the Benedict Canyon fire, which had threatened Hollywood, was now under control, and expressed appreciation of the services rendered by the fire fighters under the direction of Chief Scott.

FIRE STATIONS FOR FOOTHILLS ARE URGED

Plans for the construction of two fire stations in the Hollywood foothills, each to be manned with a force equipped to cope with future brush fires, will be discussed in Fire Chief Scott's office at 11 o'clock today, when a committee from the City Council and representatives of the Hollywood Foothills Improvement Association will meet.

The tentative plans to this effect were agreed upon at a luncheon at the Biltmore yesterday at which all but one member of the City Council attended. The general sentiment of the meeting seemed to be an approval of the fire station plans, according to Chief Scott, and definite action is expected at today's meeting.

The grave danger of a huge property loss from a brush fire such as raged for the past few days in Benedict Canyon was pointed out. Chief Scott said that he had realized the fire menace to the district and had a squad of men doing patrol duty. Members of the Hollywood Improvement Association declared that they would employ thirty more men to augment his force during the remainder of the dry season.

In the event that the City Council favors the new fire stations, they will form the nucleus of a battalion that will specialize in brush-fire fighting, Chief Scott declared.

OFFICIALS SUSPECT INCENDIARY PLOT

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SAN DIEGO, Sept. 30.—Nearly 4000 acres of forest and brush-covered land near Descanso, thirty miles east of San Diego, have been swept in the past twenty-four hours by a fire which United States officials today declared to have been of incendiary origin, following the finding of matches and inflammable matter among grass where the flames started.

A rigid investigation of the origin of the fire was ordered today by S. P. Boulden, supervisor in charge of the Cleveland National Forest Reserve.

Although fanned by a light west wind and progressing in the direction of the town of Alpine, the flames, which are being fought by a force of 100 fighters, were believed under control, due to a back-firing method employed. Two cabins and several miles of fencing were destroyed by the fire, which for a time last night threatened to sweep the little town of Descanso. No estimate of property damage has yet been made.

Smaller fires which broke out late yesterday near Jamal and Escondido were soon controlled by forces of fire fighters hurriedly dispatched to the scenes.

FIRE MENACES CARMEL VALLEY AREA

MONTEREY, Sept. 30.—A call was issued here late today for more men to fight a forest fire which is burning along Palocorona Ridge, five miles seaward in Carmel Valley. Less than 100 men have been available to fight the flames, and they have not been able to check the fire. The fire now is burning on a thirty-mile front and working northward toward Highland Inn which was only five miles from the latest advance of the blaze.

SOUTHERN PACIFIC TRAINS HELD BY FIRE

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

RENO (Nev.) Sept. 30.—Forest fires raging near the snow sheds of the Southern Pacific Railroad in the High Sierras held up eastbound trains Nos. 10 and 24 near Andover for six hours today. The blaze started at 10 o'clock and, fanned by a brisk wind, burned over 100 acres of timber on both sides of the railroad tracks before it was brought under control this afternoon.

Two fire trains of the Southern Pacific company were rushed to the scene and assisted forest rangers in controlling the fires. All westbound trains were held at Truckee until the tracks were cleared.

OCCIDENTAL HEAD OPENS FUND DRIVE

President Bird Goes East to Confer on $3,000,000 Expansion Campaign

As the first step in the expansion campaign of Occidental College, which would expend $3,000,000 in the founding of a men's college in the Santa Monica hills and the enlargement of the present Eagle Rock plant as a college for women, President Remsen duBois Bird of Occidental left last night for the East. He will confer with representative educators and with the officials of the Rockefeller Foundation.

President Lowell of Harvard, President McCracken of Vassar, President Angell of Yale, President Butler of Columbia, and officers of the University of Chicago and Princeton University are among those who have arranged to meet Dr. Bird to discuss the details of Southern California's promised educational innovation.

President Bird also will investigate modern methods of musical instruction, with a view to establishing a department of music at the college within a year.

In New York, he will confer with the General Education Board of the Rockefeller Foundation in regard to their conditional assistance in Occidental's financial campaign. The same subject will be considered in conference with the Presbyterian Board.

The trip will last seven weeks.

sening of the heat. The mercury touched 95 in Santa Barbara Monday and hovered about 90 yesterday. Forest fires that started in the mountains were attributed to the hot spell, but all were said to be of small proportions and under control.

GRAPE MEN AIDED

That the hot weather was received joyfully by the grape growers of the San Joaquin Valley was declared in dispatches from Hanford yesterday. Although the thermometer did not register more than 90 deg. for the last three days, much less than the high summer temperature of the valley, it was said to be unusually warm for this time of the year, and fine for the raisin-grape harvest.

Heavy shipments of grapes continue east with a rising market, the dispatches stated. Not all of the first crop is picked as yet and, with the second crop still on the vines, the muscat raisin-grape growers were reported feeling cheerful over the prospects.

Although a few degrees lower than Monday, the temperature at noon today at Alhambra reached the 101 mark. Cooling breezes in the early afternoon gave promise of relief from the heat of the last three days.

THREE BOND ISSUES WIN IN GLENDALE

One Has Even Chance and Seven Are Defeated, Part of Vote Indicates

Complete returns from ten of the twenty special precincts arranged for a bond election in Glendale yesterday indicated at a late hour last night that three of the propositions had carried, that one had an even chance and that seven had been defeated.

Approximately 30 per cent of the registered vote was polled and bonds aggregating $173,000 of the $1,705,000 asked by the various civic organizations standing sponsor for the issuance of the securities, will be authorized by the voters.

A proposition to issue bonds in the sum of $63,500 for extension of the fire alarm system, $60,000 for additional fire equipment and $50,000 for a garbage disposal plant are practically certain of being passed.

The largest issue under consideration, that of $650,000 for a civic center, will be close and will not be decided definitely until a complete canvass of the vote has been made.

Other propositions including one to build bridges over the Verdugo wash, extend the police alarm system, improve the city water system, purchase additional water-bearing land and two proposals providing for new city parks were defeated.

Silverwood Funeral Rites Are Conducted

Funeral services for Mrs. Mary D. Silverwood were conducted yesterday morning from the Riedeman Mortuary, 1616 South Main street. Mrs. Silverwood was the former wife of the late F. B. Silverwood, Los Angeles merchant. Death came last Saturday night at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Funk of Beverly Hills.

Mrs. Silverwood was born in Freeport, Ill., and had lived here a number of years. She was 52 years of age.

SENTENCE SUSPENDED AND BOY GOES HOME

Judge Avery yesterday granted a further stay of ten days in the execution of the sentence passed last week on R. F. Bennett, 19 years of age, who pleaded guilty to a charge of burglary in connection with the theft of several sacks of sugar from a Piggly Wiggly store at 6557 Hollywood Boulevard. The judge sentenced Bennett to San Quentin last week, but agreed to suspend the sentence if the youth could raise the fare to his home in Seattle, Wash. A stay of five days was granted at that time, and prisoners in the County Jail took up a collection to defray the expenses of the trip. Money has been received from the boy's father in Seattle, and he will be sent there.

MUST FACE "SLAVE" TRIAL

Woman Held to Answer as Girl Tells Story of Being Brought to Life of Shame From Canada

Mrs. Madeline Blanc, arrested in connection with the investigation of a reputed international white-slave ring operating with headquarters in Los Angeles, was held to answer yesterday by Judge Archbald in Juvenile Court to a charge of contributing to the delinquency of a 15-year-old girl. Mrs. Blanc was accused of persuading the girl to accept attentions from men. She was released on $2000 cash bail.

Investigation of the asserted white slave ring was begun after the girl, a French-Canadian, appeared before the Catholic Charities and told how she had been led into a life of ill-repute in Los Angeles.

Two other women besides Mrs. Blanc were arrested in connection with the case while the authorities are now searching for two men declared to have been involved in bringing the girl to Los Angeles.

On the witness stand yesterday, the girl told how she was brought from Canada by a man named Louis Petit. They came to this city, she said, and she was taken to Mrs. Blanc's home at 1623 New Jersey street.

From this address, the girl said, she was taken to a rooming house on Commercial street, where she entertained ten men the first day, receiving various amounts of money from each of them. Half of the money, she said, was given to the landlady of the place while she took the remainder with her, later giving it to Petit.

The girl said she was next taken to a hotel on South Hill street, where she was persuaded to entertain men callers.

Clara Burns, asserted operator of the hotel, is now awaiting hearing in Justice court on a criminal charge preferred against her in connection with the case, while May Martin, an asserted inmate of the Commercial-street house, is awaiting trial in Police Court on a charge of vagrancy.

The police are now seeking Petit on a statutory charge. According to District Attorney's office investigators, the asserted ring lured young girls to Los Angeles with rosy promises of a future in motion pictures.

E. J. Lickley, attorney for Mrs. Blanc, asked a dismissal of the charge against the woman at the close of the preliminary hearing, but his request was denied.

NEW FACTORY COMING TO CITY

Rose Trunk Company Soon to Open Coast Branch

Local Concern Rushes Huge Alaska Shipment

The D. E. Rose Trunk Company of Topeka, Kan., will open its Pacific Coast branch factory at 310 Avenue 21, within the next few weeks, according to an announcement late yesterday by A. G. Arnoll, manager of the industrial department of the Chamber of Commerce.

The company has taken 24,500 square feet of factory space in a building owned by W. M. Gottschalk. The deal was consummated through the W. Ross Campbell Company.

A five-year lease on the property was taken by Mr. Rose, with an option of five more years, it is reported. The location here of the Rose plant came as the climax of nearly three years of effort on the part of the industrial department of the Chamber of Commerce to obtain the factory.

THIRD OF WEEK

This is the third large nationally know plant to announce location here this week. The Kroehler Furniture Company and the National Biscuit Company, both of which the chamber has induced to come here, have announced their plans this week for Pacific Coast plants in Los Angeles.

Work on the construction of the new plant of the National Biscuit Company is expected to start within the next thirty days, according to John O'Melveny of the firm of O'Melveny, Millikin and Tuller, attorneys, who brought up the property for the company. The architects, Eckles and Son, of St. Joseph, Mo., already have been over the ground at the corner of Mill and Industrial streets, and have completed plans for the new building, Mr. O'Melveny stated. The plans call for a Class A steel and concrete building to cost from $1,500,000 to $2,000,000. The site for the new plant was purchased by the company from the Higgins Estate, and is located on the southeast corner of Mill and Industrial streets. The transfer was handled through R. A. Rowan & Co.

READY-CUT ORDER IS RUSHED TO ALASKA

Fifteen carloads of ready-cut materials for the construction of a seventy-two-room dormitory at Nome, Alaska, declared to be one of the largest single orders ever received for building materials in Los Angeles for distant shipment, was delivered yesterday at Los Angeles Harbor for loading on the Ruth Alexander.

Several records were broken in handling the order, according to W. P. Butte, president of the Pacific Ready-Cut Homes, Inc., which filled the huge order in exceptional time.

The company was the successful bidder over a number of northern lumber companies, which sought to furnish the 400,000 pounds of lumber and building materials for the Hammon interests, said to be the largest gold-dredging organization in the world, and operating in the vicinity of Nome.

QUICK WORK

On Saturday noon, September 27, last, the success of the local company's bid was confirmed by long-distance telephone. Three shifts of crews worked Saturday afternoon and night and all day Sunday and Monday to get the materials ready for shipment to Los Angeles Harbor yesterday morning.

When the shipment arrives at Seattle on board the Ruth Alexander, which sails from here tomorrow, it will be reloaded on the steamer Alameda, leaving the 11th inst., for Nome, and one week later the materials will be under course of construction. Thus, it was pointed out, within three weeks from the time the order was sent to Los Angeles the housing materials will have arrived at destination approximately 5000 miles away and actual assembling will be well under way.

The materials are to be used in the construction of a two-story dormitory which will have seventy-two bedrooms, four large recreation rooms and special bath facilities. It is stated that the Hammon interests have so expanded in Nome that the company has acquired every available house in that city for its employees and still found itself short of housing facilities for the extensive dredging operations planned for this winter.

One of the outstanding features of the order was the fact that the Pacific Ready-Cut Homes, Inc., entered into direct competition with a number of Seattle lumber companies and succeeded in placing the lowest bid, even though the materials must be shipped from here, a distance of 1500 miles greater than the distance figured by the northern bidders.

This is the second shipment made by the local firm to Alaska, material for a large missionary building to be erected at Ketzebue having been delivered some time ago.

NEW REGIME IN SCHOOLS URGED

Ohio College Head Proposes Weeding-Out Plan

Thinks Some Studies Should Get More Attention

Believes Student's Duty is to be "Missionary"

Declaring that piecemeal and haphazard reforms in modern educational institutions are inadequate to meet the requirements of present-day students, Dr. Arthur E. Morgan, president of Antioch College at Yellow Springs, O., in an address at the University Club yesterday, said that one great need of American schools and colleges is a careful analysis and comparison of various methods and branches of study and a gradual elimination or minimizing of time and effort upon those studies which are least important to the individual and to society.

"We need to make an inventory of life, to discover something of its meaning and uses, to find what should be universally taught and what should be specially acquired by individuals, and then to apply our knowledge in the interests of the individual and of the body social," said Dr. Morgan.

LIMITS NUMBER

Explaining that Antioch College limits its enrollment to 600 picked students, half of whom are engaged in practical occupations in various parts of the United States, the speaker said that one of the most efficient methods of getting an idea across to the public is by first thoroughly educating a superior class of men and women who will, by virtue of their knowledge and ideals, act as missionaries to the public.

The speaker, who is said to be the only college president in America who is not a college graduate, took issue with those educators who insist on training students in ideals dissociated from practical life, declaring that unless education walks hand in hand with life it is of little actual value.

"Although Antioch College stresses the need for initiative, as well as the development of all those fine qualities in which individual students may sometimes be lacking, we also advocate a broad knowledge of literature in order that, through this study of the lives and thoughts of the great men of history, the student may have a sound foundation upon which to proceed with his own work," said Dr. Morgan.

MUST LEARN BEAUTY

A plea for the development, in schools and colleges, of a sense of the beautiful, also was voiced by the speaker, who said that without a recognition and appreciation of the beauty to be found in every profession and in every branch of human endeavor, our material civilization leaves much to be desired.

Vocational training should not be the least feature of a well-ordered educational institution, according to the speaker, who said that instructors should never count the time wasted which they spend in assisting the student to find the life-work to which he is best adapted and which will make most for his happiness and the welfare of society.

CHEST WILL END BUDGET LIST TODAY

Last Day for Acceptance of Applications; Record in Number Admitted

With today set as the last day upon which budgets of applicant agencies to the Community Chest will be received for consideration, the chest budget committee is making an effort to arrive at the goal for the campaign to be conducted November 10 to 20. With 122 agencies having already submitted budgets for consideration, together with applications for membership, the local Community Chest has set a new record. Never before in the year of its organization has any Community Chest had so great a number of participating institutions.

The third "see for yourself" tour was conducted yesterday afternoon. Close to 200 persons made this visit to the Los Angeles Orphan Asylum on Hollenbeck Heights and the Jewish Ex-Patients Home in Belvedere. This is the largest number yet to make one of the Community Chest tours and the committee in charge of the work expects a still larger attendance for the trip next Tuesday afternoon.

With John McClellan to serve as campaign chairman for the Gardena and shoe-string strip districts, work of building a team division for that territory is progressing rapidly. The Lions' Club of the Gardena Valley district has voted indorsement of the Community Chest campaign, which is to embrace all of greater Los Angeles and other civic organizations are uniting in favor of the movement.

PLAN TO END CONGESTION ON WHITTIER

East Side Communities in Meeting Pledge Fund for Beverly Extension

Whittier Boulevard is the most heavily traveled highway in California outside streets within incorporated cities, it was stated last evening by N. T. Edwards, member of the State Highway Commission, at a dinner attended by 200 residents of Whittier, Montebello, Pico, Belvedere and other neighboring communities, held at the new William Penn Hotel at Whittier.

G. Gordon Whitnall, director of the Los Angeles City Planning Commission, and Hugh Pomeroy, a member of the Los Angeles County Regional Planning Commission, also called attention to the vital need for relieving congestion in traffic on Whittier Boluevard by the immediate construction of the eastern extension of Beverly Boulevard from the Los Angeles city limits to Whittier. The dinner was held for the purpose of giving permament form to the Beverly Boulevard section of the East Side Organization. Grover T. Russell of Whittier presided.

The section was organized with Russell as president and the following vice-presidents: E. P. Wood of Belvedere, T. J. Haskell and W. J. Miller of Hollenbeck Heights, Joe Sippi of Whittier and G. A. French of Belvedere.

Most of the cash necessary for preliminary expenses on the Beverly Boulevard eastward extension was subscribed at the meeting and the remainder will be obtained at once by committees. Engineering work on the extension, being directed by Francis Bates, chief engineer of the East Side Organization, is being rushed, and action to secure rights of way for straightening and widening is also being pushed forward.

"If this major artery is put through quickly to relieve the Whittier Boulevard, property values in the communities on the East Side that are affected will soar," said Hugh Pomeroy. "If the highway is not completed very soon results to these communities will be disastrous."

Leslie R. Saunders, executive secretary of the East-Side organization, predicted the new highway will be completed within a year if the communities interested give their active co-operation.

LASTS LONGER

Down in Imperial county the residents agree that the new cotton gin is much better than any of the Geneva or Gordon gin that comes over the border.

MAGNIFYING SOUND

By merely using a radio microphone a scientist has been enabled to hear the sound of a worm gnawing its way through an apple. First thing we know the experts will be broadcasting the gossip of some ant colony.

TOLL OF THE ROAD

Thus far this year over 1900 persons have been killed in traffic tragedies in this State. Great battles have been fought—decisive ones in the history of nations, in which the absolute killings have been less. But the battle of Broadway goes on forever.

WEATHER NOTE

While the Middle West has been getting nipped by the frost the girls in sunny California have almost had to throw away their lightest summer furs. Almost any lady can doff her leopard jacquette when the thermometer is clicking off its 104th degree.

TAKES THE BISCUIT

Some of the labor leaders in Great Britain are inclined to criticise their own Premier because it is found that he has come into possession of some $150,000 or more of stock in a biscuit company. They imagine he has been taking on dough too rapidly.

SONS OF DISORDER

The La Follette rodeo is billed as a round-up of the Wisconsin wets, the Chicago Communists, the Hoboken hoboes, the Rhode Island Reds, the Dakota drys, the prairie Populists, the labor lobbyists and the Sinclair Socialists. It is a strange mixture and could produce nothing but strife and contention. A group picture would look like a storm in the stockyards.

THE CRIME LIMIT

The poison preacher is pleading for mercy rather than justice, but there doesn't appear to be any plausible pretext for the substitution. If a man deliberately poisons his wife in order to advance his illicit love for another woman he forfeits every known human right for recognition. He plumbed the depths of human crime and should be punished accordingly. The day of whimpering is past.

HARD TO FORCE

Americans must further develop the voting habit. No man should shirk the franchise, yet few will agree with Judge Landis's contention that a man should be jailed if he fails to vote. Voting can be made honorable, desirable, worthy and advantageous, but there is doubt that it can be made compulsory—neither would this be held up as the land of the free if its citizens should be forced to the polls at the point of the bayonet or under threat of long confinement. We will have to continue the practice of moral suasion in getting our citizenry to the booths.

PENNANT PALAVER

Twenty-three years ago Clark Griffith won the American League pennant as the manager of the Chicago White Sox. Now, as president of the Washington club, he snares another banner. It was a long time to wait, but he had it coming. Incidentally, it is the first time that a pennant has flown at the national capital in competition with the White House flag. New York has had more than its share of the banners in both of the big leagues. It is significant that Washington was never able to get within gunning distance of the banner until the Coolidge administration came in. When Calvin got fully into the job at the capital the sap began to run strong in Walter Johnson's arm and the team began to climb in the percentage column. Now it looks as if the President of the United States might be called upon to pitch the first ball in a world's series as a rooter on the home grounds. Another evidence of the efficiency of the Republican administration.

LOSING VENTURES

According to Meyer Lissner of the United States Shipping Board, if the government would give away the ships it owns the country would be ahead to the tune of something like $150,000,000 a year. If government ownership of railroads worked out like government operation of ships the country would be kept broke all the time. The ships that are being run by the government are riding in nothing but red ink. If the ship subsidy bill had become a law it might have induced American capital to have held out longer in its contest for the seas. It would at least have saved five times its cost in the loss now being charged up against the shipping under government control. It is almost impossible to explain why numbers of patriotic and well-meaning citizens should be urging further adventures in public ownership in the face of the experience already acquired—especially in view of the fact that it would take $40,000,000,000 in money to swing a complete program of government control.

FOES OF PROGRESS

The soap-box orator who waves his arms and attacks the government is a petty annoyance compared to the citizen and property-owner who employs his time and money in blocking public improvements. The "soap-boxer" is at worst only a windbag and comparatively harmless. But the property-owner who has grown wealthy by reason of the increase in values of property in a prosperous community and then spends some of those profits in bringing law suits to block improvements which are desired by his neighbors and fellow-citizens is a menace to the growth and development of the city. Besides being an obstructionist he is foolish on his own account, for a public improvement invariably brings increased value to the property owned by the protestant, as well as benefit to the community in which he lives.

These observations are occasioned by suits brought in the courts by property-owners to prevent, if possible, the widening of Tenth street from the east to the west city boundary. Here is a necessary public improvement, petitioned for by 61 per cent of the property-owners on Tenth street and backed up by widespread demand throughout the rest of the city for the creation of this great through-traffic artery. As in all such cases a few who are able to employ high-priced attorneys are endeavoring to defeat the desires of the majority. If this city had been in the past dominated by obstructionists of the type now attempting to prevent the opening and widening of Tenth street, Los Angeles would today be a village, with dirt streets. The obstructionists are always present, but in Los Angeles they have been in the minority and the city has progressed in spite of them.

The building of the Second-street tunnel, now in use and daily proving its value to the community, furnished an example of the deadly work of the professional protestants against public improvements. In the slow progress of the contracter the public lost sight of the fact that the legality of the improvement was attacked from the start of the proceedings years ago and, through the courts, one by one, City Attorney Stephens had to fight for the right of the people to build the tunnel over the legal barbed-wire entanglements set up by the attorneys of the professional protestants, one of them being not even a resident of the United States. While the tunnel was actually being completed the City Attorney was in Washington appearing before the United States Supreme Court defending the legality of the tunnel proceedings. The Supreme Court decided for the city and the people, but the tunnel would have been completed and in use years ago had it not been for the work of the protestants.

Los Angeles has grown at a rate that is the wonder of the nation, and the new population has thrust upon the city the immediate need for additional facilities—viaducts, bridges, larger public buildings and, most important of all, wider streets that will be through traffic arteries. The center of the city is slowly being strangled by traffic congestion and permanent relief can only come from the opening and widening of streets leading into and out of the business center. The opening and widening of Hill street from Washington to Thirty-eighth street has proved of tremendous benefit to the movement of traffic and yet it was delayed by the work of the professional protestant. And it is safe to assume that the very protestants who sought to prevent the improvement are now pointing with pride to it and are asking greatly increased prices for their property in the assessment district because of the improvement.

The opening of Broadway from Pico street to Moneta will likewise be of great benefit to the entire city, as well as to the property-owners in the district, but the professional protestants may be expected to find a foothold in the district and attack the improvement in the courts, unless shamed out of it by their neighbors.

The opening of Broadway from Tenth street to Pico street was blocked for years by professional protestants and yet today, with this improvement an accomplished fact, the public benefit of the extension of the street is unquestioned.

Always forward-looking, Los Angeles has awakened to the need of street openings and widenings in order to continue the growth and development of the city. A number of these proceedings are under way and many more recommended in the excellent report of the Traffic Commission experts. They should and will be carried through, despite selfish opposition, but the speed at which the work is accomplished depends upon the willingness of all of the property-owners to work together, shoulder to shoulder, for the improvement and against that enemy of community growth—the professional public-improvement protestant.

TWO HIGH TYPES

Rooted in his public acts and epigramatic utterances, a tradition has grown up about President Coolidge which, with sufficient time, may make him as much a popular symbol of certain qualities as Theodore Roosevelt was of other qualities. Roosevelt practiced and preached the "strenuous life" until it became a very popular vogue and affected materially the private manners and standards of personal conduct of his time. Coolidge practices and preaches the "simple life" with emphasis on such qualities as frugality, self-discipline, common sense and economy.

There are a great many people who would be glad to see these qualities made popular to such an extent as to bring about a vogue for them, to cause individuals to adopt them as part of their personal management of existence. For the moment, certainly, Coolidge is talking against the trend of the times. It is very doubtful if Coolidge ever in all his life made a promise to pay money which he did not then have in sight. Coolidge has as much shrinking from speculative debt as some persons have from vice or drink. There are plenty of people who feel that way about debt among the older generations of New Englanders and among those who, like Calvin Coolidge, got their standards for the personal conduct of life from the older strains of New England stock.

As regards frugality, it is not a guess, but a fact, that Coolidge always, from the year he left college, has saved something out of each year's income. Even in the years when that income was less than $2000 a year, and Coolidge had a family, he saved something.

This may seem odd to a generation of Americans who go into debt, both public and private, as no people ever did before. Coolidge would probably be horrified at the thought of buying an automobile before having his home paid for. Neither the party of Davis nor La Follette, the man without a party, can attack Coolidge on the grounds of extravagance.

LET MARSHALL ANSWER

A complete and final refutation of La Follette's radical but unoriginal plan of making Congress supreme was made by John Marshall, then Chief Justice of the United States, in the year 1803.

Though Marshall's fine brain is dust long since, his words are as true and vital as they were when he penned them; truer, perhaps, because they are emphasized and buttressed by 121 years of experience. With logic that must have been unanswerable, since in 121 years it has never been answered, the Chief Justice said:

> The question whether an act repugnant to the Constitution can become the law of the land is a question deeply interesting to the United States, but happily not of an intricacy proportional to its interest. . . .
> The Constitution is either a superior, paramount law, unchangeable by ordinary means, or it is on a level with ordinary legislative acts and, like other acts, is alterable when the Legislature shall please to alter it. If the former part of the alternatives be true, then a legislative act contrary to the Constitution is not law; if the latter part be true, then written constitutions are absurd attempts on the part of the people to limit a power in its nature illimitable.
> Certainly all those who have framed written constitutions contemplate them as forming the fundamental and paramount law of the nation and consequently the theory of every such government must be that an act of the Legislature repugnant to the Constitution is void.
> This theory is essentially attached to a written constitution and is consequently to be considered by the court as one of the fundamental principles of our society. . . .
> It is emphatically the province and duty of the judicial department to say what the law is. Those who apply a rule to particular cases must of necessity expound and interpret that rule. . . . So, if a law be in opposition to the Constitution . . . the court must either decide that case conformably to the law, disregarding the Constitution, or conformably to the Constitution, disregarding the law. . . . Those who controvert the principle that the Constitution is to be considered in court as a paramount law are reduced to the necessity of maintaining that courts must close their eyes on the Constitution. . . .
> This doctrine would subvert the very foundation of all written constitutions. It would declare that if the Legislature shall do what is expressly forbidden, such act, notwithstanding the express prohibition, is in reality effectual. It would be giving the Legislature a practical and real omnipotence with the same breath which professes to restrict their powers with narrow limits. . . .
> The judicial power of the United States is extended to all cases arising under the Constitution. Could it be the intention of those who gave the power to say that in using it the Constitution should not be looked into? . . . This is too extravagant to be maintained.

Too extravagant or not, it is precisely what La Follette proposes to do. Marshall's two principal points are perfectly clear: either the Constitution is paramount or it is nothing; and the courts, which are specifically directed to try cases arising under the Constitution, must, in the very nature of things, be permitted to compare the statute and the Constitution and decide if they conflict. Nothing else is possible under the American form of government.

If that government is to be changed in essential particulars, be assured that it will not be in the direction of making Congress, in Marshall's striking phrase, omnipotent. Recent performances of the legislative branch of the government have not been such that the people care to extend its power.

The La Follette proposal strikes at the very fundamentals. His proposed amendment to the Constitution would amend it out of existence.

THE WORLD'S WINDOW

Amuck

An Arab riding a huge camel through the streets of Paris became intoxicated with the plaudits of the crowds of the boulevards and started to pull off some stunts. After refreshing himself at an establishment he had his beast of burden drink a pailful of champagne. Both rider and camel, thoroughly drunk, started careening through the streets. They entered a shop on the Boulevard Haussmann through the plate-glass window, upset counters and silverware, sent customers and attendants into shrieks of hysteria and calmly walked out. Not wishing to shoot at the "ship of the desert," some gendarmes ran ahead of the frightful onslaught shouting to pedestrians to get out of the way. The camel swayed into a motorbus and the motorbus upset. Lantern posts bent double under its gentle rubs. On the market its appearance brought a pandemonium that bordered on a panic amidst the stalls. Finally the strangers rounded the bend at the Madeleine Church, the camel mounted the steps and lay down. The Arab descended and was arrested. But he had to be released an hour later to calm his bumped companion, which had started on the rampage alone, probably looking for his master and more champagne.

No Hope

Sixty cases of suicide among students at the University of Moscow have been reported during the past two months. Most of the students who sought this way of reaching "nothingness" belonged to the old aristocratic and middle-class families. They were notified that they must leave school so that their places could be filled by boys and girls belonging to the working class. "The bourgeois has no right to education in a proletarian state," was the ukase from the soviet authorities that put an end to their studies. Not only no right to education, but no right to live, it seems. The Bolsheviks are ungrateful to the past. The Russian revolution, of which they are reaping the benefits, was the result of the idealism of the middle-class students during the past century. Lenin, Bucharin, Tchitcherin and Lunacharsky all belonged to the petty nobility. Not one of the leaders, not even of the Mensheviks, like Tseretselli and Kerensky, were proletarians. In 1825, when the first revolutionary movement was crushed by the Czar, the exiled Decemberists wrote back from Siberia to Pushkin, the Russian poet: "The spark will burst into flame." The flame came in 1917. Ever since that time the Bolsheviks have tried to smother the flaming torch of democracy.

RIPPLING RHYMES

IN ANCIENT ROME

When Cato, the censor, reared up for a speech, the crowds growing denser, pronounced him a peach. His presence was stately, his voice like a lute, men cheered for him greatly, no catcall or hoot. "He stacks like a lion in eloquent fray, he's better than Bryan," the Romans would say. This Cato, undaunted, selected his theme; he'd jump, when he wanted, on any old scheme. "Our lawmakers blundered, they pulled dizzy games, in giving," he thundered, "such freedom to dames. Once women were making good homes for us guys, they spent their time baking their gooseberry pies. They mended our sandals, our togas they sewed, and peddled small scandals in every abode. Then women were modest, a credit to Rome, ambitions the broadest were centered in home. But now they are chasing in office and mart, good voters displacing and breaking my heart. Their bearing is mannish, to brawn they aspire, determined to banish the charms we admire. Oh, Romans, I tremble and view with alarm, when women assemble the taxes to farm. Our bulwarks are slipping—I tremble again—when women are gripping the snaps made for men." Today men are crying the things Cato said and he has been lying two thousand years dead. No problems are modern; there's nothing that's new; as Cato was dodder'n', still dodder a few.

The Spanish government, by secret treaty, ceded Louisiana to France in the year 1800. Thirty-eight years prior to this Louis XV had ceded to Spain all of this territory. When Napoleon Bonaparte became First Consul of France he obtained the retrocession of Louisiana with the intention of forming a colonial empire in America. In 1803 he sold the territory to the United States.

SOME REFLECTIONS

BY J. A. GRAVES

At each election my disgust for the office-seeking citizen increases. During the recent primary campaign I saw but one campaign card which did not have on it the union totem of the closed printing shop. That was the card of Congressman John D. Fredericks. "Yes," you may say, "and he did not run as well as he should." But he retained his manhood. He did not confess himself a sniveling coward. He did not grovel at the feet of the labor-union bosses. He stood out as a free man among a bunch of terrorized office-seekers who, for the sake of votes, were willing to sacrifice principle to expediency. Shame upon their craven cowardice!

There are in Los Angeles 350 commercial printing plants, exclusive of newspapers. Thirty-five of the 350 are completely unionized. These unionized plants employ about 300 workmen. The remaining 315 plants are open or nonunion and employ about 3000 working people. The open or nonunion shops manufacture between 85 per cent and 90 per cent of the printing produced in Los Angeles city.

Were not the votes of the open shops wanted by the late primary candidates? Or did they say to themselves, "The open-shop people will vote for us, anyhow, and we will solicit the union-shop vote by attaching to our names a badge of infamy"?

The campaign managers of most of these candidates, through their campaign committees, solicited financial aid from the general public. I wonder who, from the printing offices, contributed the most money in answer to these appeals—the open-shop people or the closed-shop people? If they are not too cowardly let the candidates answer the question.

Every appeal for aid which I received during the campaign, which was accompanied by one of these obnoxious cards, I promptly threw into the waste basket. I have taken a solemn oath never to put up $1 for a candidate who besmirches himself by so petty an indiscretion. Are there no votes in this county which these candidates desire but the labor-union vote? Union labor embraces less than one-tenth of the population. What about the other 90 per cent?

Of course, you could expect a Socialist like Criswell, who, if the press reports are correct, campaigned at the city's expense, in a city automobile, to use such a campaign card. He belongs to that crowd and is proud of it.

I do not ask a boycott of the union-labor shops. If any candidate wants his printing done there let him have it, but leave off the totem. I can but conclude that it was an indirect financial bid for votes to be received. Of course, the totem is used on these election cards for the sole purpose of bringing all union-labor votes into line. No right-thinking American citizen should want any vote that has to be bought even by so petty a bribe as a printing bill.

This abuse of the public patience will go on until some day the worm will turn and then those who do not believe in tagging a union totem onto everything from a person's birth certificate to the physician's certificate which proclaims that he has departed this life will rise up in their wrath, nominate for office a full ticket composed of men possessing the courage and the nerve of John D. Fredericks, who will not disgrace themselves by any such a performance as electioneering, among free people, under the aegis of a union totem.

Think it over, you late candidates for office, and you will realize how ridiculous your action appears to nine-tenths of those who voted for you.

Quite a number of candidates were unopposed at the primary election. They certainly could refrain from insulting their loyal constituency at that election by not circulating any unionized campaign literature.

How ridiculous it would be for a judge, elected after circulating cards of this kind, to be called upon to try a case where the rights of union labor and free labor are at stake! Would not the free laborite be justified in demanding a change of venue on the ground that the judge was prejudiced in favor of union labor, inasmuch as he had patronized closed shops in all of his political campaigns and advertised that fact on his campaign literature, the object, of course, being to pander to the vote of all sympathisers with the closed shop? Like Caesar's wife, judges should be above suspicion. Whether they are or not depends upon their own actions.

The Presidential year is having but little effect on business. Any heaviness in evidence in our business conditions results from other causes. Textile and other manufacturing plants which have been shut down or have been running upon half-time or less were overstocked and could no longer meet the demands of their employees and avert bankruptcy. There had been for some time past a slowing down of demand on the part of buyers, caused by weather conditions, decreased profits on the part of the farmers and high prices asked for all sorts of commodities. These prices were, in many instances, the result of exorbitant demands of labor.

For years past in America labor has taken the cream of all business. The government has taken the skim milk, in the shape of taxes, and left the business man the empty pail. Normal conditions of prosperity for all classes can never return until there is a complete readjustment of the wage scale. All classes, even labor itself, will benefit from the increased purchasing power of the dollar earned.

We have heard much in the past about the impoverished condition of the farmers of the Middle West. Legislation cannot do them any good. Lilyan May Challenger Adds to Crown of Laurels

Capt. Salisbury Talks of South Sea Isles

BY CLAIRE FORBES CRANE

We of KHJ may be permitted to be slightly puffed up at staying at our posts this hot weather to see that overwrought nerves and brains tired by the excessive heat are refreshed and renewed with vitality through our daily programs. And every artist who comes to us and assists in this work is a true missionary.

Madame Secret of Memory Lane last evening threw off her veil of mystery and appeared attired in her own charming and delightful entity, that of Lilyan May Challenger. In the East this name spells "Magic" in the realm of radioland. Announcers, experts in broadcasting, authors and critics have united to acclaim Miss Challenger's voice as unique. Contrary to many experiences Lilyan May Challenger's voice lived up to its reputation as she sang from KHJ—and as she left the studio last evening she had added another perfect leaf to her already large laurel crown. So deep and resonant is the voice that it takes on the character of a baritone. Many people thought that a new operatic edition of Titto Ruffo was on the air. Besides many ballads Lilyan May Challenger sang both in French and Italian. Her French was unusually perfect. We hope Los Angeles may induce this interesting newcomer to remain here.

EXPLORER CHARMS

There are very few radio stations who are fortunate enough to number among their inner circle an explorer like Capt. Edward Salisbury. Our one regret is that we do not have him more often to tell in his original picturesque language of the many scenes which fill his book of memory to overflowing. Last evening Capt. Salisbury talked on the Fiji Islands and for a short while the romance and color of the South Seas lured up from our thoughts of the weather. Capt. Salisbury is our idea of the quotation "Both a scholar and a gentleman."

Our imaginations were given another flight by the simple but entertaining characterization of the village philosopher by our old friend E. M. Mitchell, commonly known as Uncle Josh. His delineation of the rural figure is always replete with humor.

The hot evenings with the black velvet and diamond skies bring us visions of Waikiki and the singing surf pouring its silvery notes upon the sparkling sands. Sitting out on the roof last night, the illusion was completed by the Burkman Brothers Hawaiian Quartet, from whose fingers dropped the alluring and mystic melodies of the Pacific Isle.

Even the canaries were too hot to sing at noon; but nevertheless Wally Wallenius and Louis F. Klein gave cheerfully of their respective talents for a full hour. The tenor voice of Mr. Wallenius is entirely free from strain and effort. Yesterday he sang songs such as "Forgotten" so easily that they fairly floated through the microphone.

Louis F. Klein, who is the technical director of the United Theaters, plays a glorified harmonica for recreation and is good enough, often, to let us share his playtime.

Prof. Walter Sylvester Hertzog contributed another installment of American history with characteristic details and interest. Donald Driscoll, boy soprano, pupil of William James Chick, gave several numbers in a manner which made us think of bright Sunday mornings and the upturned faces of little children glimpsed through the open door.

FAIRIES APPEAR

Last evening the sound of the Sandman's whistle preceded little Queen Titania's arrival by a very few moments. The Fairy Queen sprung another of her surprises on Radioland when she sailed into the studio on the back of a huge dragonfly.

When Uncle John expressed a wish that he could fly, the Queen of the Fairies told him to spread his wings, explaining that she meant the wing of thought. Following this suggestion Uncle John, Titania and the Sandman flew upon the wings of thought to the Isles of Enchantment, which lie in the midst of Slumber Sea.

Arriving at these magic isles, they went up the Golden Stairway which leads to Moonland. When they reached this country, Uncle John discovered growing there the Iceplant, whose fruit is ice cream cones.

Entering a cavern which opened from the top of the Golden Stairway, they proceeded to the heart of Moonland, where they found the Man in the Moon, ruler of Moonland. Queen Titania introduced Uncle John to this personage, who told Uncle John and Radioland the importance of doing one's duty, no matter what that duty might be.

Returning to the top of the Golden Stairway, Uncle John saw a large cluster of stars in the sky, which he decided must be the Milky Way, but the Fairy Queen told him that the real name for this group of stars was the Kingdom of the Stars and promised to take Radioland there some evening.

The Fairy visitors brought two new verses from the Fairy Library, one being entitled, "Wings of Thought," and the other "The House of Life."

As they stood at the entrance to the moon cavern, the Dragonfly flew up to them. Queen Titania climbed on its back and sailed away for Fairyland, while the Sandman dropped Dream Sand in Uncle John's eyes and then brought him back to the studio. Queen Titania promised the lads and lassies another trip next Tuesday evening.

Employee Gets Jail Term for Part in Bankruptcy of Visalia Company

Judge McCormick in the United States District Court today sentenced H. J. Mueller to pay $1000 fine and H. J. Rehler to serve eighteen months at Leavenworth for their part in the bankruptcy of the Visalia Furniture Company which had a head store at Visalia and branches at Bakersfield and Fresno. Mueller pleaded guilty, and Rehler was found guilty by a jury on charges of conspiracy in anticipation of bankruptcy.

The prosecution was brought when $15,000 worth of the company stock was found in an establishment in this city, having been shipped here, according to the charges in the case, in expectation of bringing an action for bankruptcy.

Arthur Collyns at one time an employee of the company, was to have been the chief witness for the prosecution, but he committed suicide at San Francisco a few days before Rehler's trial. Mueller was owner of the company. Rehler was merely an employee, according to his defense. The jury found him guilty only after several hours' deliberation and considerable difficulty in reaching a verdict.

SOCIETY

BY JUANA NEAL LEVY

Much interest is being manifested by local society over the approaching opening of the Philharmonic Orchestra season, Friday afternoon, the 10th inst., and Saturday evening, the 11th. Almost the entire house has been sold out for both performances, and an unusually interesting program has been arranged by William Henry Rothwell, who has just returned from a summer abroad, where he visited the various music centers and found much new and attractive material for the winter's programs. Luncheon parties are being arranged at the Biltmore and California Club, preceding the afternoon's performance, and Saturday evening a reception followed by a supper will be given at the California Club, honoring William Andrews Clark, Jr., and William Henry Rothwell, the hosts and hostesses being Mr. and Mrs. Robert Irwin Rogers, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene O. McLaughlin and Mrs. Leona Smith Montgomery. Among the many delightful affairs given in the interests of the Philharmonic Orchestra was the joint luncheon at the Alexandria of the woman's committee and the advisory board, among the guests being Mrs. Leiland A. Irish, Mrs. Robert Irwin Rogers, Mrs. Hansen Moore, Mrs. Eugene O. McLaughlin, Mrs. Sloan-Orcutt, Mrs. R. D. Shepherd, Mrs. Alfred Stern, Mrs. Gertrude Ross, Mrs. J. G. Braun of Santa Monica, Mrs. Charles Jeffras, Mrs. Charles H. Akers-Carlisle

Announcement is made of the marriage Monday afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. W. G. Parker, 214 South Benton Way, of Miss Mary Madelyn Akers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Nelson Akers of Port Huron, Mich., to Harold Avery Carlisle, Lieutenant, Junior Grade, U.S.N., the ceremony being performed at half fast four, Rev. W. H. Fishburn officiating. The bride, who was given away by her mother, wore a becoming frock of white crepe de chine and lace, her veil held in place by orange blossoms, and she carried an arm shower of bride's roses and lilies of the valley. Mrs. Parker assisted as matron of honor, while Mr. Parker served Mr. Carlisle as best man. After a wedding dinner Mr. and Mrs. Carlisle left for San Diego, where they will pass their honeymoon, and after their return they will make their home in Long Beach. Mr. Carlisle is detailed with the U.S.S. California. Scattering rose petals in the pathway of the bride little Betty Lou Waterman was the dainty flower girl at the ceremony.

Surprise Dinner

The Los Angeles Athletic Club was the scene of one of the prettiest dinners of the month last Saturday when Mrs. Judson C. Rives and Mrs. C. L. Waite entertained a coterie of twenty-four friends, the occasion celebrating the birthdays of the husbands of the hostesses. The decorations were carried out in the golf motif, both honorees being devotees of the out-of-door sport, and the favors were putters, mashies and golf balls. Dahlias in the rich autumn tones were combined with ferns and foliage in the center of the table. After the dinner the guests repaired to the Rives home in Westchester Place, where bridge formed the feature of the evening. Mr. and Mrs. Rives are planning to leave the 7th inst., for the East, where they will visit in Kansas City for two weeks, returning home for a few days before leaving for New York City, where they will remain until late in December.

Musicale Tea

An interesting and enjoyable musical afternoon was given by Mrs. N. R. FASHIONS & FOIBLES

Black cire braid follows a geometrical pattern on canary-yellow flannel and proves that contrast makes a smart frock smarter.

WHEN morning finds one at the beach, noon lunching in a Newport inn and afternoon at a fashionable country club, a smart dress of flannel or wool jersey is a wise choice, if a change of costume is out of the question. These materials are as light and cool as silk crêpe or crêpe de Chine and one can choose any color from citron, madonna blue, Lanvin green, canary yellow to a pure white. Coffee-colored braid on a beige wool jersey is a very smart combination. This is one of the simple styles which are so easy to make.

NEW CLUBHOUSE BUILDING ACTIVE

Biennial Seen as Stimulus to Movement

Most Organizations Occupy Own Quarters

University Women's Project Latest on List

BY MYRA NYE

The impetus received from the biennial last June is evident in many ways in women's club circles, but in no way more than in the building of clubhouses. Of the 192 clubs in the district a canvas has shown that 65 per cent have their own quarters and this Fall scarcely a day passes that a new building story is not heard.

The latest is the Women's University Club which has incorporated during September and this month expects to receive its papers and will proceed to complete paying for the building and lot, the home of the late Judge and Mrs. Trippett, 940 South Hoover street, which the club occupied for the first time last spring.

The plan adopted by the building and lot committee to meet this obligation of $50,000 is the sale of 200 life memberships at $250 each.

$32,000 PLEDGED

One hundred and twenty-six memberships have already been pledged, totaling nearly $32,000. The initial payment on the clubhouse of $20,000 has been made. So optimistic is the committee in regard to the placing of the remaining seventy-four memberships that the club has filed articles of incorporation. By the last of this month these formalities will be completed and the women's University Club will hold the building in its own name. At present the property is held by the trustees. Incorporated and with the building and grounds in its own name, the Women's University Club will be an established entity and ready to go forward in the work of education which is its excuse for being.

Such an achievement as the club, and especially the building and lot committee, has to its credit, connotes an enormous amount of work, unfailing enthusiasm, and faith in one another, as well as in the wisdom of the plan.

MEMBERS CONTRIBUTE

Yet so quietly has the work gone forward, so devoted have been both the men and women interested, that no contributions outside the membership have been asked for, nor has there been an expense account presented to the club. All service has been voluntary, even the legal advice from a husband of a member of the committee. Stationery, postage, every item of expense, has been cheerfully met by this little band of loyal people. Mrs. Birney Donnell is chairman of the building and lot committee.

ANSWERS TO CO

ICE WATER AND BEET PICKLES

"Dear Doctor Lulu: I am writing to thank you for your booklet on reducing. I am one of those who thought fat was inherited and that nothing could be done for it. When I sent for your instructions I weighed 240 pounds and now, after four months I weigh 188. I have not found it hard and I have been delighted to find the fat rolling off. I am going to keep on reducing till I become normal and then I intend to count my calories forever. I have given my booklet to a friend and she has reduced seventeen pounds in a month. Have given your address to a number of friends also. I never miss an opportunity to sing your praises.

"Is ice water fattening? I have been told it is. One of my friends says she has eaten beet pickles in large quantities and so reduced, but in your booklet, beets are listed as having a good many calories. I suppose biscuits in which a considerable amount of shortening was used would have just that many more calories than light bread, wouldn't they? "F."

Fifty-two pounds in four months is a pretty stiff reduction, but if you feel so well it is probably not too much for you.

No, water, iced or not, is not fattening. You can drink all the water you want to, at meals or between meals. At meals, however, don't use the water to wash your food down. You should have considerable water at any time, and especially while reducing—at least two quarts.

Your friend who reduced on beet pickles may have reduced because she upset her digestion, or it may be possible that by eating so many, she stopped eating the more concentrated foods. It isn't such a good method; in fact, it's a very bad method indeed. She probably got so much vinegar that it pickled her stomach and put it out of commission.

Yes, a level tablespoonful of shortening registers 100 calories, so biscuits that have a large amount of shortening would register more calories than light bread. It is better to eat whole wheat or bran bread, reducing or not, than to eat so much white bread and biscuits. Bran and whole-wheat bread would have a little more waste, so they might be counted just a few calories less than white bread.

UNDERWEIGHT, CONSTIPATION

"Dear Doctor Peters: It certainly is gratifying to a busy mother of seven, like myself, to have the privilege of reading such honest-to-goodness helpful and practical suggestions and advice as you give.

"I have been constipated as long as I can remember and seem to be beyond help, and I wonder if you possibly can help me. Please send me your article on constipation. I certainly am not too fat—age 33, height, five feet, seven inches, weight 130 pounds. Thanking you very much for your kindness.

"MRS. K."

You are probably constipated because you are not eating enough, Mrs. K. You are about twenty pounds or so underweight. We have an article on constipation which

HOUSEHOLD SUGGESTIONS

About Meringue

Let the meringue cool slowly after it has been browned. If chilled too quickly it is apt to become watery.

Permanent Stains

Never press a stained garment or it will make the stain permanent and impossible to remove without professional aid. Clean off all spots before pressing.

Systematizing the Work

When you have so much to do that you don't know what to do first, just sit down for a minute and plan it all out. Otherwise you will not accomplish half of what you set out to do.

Air it Thoroughly

If the clothing is damp when removed, place it on a hanger and hang it in a current of air until thoroughly dry. It should never be put in the clothes closet while damp.

From White to Tan

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS

"Dear Doctor Lulu: I am writing to thank you for your booklet on reducing. I am one of those who thought fat was inherited and that nothing could be done for it. When I sent for your instructions I weighed 240 pounds and now, after four months I weigh 188. I have not found it hard and I have been delighted to find the fat rolling off. I am going to keep on reducing till I become normal and then I intend to count my calories forever. I have given my booklet to a friend and she has reduced seventeen pounds in a month. Have given your address to a number of friends also. I never miss an opportunity to sing your praises.

"Is ice water fattening? I have been told it is. One of my friends says she has eaten beet pickles in large quantities and so reduced, but in your booklet, beets are listed as having a good many calories. I suppose biscuits in which a considerable amount of shortening was used would have just that many more calories than light bread, wouldn't they? "F."

Fifty-two pounds in four months is a pretty stiff reduction, but if you feel so well it is probably not too much for you.

No, water, iced or not, is not fattening. You can drink all the water you want to, at meals or between meals. At meals, however, don't use the water to wash your food down. You should have considerable water at any time, and especially while reducing—at least two quarts.

Your friend who reduced on beet pickles may have reduced because they upset her digestion, or it may be possible that by eating so many, she stopped eating the more concentrated foods. It isn't such a good method; in fact, it's a very bad method indeed. She probably got so much vinegar that it pickled her stomach and put it out of commission.

Yes, a level tablespoonful of shortening registers 100 calories, so biscuits that have a large amount of shortening would register more calories than light bread. It is better to eat whole wheat or bran bread, reducing or not, than to eat so much white bread and biscuits. Bran and whole-wheat bread would have a little more waste, so they might be counted just a few calories less than white bread.

UNDERWEIGHT, CONSTIPATION

"Dear Doctor Peters: It certainly is gratifying to a busy mother of seven, like myself, to have the privilege of reading such honest-to-goodness helpful and practical suggestions and advice as you give.

"I have been constipated as long as I can remember and seem to be beyond help, and I wonder if you possibly can help me. Please send me your article on constipation. I certainly am not too fat—age 38, height, five feet, seven inches, weight 130 pounds. Thanking you very much for your kindness.

"MRS. K."

You are probably constipated because you are not eating enough, Mrs. K. You are about twenty pounds or so underweight. We have an article on constipation which has been sent you if you inclosed a self-addressed, stamped envelope with your request. Did you? Meanwhile, eat more; eat more whole-wheat bread and butter, cereals and drink more milk. Send for our pamphlet on gaining. Inclose s.a.s.e. and 10 cents in stamps with your request. As I have said many times, nothing gives me more happiness than to know I am helping the children. Thank you for letting me know I have helped yours, Mrs. K.

CAN'T KEEP AWAKE

M. says she could sleep on a clothesline; is a bookkeeper, not overworked. Sleeps in movies, street cars and automobiles!

Are you underweight, M? Or anemic or overweight and plethoric (excess of blood?) Are you suffering from auto-intoxication from constipation or are you toxemic (poison in blood) from some chronic infection in teeth, tonsils or other focus? Whatever 'tis you need attention, girl, from some modern skillful physician.

Tomorrow: Answers to Correspondents.

My Dear Followers: When sending for material which we offer you, please remember to inclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope bearing your full name and address. The pamphlet on reducing and gaining is the only one for which you must inclose 10 cents in stamps extra. Address your letters to me in care of this paper. Make them as brief as possible, not over 200 words, and type or write them legibly with ink. Please sign your name as evidence of good faith—we will not use it in any way. Remember it is impossible for me to diagnose for you or to answer you personally. I appreciate very much the beautiful letters you send me and regret it is impossible to give you individual advice. The questions you ask will be answered in the column as soon as possible, if they are of general interest. Don't forget the stamped, self-addressed envelope if you expect me to send you the information I have offered.

RABE INDICTED ON FOUR COUNTS

Charged With Falsifying to Sell Stock

Jury Hears of Enterprise for Long Beach Harbor

Defendant's Bail is Raised to $10,000

How Long Beach was to be given a huge harbor, to be built as a private enterprise, was verbally painted to various investors who had the welfare of that city at heart by Paul B. Rabe, promoter for a company which was to have handled the industry, according to an indictment returned yesterday by a grand jury against Rabe. In the indictment Rabe is accused on four counts of obtaining money under false pretenses.

The indictment was returned before Judge Crail, who, upon recommendation of Dep. Dist.-Atty. Bonner Richardson, fixed bail at $20,000. Rabe at present is at liberty on $10,000 bond, officials stated.

BASE OF CHARGES

The asserted false representations charged against Rabe in the indictment are that while he was taking preorganization subscriptions for the purchase of the stock of the Long Beach Dock and Terminal Company, thereafter to be incorporated, he declared that the company had bought and nearly paid for 140 acres of land near Long Beach for a harbor, docks and warehouses, and that the company had arranged for a $6,000,000 bond issue to carry on the proposed work.

It was further charged that Rabe represented to the investors that Gen. George W. Goethals, builder of the Panama Canal, had been engaged to act as chairman of the board of directors, and that Senator Shortridge, Congressman Lineberger and City Manager Windham of Long Beach had been engaged to act as officers and directors of the company.

STATEMENTS FALSE

While it was admitted Rabe was engaged in taking preorganization subscriptions, it is charged that the company had not been incorporated; that it did not own any land in Los Angeles county; that it had not bought the 140 acres mentioned; that it had not arranged a bond issue, and that none of the well-known officials and others mentioned had been engaged to act as officers of the company or hand anything to do with it.

The indictment charges that upon these representations Elmer E. Owen was induced to give Rabe securities valued at $4000 for 480 shares of the company, yet to be incorporated. Henrietta McGaw, it is charged, was induced to invest $1250 for 180 shares; $4000 for 480 shares, and a house and lot at 2300 Lucerne Boulevard, Los Angeles, valued at $11,000, for 780 shares.

MAN DYING IN RUM FEUD

Victim of Mysterious Shooting Refuses to Name Assailants, Wife Unable to Shed Light

A bootleggers' feud is blamed by police for the mysterious shooting early yesterday of Lee Mantell, 31 years of age, of 451 South Bixel street, who is near death at the General Hospital but who stubbornly refuses to tell how he received his wounds.

This belief, according to Detective Lieutenant Hamilton and Detectives Vail and Parsons, is based on Mantell's refusal to talk and because, they say, he previously has been arrested on a Wright Act charge. Mrs. Mantell told the officers that she had been unable to obtain an explanation from her husband as to how he received the wounds, one of which is directly under the heart and one in the groin.

Mantell was found by detectives lying on a couch in his apartment about 2:30 a.m. yesterday. In the room was his wife, Miss H. Phelan, 673 South Shatto Place; Mrs. Charles Ayers, same address, and G. V. Torgerson, 1385 North Mentor street, Pasadena.

The police had been summoned to the apartment after Mantell had been taken into his apartment by the two women and man, who told the police they had found him in a Ford coupe near the apartment-house, suffering from the wounds. None of the strangers had ever seen Mantell before, they said, and took him home at his request when he told them he had been shot.

Tracing the automobile in which Mantell was found it was learned that he had rented it at 10 p.m. Monday from G. Bailey, 846 South Figueroa street. The speedometer of the car showed it had been driven approximately twenty miles.

The detectives said they were unable to learn Mantell's occupation. His wife, they declared, told them he had not been working for some time.

GLAND THREAT QUIZ BEGUN

Dep. Dist.-Atty. Lucas to Question Accused Men; Smith Denies Mutilation Complaint

Whether nine young men dressed in evening clothes had threatened to mutilate Garrett Smith, 414 South Catalina street, unless he apologized for remarks he is asserted to have made against one of them, will be determined by Dep. Dist.-Atty. Lucas who started investigation yesterday following Smith's complaint. Two of the young men were summoned to appear at the District Attorney's office today or Thursday.

Smith denied last night that he had made any complaint to Lucas that he had been threatened with mutilation or had asked for the arrest of any of the young men. He admitted, however, that he is to appear at the District Attorney's office again Thursday morning.

Dep. Dist.-Atty. Lucas could not be found last night to get his version of Smith's complaint. Late yesterday afternoon, however, it was stated at the District Attorney's office that Smith had appeared there and in substance related the following story:

He attended a dinner at the home of J. Langford Stack, 411 South Ardmore street, advertising man, and that while there, he said, statements were made with respect to one of the nine young men. Later, Smith said, he was induced ot go to the home of one of the young men upon the pretext that he was to meet a man ready to invest in an enterprise in which he was engaged.

When Smith arrived there, he said, he was accused of responsibility for the statements. He stated that he was beaten and forced to sign an affidavit that the asserted statements were untrue, and to apologize. He said he was then told that unless he went individually to eleven young society matrons and girls who were present at the dinner and apologize, the nine young men would mutilate him.

Later, he said, he received a letter further threatening him and giving the names and addresses of those to whom he was to apologize. Smith asserted that he was not responsible for any of the statements referred to by the young men.

At his home last night Mr. Smith said:

"When I went to the home of one of the young men apparently on a business proposition, I found six or seven of the boys there and we did get into a fight when I denied the statements they attributed to me," Smith declared. "I did not get hurt in the encounter, and was perfectly willing to let the matter drop right there if it had not of been for the letter they sent me. In it they threatened to ge me unless I made the apologies to the girls. The letter worried my mother more than it did me, and it was at her suggestion that I went to see Lucas. I did not ask for their arrest, but merely inquired if I would get into trouble if I took a gang over there and cleaned up on them as they had attmpted to do on me. Lucas advised me not to do that, and the result is I am to be at his office again at 10 a.m. Thursday.

"I never said anything about the boys and they know it. Neither did they at any time threaten to mutilate me. If Mr. Lucas gained any such impression from my talk with him I was in error, as no such threat was ever made by anyone."

The new home is said to be one of the finest of its kind west of Chicago and represents an investment equipment of $100,000.

LAST RITES FOR FLORIST TOMORROW

Bodger Funeral Services to be Conducted in the Universalist Church

John Bodger

Mr. Bodger came to California in 1891 from Kingston, Somerset county, Eng., where he had been identified with the growing of flower and vegetable seeds. For the last twenty years he has been developing large tracts of land near Gardena and El Monte for the production of garden seeds. His Beauty Aster and Dahlia Flowered Zennia are well known to flower lovers, the latter having been awarded the gold medal at the Royal Horticultural Society of London in June of this year.

He leaves a widow, three daughters and four sons, who are Mrs. H. E. George, Sherman; Mrs. C. F. Hewitt, El Monte, and Mrs. Dale Foster of Fillmore; William J. Bodger, Arcadia; Walter, Thomas M., and J. C. Bodger of this city, who are associated with the John C. Bodger & Sons Co.

ADMITTED TO PROBATION

John M. Teeling, 50 years of age, an apartment-house operator, was admitted to probation for four years by Judge Avery yesterday after he had pleaded guilty to four counts of issuing checks without sufficient funds. Teeling explained that he issued the checks on the strength of a note for $2500, which he expected, but failed to collect.

MAD ELEPHANT INJURES THREE

Knocks Over Circus Wagon in Frenzied Flight

Actors Pinned Beneath; Star Pulled to Safety

Frightened by the realism of a storm scene on a circus set yesterday at Universal City, Minnie, giant elephant, broke away from her keepers and knocked over a circus wagon, injuring three persons, and narrowly missed Louise Lorraine, actress.

Caught under the circus wagon when it overturned, Richard Black, acrobat, suffered two broken ribs anr numerous lacerations. The other injured are: Tony Brack, acrobat, and Ray Taylor, both of whom were cut and bruised under the wagon.

BECOMES DOCILE

Studio officials stated that Minnie is not a vicious animal and that yesterday was the first time any trouble had been experienced during her film experience. After the animal was quieted at the stable, it was reported, she became as docile as a lamb.

The "storm," to which Minnie objected, was created by giant airplane propellers. The purpose of the storm was to wreck the circus tent, a climax of the production.

MILTON SILLS TO LEAVE SCREEN FOR MEGAPHONE

By Grace Kingsley

Not satisfied with being one of the screen's most popular stars, Milton Sills is seeking new worlds to conquer, so he will become a director.

This momentous piece of news leaked out at the United Studios yesterday and was confirmed by the actor when reached last night at his home in Hollywood.

Sills stated that his present contract with First National, which was renewed last October, has another year to run, after which he will embark on his new artistic enterprise. He had no definite announcement to make, but it is known he has received a number of directorial offers, and he will accept one of these.

"It has been one of those ambitions of mine which are so deep-rooted that I haven't even talked about any of them up to the present time," was the way in which Sills couched his admission.

Of course, he admitted, many things may happen in a year. However, short of a starring contract under conditions he hasn't even dreamed of yet, Sills will keep his resolution to desert the camera's eye for the megaphone.

Sills entered picture work in 1914, under interesting circumstances. He was playing in "The Law of the Land," his last important stage appearance in New York, when he was approached by William A. Brady with an offer to play in pictures. His first picture was "The Pit," under the direction of Maurice Tourneau. Since that day, with the exception of a single short return to the stage, he has been active in pictures, building one of the biggest reputations as a character lead.

After initial picture work in California with Clara Kimball Young in 1916, for a few months, he returned here after the armistice, with his family, and has been a resident of Hollywood ever since, taking a deep interest in its civic affairs with his talented wife, the former Gladys Wynne, actress of Shakespearean and classical drama.

DIRECTOR WEDS HIS FIRST WIFE'S SISTER

Wedding bells have chimed again at the Paramount studios. Word received yesterday from New York told of the marriage in that city of Joseph Henabery, featured producer-director, and Lillian Nolan. The wedding occurred last Wednesday.

Miss Nolan is the sister of Henabery's first wife, who died about two years ago. The director and his present wife met for the first time when they were together at the vigil of his first wife's bedside during her last illness. Later friendship ripened into love.

Henabery has been stationed at the eastern studios of the Paramount organistaion for some months. He directed Rudolph Valentino in "A Sainted Devil."

Mae Marsh Coming Home

Speeding westward on the California limited is Mae Marsh, who, according to wires received by friends yesterday, will arrive today. Hosts of film and city friends, made during her dozen years spent here, will meet her at the depot.

Miss Marsh has been away for nearly half a year on a leisurely tour throughout Europe and eastern cities of this country. Her mother has accompanied her on the entire trip. Early this summer Miss Marsh went to Berlin and starred in the title role of "Arabella," a story of a roving wagon circus of earlier continental days.

The star's Flintridge home is open and ready to receive the long-absent owner, and it is said that plans have been made for her to start work in a local studio some time this month.

Seena Owen Among Us

Seena Owen, film star, arrived in town yesterday from New York. She is here merely on business. She may, however, accept an offer which she has received to appear in a big production.

Frank Lloyd's New One

"Judgment," a recent Saturday Evening Post short story by May Edginton, the well-known English authoress, has been selected as the fourth independent production Frank Lloyd will release through First National Pictures. J. G. Hawks is now at work on the screen adaptation and production is expected to be begun about the 15th inst. The story deals with modern society life and Mr. Lloyd will introduce also a prologue of 1900. Miss Edginton's most recent screen stories have been "Secrets" and "Triumph."

Dobinson Players Tonight

If Glendale doesn't have amusement in the long winter evenings, it isn't going to be the fault of the Dobinson Players, who open at the Club Playhouse tonight.

The first play of the season which the Dobinson Players will present will be "A Prince There Was." The company, a carefully selected cast, has been rehearsing for the past two weeks. The scenery and costumes are all new and up-to-date.

Mary Isabelle Alpaugh will make her first appearance in a character role and bobbed hair. Gertrude Kellar and others will furnish capable support.

Where Dramatic Interest Focuses

Monte Blue

Elsie Janis

In the Spotlight

Lambs' Benefit at Bowl Takes Place Tonight

Tonight's the night at Hollywood Bowl, whither all roads lead. The Lambs will be out in force, frisking through an amazingly elaborate program. The Lambs Revue, given in the effort to secure money wherewith to start a new church edifice for Father Dodd, rector of St. Mary of the Angels, is to be given with all the best efforts of a couple of hundred born entertainers behind it.

Donald Crisp, master of ceremonies, states that at least a dozen surprise acts, too late to be programmed, have been arranged for, and these he will announce from the stage tonight.

Already such notables as Theodore Roberts, Julian Eltinge, James Kirkwood, Monte Blue, Monte Collins, Charley Murray, Herbert Rawlinson, Harry Myers, Vernon Dent, Billy Gould, Leslie Bates, Tom Wilson, Gus Reed, Arthur Stone, Felix Adler, Harry Tighe, Maurice Elvey, George O'Brien, Wilfred Lucas, etc., are announced as appearing in the minstrel first part or in specialties.

Beautiful screen stars are on the program committee and many notable favorites will be introduced from the stage. Such singers as Gus Reed, Tom Wilson, Mme. Sophye Barnard, etc., will be heard in special offerings.

BILLINGS SIGNED FOR CRITERION PROLOGUE

George Billings has been signed to appear in conjunction with "Abraham Lincoln," in which he plays the role of the Great Emancipator, during the forthcoming showing of the picture at the Criterion. A fitting prologue, dramatic and impressive, is being staged under the direction of Director Harold Horne, and with the assistance of Phil Rosen, who directed the picture. Southern scenes depicting the negro in Civil War days, and a presentation, which Horne claims has never been equaled, will be in readiness for the opening Tuesday night.

CHANGE DAY OF MEETING

Starting the 6th inst., the weekly meeting of the Playcrafters will be held on Monday evening at 8 o'clock, in their headquarters at Rowland Hall, 313 West Third street. Two original one-act plays, "The Trap," by Manny Lowenstein, and "Evaporated," by Sydney Sprague, will be read at the next session of this organization.

Variety Marks Week's Program at Show House

An unusually diversified program is on the boards at Pantages this week. The vaudeville has several headliners, and Tom Mix appears on the screen in "The Last of the Duanes."

Heading the variety bill is the one-act version of "Twin Beds," which played with success in New York and on tour several seasons ago. A capable cast of five appears in this farce, which bubbles over with laughter and ridiculous situations. This is one of the funniest farces the theater has housed in more than a year.

Ciccolini, noted for his grand opera appearances in the East and his many records, is another feature of the program. He sings a selection of popular arias and ballads in Italian, English and French.

The Diehl sisters return with a program of dancing, singing, and fun a bit different from what they have been offering in the past. Both girls are charming. Jerome and Evelyn offer a dancing act that contains new turns and thrills.

Two athletic performances are on the bill, one contributed by the five Balasis, and the other by Jack Davis and Lou Pelle.

"The Last of the Duanes" is one of Mix's best attempts at western thrills. Mix climbs mountains, rides through treacherous waterfalls and turbulent waters, and does a number of other stunts calculated to keep the audience on the edge. Marian Nixon and Harry Lonsdale are chief in support.

"AMERICA" IN SECOND WEEK OF TALLY RUN

Because of the crowds attending Tally's Theater to see D. W. Griffith's production of "America," the management has extended the run of the picture another week.

The story of "America," written by Robert W. Chambers, deals with the revolutionary period—the desperate struggle of the colonists for their liberty. D. W. Griffith has put forth his best efforts in producing this picture, presenting accurately such historical incidents as Paul Revere's ride, the battles of Bunker Hill, Lexington and Concord, Washington at Valley Forge, the surrender of Cornwallis, and the inauguration of George Washington as the first President of our country.

Carol Dempster, as a daughter of a Tory and Neil Hamilton as Nathan Holden, deserve especial mention for the way in which they portray the characters assigned to them. Lionel Barrymore and Charles Emmett Mack are also seen to advantage.

MISSION PATRONS APPEAR ON SCREEN

How would you like to be photographed, without knowing it, and then see yourself on the screen the next day?

The Mission Theater is springing a distinct surprise novelty on an unsuspecting patronage that is meeting with unusual success. It is called the face-o-graph. A camera is concealed in the lobby of the theater and some forty or fifty patrons are photographed daily. The film is then rushed to the laboratory for development and the pictures shown on the screen the next day. No one can tell who was photographed until the film is developed and run through the projecting machine.

DICKSON MORGAN BACK

Dickson Morgan is back in town from San Francisco, where he has been for the past week designing colorful and interesting sets for the musical version of "Polly of the Circus," which Thomas Wilkes is producing.

WRINKLED FACE? BLEMISHES AND CROWSFEET?

If So, There Is From 5 to 30 Years Age-Appearance in Your Face That You, Yourself, Can Remove.

The Good-Looking, Unwrinkled Face, With Youth-Like Skin Is the Acceptable Business and Social Face.

The face good-to-look upon, free of wrinkles, lines, crowsfeet and blemishes, is the face the public likes to do business with, and it is the kind that is welcome at social functions. For your own satisfaction, if for no other reason, try and reduce the age-appearance of your face from 5 to 30 years, if it needs it. This can be done by self-application in the privacy of your own home. A face free of wrinkles and lines, with youthful complexion, can look 35 and be 60 years old; or a face can be 25 and wrinkles and lines and discolored, unsightly skin make it look 50 years old.

A skillful, nationally known dermatologist, plastic surgeon and beauty specialist, whose wonderful work brings women and men to him from across the continent, has published a book, "The Social and Dollar Value of a Face," to be distributed free, postpaid, to those in need of facial corrections and skin and complexion improvement. The present edition of this book is limited. Be sure to get your copy by writing today to Gordon Dermal Laboratory, 515 Exchange Bldg., Denver, Colo. This book tells how to do the work at home.

The physician who published this book occupies a very unique position—he has advertised for people to stay away from his offices instead of coming to them—he has all the practice he can handle. The book simply tells you how to beautify your face, skin and complexion and remove the wrinkles and lines by self-application in the privacy of your own home without the aid of electricity, massage, dieting, or internal medication. —[Advertisement.

TRIO ARRESTED IN ARSON CASE

Infatuation Declared Cause of Effort to Burn Home

Asserted Confession Made Last June by Plumber

Wife Held With Husband After Latter Reappears

Charged with arson in an asserted attempt to burn down a house at 342 West One Hundred and Tenth street, Clarence B. Walden, his wife, Edna Frances Walden, and Martin Colson, a plumber, were arrested yesterday by deputies from County Fire Warden Flintham's office and held in the County Jail.

The case was brought to the attention of the Fire Warden's office last June when Colson confessed, according to the deputies, that he set fire to the house in an effort to reduce the Waldens to such a state of privation that Mrs. Walden would accept tokens of his asserted infatuation for her.

LOVE HELD MOTIVE

Colson at that time told the officers, according to their report, that he fell in love with Mrs. Walden when he called at their little home to install plumbing fixtures. He conceived the idea of burning down the home, according to the reputed confession, as a means of overcoming her resistance to his protestations of love for her.

Colson was held in the County Jail for several weeks, during which time an extensive search was made for Walden, who disappeared from the city shortly after Colson's arrest. Colson finally was given his liberty.

HUSBAND REAPPEARS

The case took on a new angle yesterday when Walden unexpectedly appeared in the County Fire Warden's office and asked for some tools, which were seized shortly after the investigation of the fire was launched. Walden was placed under arrest immediately by Deputies Thompson, Graves, Anderson and Kennedy, who, with Deputy Johnson later rearrested Colson and took Mrs. Walden into custody as codefendants in a new complaint issued by the District Attorney's office.

Colson was arrested in bed at his home, 1333 East Forty-seventh street, while Mrs. Walden was apprehended at the home of her sister, 1144 Lodi street. All three declined to discuss the case. The trio were taken before Justice Hunter of Lomita yesterday afternoon and arraigned on the charges.

Justice Hunter set the 14th inst. for the preliminary hearing of the charges against Colson and the Waldens. Bail was fixed at $2500 each.

STREET PETITIONS FILED

Petitions have been received by the City Council for the improvement of Wall street, from Forty-eighth street to Fifty-third street, and of Woodman avenue in the San Fernando Valley district, from Sherman Way to Ventura Boulevard.

THEATER TO COST MILLION

Six-Story Building on Boulevard Will House Stage Productions and Commercial Tenants

(Illustration on Picture Page)

A new six-story theater and office building to cost approximately $1,200,000 is to be constructed on the site adjoining the Hollywood Masonic Temple on the south side of Hollywood Boulevard, according to an announcement yesterday by the C. E. Toberman Company. This will be the first legitimate theater in Hollywood, it being planned to present the spoken drama only.

Ground will be broken for the new structure within about six weeks, the plans for the entire building having been drawn by G. Albert Lansburgh, architect. The plot on which the new structure is to go up has a frontage of 130 feet on Hollywood Boulevard and a depth of 180 feet. It is considered one of the most desirable locations in the business center of Hollywood.

The facade of the building will follow the Italian Renaissance style executed in terra cotta and stone with large show windows on the first, mezzanine and second floors. The entrance to the theater will be on the boulevard, a foyer thirty-six feet in width leading from the street to the auditorium. The theater will have a seating capacity of 900 on the first floor and 730 in the balcony, boxes and loges. It is planned to use elaborate decorations throughout the theater and especially in the lounge and retiring rooms.

The stage will be one of the largest among the city's newest playhouses. Backstage will be an old-fashioned green-room such as found in most European theaters of today and in some of the American playhouses in the East.

While the policy of the theater has not been decided upon definitely, Mr. Toberman has placed these details in the hands of Edward D. Smith, who will be associated with him in the enterprise. Mr. Smith has been for many years associated with theaters in Boston and Chicago and came to this city recently as the personal representative of A. L. Erlanger.

DIVISION OF COST ASKED ON VIADUCT

Rail Body Also Requested to Set a Time Limit on La Cienaga Work

The State Railroad Commission was asked to apportion the cost of the proposed viaduct at La Cienaga Boulevard and the Venice Short Line tracks yesterday, when hearings were conducted on the city's application for an order requiring the Pacific Electric to separate the grades at that point.

Gordon Whitnall, director of the City Planning Commission, in testifying as to the importance of eliminating the grade crossing at that point, declared that La Cienaga Boulevard was one of the most important links in the Planning Commission's projected highway system. He said that when the boulevard is completed it will be the shortest north and south artery connecting the southwest district with the San Fernando Valley. The boulevard will cross the Hollywood Hills at Coldwater Canyon at a grade which will not exceed 4 per cent.

The commission was also asked to fix a time limit at which the viaduct will be constructed in order that plans of the Planning Commission for completing the highway might be made accordingly. Subdividers who have offered through their representatives, the T. J. Lawrence Company, to donate $25,000 toward the cost of the viaduct, are also anxious to know when it will be completed and to learn the details of its construction in order that curbs and sidewalks may be laid on the proper level.

According to plans now in the hands of the Planning Commission, Venice Boulevard will also cross the tracks at the same point.

HEARING OF GARBUTT IS POSTPONED

Man Suspected in Hunn Murder to Make Plea to Indictment Tomorrow

The plea of Harry Garbutt to the charge of murdering Mrs. Dorothy Hunn in her Pasadena home on September 19, last, was postponed yesterday on the request of Garbutt's attorneys until 11:30 tomorrow.

Garbutt came up for arraignment in Judge Crail's court at 3:30 p.m. yesterday following a return in the morning of a grand jury indictment charging him with the crime. A. O. Bacon and S. W. Thompson, attorneys on record for Garbutt, asked a postponement of plea until Thompson had become familiar with the case. This was granted by Judge Crail.

The accused man was transferred to the County Jail yesterday, having been up until then a prisoner in the Pasadena jail.

Garbutt was suspected of the murder of Mrs. Hunn after his flight from her home where he was a dinner guest on the night of the slaying. He was arrested in Los Angeles by Detective Lieutenants O'Rourke and Culver of the Pasadena police in company with Los Angeles officers.

Garbutt has admitted firing the shot which killed Mrs. Hunn, but said it was discharged accidentally.

Irene Kirckhoff, a friend of Garbutt, who has been in custody since his arrest, will not be released until disposition is made of the case, Dep. Dist.-Atty. Denison declared last night. She will be used as a witness, he said.

OSTROW TO FACE COUNT OF MURDER

Inquest in Synagogue Killing Finds Accused Man Denny's Slayer

An inquest into the death of Harry Denny, 55 years of age, of 2277 Baxter street, who was shot and killed during a service at Ahavath Zion Synagogue Monday in the presence of almost 100 worshipers, conducted yesterday, resulted in a verdict that Denny came to his death from wounds inflicted by Solomon Ostrow, 35, of 2317 Ewing street. A complaint charging Ostrow with murder is expected to be issued today. Ostrow was captured shortly after the shooting and is held in jail.

Ostrow testified at the inquest that he went to the synagogue for the express purpose of slaying Denny as a result of business trouble.

Two others who were wounded by stray bullets in a struggle outside the synagogue, Benjamin Benasky, 28, of 1413 Glendale Boulevard, and Mrs. Fannie Klein, 53, of 2133 Clifford street, were reported yesterday to be recovering. Benasky was shot through the right thigh and Mrs. Klein was wounded in the right shoulder.

"A complication of stomach, liver and kidney disorders, indigestion, constipation, dizziness and shattered nerves had weakened me down until it looked like I would have to give up my work entirely. It all followed an attack of carbon-dioxide poisoning about a year ago and my health was just about wrecked.

Those are the odds you fight in the battle against Pyorrhea. Four out of every five over 40—as well as thousands younger, too—are afflicted with this sinister disease. Will you be a victim?

Protect your gums and save your teeth

Just as a ship needs the closest attention under the water-line, so do your teeth under the gum-line. If the gums shrink, serious dangers result.

The teeth are loosened. They are exposed to tooth-base decay. The gums themselves become tender and bleed easily. They form sacs which become the doorways of organic disease for the whole system. They often disfigure the mouth as they recede.

If used in time and used consistently, Forhan's For the Gums will prevent Pyorrhea or check its progress. Forhan's is safe, efficient and pleasant-tasting. It preserves gum health, corrects tender gum spots, hardens gum tissues so they will offer proper support to the teeth, and keeps your mouth fresh and healthy.

Forhan's is more than a tooth paste; it checks Pyorrhea. Thousands have found it beneficial for years. For your own sake ask for and get Forhan's For the Gums. At all druggists, 35c and 60c in tubes.

SUIT OF CHINESE FOR DAMAGES ON

Oriental Charges Landlady With False Arrest

"Dear Ding" Letters Said to Have Stirred Love

Action for $25,000 Arose Over Asserted Gun Play

The trial of the $25,000 damage suit filed by Ding On, the impassioned Chinese janitor, against Mrs. Lillias J. Franklin Waddell, wealthy apartment-house owner, was begun yesterday in Judge Craig's department of the Superior Court.

The suit, which charges false arrest, had its inception before the World War. At that time Ding On was a janitor in Mrs. Waddell's apartment-house, and an exceptionally good one, according to the testimony. Then Ding On was drafted.

He went overseas. Thinking to relieve the monotony of war for Ding On, Mrs. Waddell, who was then Mrs. Franklin, wrote him a number of letters beginning in the customary way. But Ding On, it appeared from the testimony, was occidental only as regards his work. The was oriental otherwise. The "Dear Ding" at the top of each letter caused his heart to flutter.

He returned from the war and resumed his old job. Then one day he met his employer in the hallway and in a shower of English and Chinese informed Mrs. Waddell of his burning passion for her. He explained that the "Dear Ding" at the top of the letters had led him to the conclusion that she reciprocated his affection.

But Ding On promptly "got the air," according to the testimony. His oriental heart appeared broken. He sent numerous impassioned letters to his former employer, but they remained unanswered, it was brought out.

Then one day Ding On met Mrs. Waddell on the street. In an abandon of passion, it was testified, he produced a gun. Mrs. Waddell thereupon caused his arrest. Ding On's passion promptly cooled. The case was discharged, but Ding On in the meantime had learned enough of western manners to file suit for $25,000 for false arrest.

The court, after hearing the preliminary story leading up to the filing of the suit, continued the case until today.

VOTE DRIVE GETS IMPETUS

Reports to League Show Plan to Increase Number of Ballots Receiving Popular Support

Plans for getting out the greatest vote in the history of Los Angeles county and for rolling up a huge registration were discussed yesterday at a luncheon of the 100 Per Cent Register and Vote League in the patio of the Broadway Department Store.

It was stated by the secretary, Edward Owen, that on Sunday ministers throughout the city distributed more than 12,000 tracts urging people to register and vote. It has been arranged with a number of cafeterias to distribute the tracts with each tray of food, and with other agencies 100,000 slips are expected to be given away before Saturday, the last day of registration.

A great patriotic demonstration is being arranged for Saturday, November 1, with a Democratic luncheon, speeches and music. On the 31st inst., a giant meeting under the auspices of the Federation of Women's Clubs is to be held. A department store has agreed to utilize one of its show windows for the same purpose.

The members of the league have been distributing literature calling to the attention of the people the lack of interest in the ballot and its dangers. They hope to induce the largest percentage of voters in the history of the county to go to the polls November 4.

The league has been stressing the point that a person who will be 21 years of age the day before the election may register, and one who will have been in the State a year, and the county three months and the precinct thirty days, is eligible to vote.

ALIEN LAND REQUEST FAILS

Atty.-Gen. Webb Rules British Indians May Not Keep Holdings Until 1926, as Embassy Asks

The ninety-three British Indian subjects holding land in California will not be allowed to retain possession until January 1, 1926, as was requested by the British Embassy at Washington, according to an opinion handed Gov. Richardson by Atty.-Gen. Webb, a copy of which was received here yesterday.

The Indians, most of them Hindus and Sikhs, now hold 1868 acres, valued at $1,328,000. Under the terms of the California alien land laws and court decisions denying that Indians are eligible to citizenship, these lands must be disposed of immediately, according to the Attorney-General.

The letter from the British Embassy expressed the hope that steps might be taken in accordance with the spirit if not the letter of the convention of 1899 and the British subjects be allowed considerable time to dispose of their property. It was pointed out that since the sale was being forced it would be next to impossible to obtain a fair price for the land in any event and that if it were all thrown on the market at the same time, especially in view of the unprecedented dry weather, the land could be sold only at ruinous prices.

In the Attorney-General's opinion sympathy with the viewpoint of the Indians was expressed and it was pointed out that instructions had been issued to State officers to carry out the provisions of the State laws in such a way that as little hardship as possible might be inflicted upon the aliens affected. The Supreme Court decision, however, is now in effect, he stated, and there is no way in which the date for its becoming effective could be postponed until 1926, suggested by the British Embassy.

W. T. DAYS APPOINTED HARBOR AIDE

Traffic Assistant Picked from Field of Fourteen; Succeeds Mansfield

William T. Days was appointed assistant traffic manager for Los Angeles Harbor and will assume his duties under Capt. Sandberg, traffic manager, the 6th inst., it was announced at yesterday's meeting of the Harbor Commission. He will succeed Robert E. Mansfield, a temporary appointee selected three months ago pending a civil-service examination. The examination held recently, produced fourteen successful applicants, from which the Harbor Commission was required to select one.

Of the leading three, James E. Helping led the list. Days was a high second and Robert B. Frank, third. Mr. Days's record, including seventeen years as general traffic manager of the Mallinckrodt Chemical Works, which does an international business, and his experience on the Federal Traffic Committee during the war is believed to have caused his selection. He is 43 years of age, a native of Macon, Miss., and has engaged in business in Los Angeles for some years as an independent traffic operator.

Proposal to condemn a seven-acre slough on Anaheim Boulevard and East Southerland avenue, Wilmington, for use as a main gateway for all railroads into the harbor under the proposed viaduct will be referred to the Chamber of Commerce and other civic bodies for suggestion.

VALLEY MAN TAKES LIFE BY SHOOTING

Van Nuys Resident Found in Car With Bullet in Head; Dies in Hospital

Found with a bullet wound in his temple sitting behind the wheel of his automobile yesterday on Van Owen street, near Van Nuys, Robert G. Warner, 38 years of age, chief clerk of the Water Department for the San Fernando Valley, died at the General Hospital, where he was taken by the police.

That Warner shot himself in a fit of despondency, according to Assistant Captain Nuestetter of the San Fernando Valley Police Division, was shown by a note scrawled on a piece of envelope found at his home at 14638 Sylvan street, Van Nuys. It read: "I am losing my sight; I am losing my hearing; I am losing my mind. What's the use?"

Warner's aged mother, with whom he lived, told the police she had been fearful her son would end his life. He had been suffering from a nervous trouble, she said, and had been in poor spirits for some time.

The dying man was found in his automobile by a passing pedestrian, who communicated with the police. Warner was taken to the Receiving Hospital and later was removed to the General Hospital. Warner was an old resident of Van Nuys.

Case Dropped in Beach City Election Row

Charges of perjury and false imprisonment against Carl Bull, former Mayor of Manhattan Beach, and Sidney Blair, private detective, were dismissed yesterday in Judge Hardy's department of Superior Court. The case against Bull was dropped for lack of evidence and that against Blair because he now is serving a term at San Quentin in connection with charges growing out of the Grant McCartney divorce case.

J. F. Bisbee and Theodore A. Anderson, also charged with the same offense, changed their pleas to guilty yesterday and will come up for sentence on October 30.

The arrest and indictment of the four men was the outgrowth of a heated political campaign at Manhattan early in the year. It was charged that the four men "framed" their political opponents in the community by "planting" liquor in their cars and then causing their arrest on charges of violating the dry laws.

If your salesmen were treated as skilled labor

THE carpenter does not go to work until the stone mason has laid the foundation.

The tiler does not lay his tile until the plumber has put in his pipes.

Yet the salesman is expected to go to work before printing has laid the foundation of the sale he is expected to close.

The time of a good salesman is too valuable to put in on work that can be done at less expense in another way.

It is one thing to make the name and service of your business known to men. It is another thing to get orders from them.

Use printing for the first. A good salesman's time is wasted when he has to spend it describing his firm to a man who never heard of it, or who knows practically nothing about it.

Use printing for this. Printing is so flexible that it can describe any article that has color, shape or weight, and any service that has use or value.

Remember that the harder a thing is to explain, the greater the triumph when you have explained it well.

Let printing do your work of introducing and educating. Let your salesmen reap the orders and see that your customers get good service. That is what experienced salesmen like to do, and carefully-thought-out printing is always a more effective introduction than the approach of an inexperienced salesman.

A good printer can help you plan your printing campaigns. He knows the uses of booklets, of folders, of broadsides and of house organs. He can help you decide how to employ words or pictures or both. If you want good printing and leave the choice to a good printer, he will probably recommend one of the Warren Standard Printing Papers.

How to plan printing to get results is told in the Warren "More Business Series." You can get these helpful books without any cost to you, from any paper merchant who sells Warren's Standard Printing Papers.

RANCHO SANTA FE
SAN DIEGO COUNTY, CALIFORNIA

is something new in America. It is not a town, yet has the modern advantages of a city. It is designed to accommodate only 400 families and their employees, yet it covers an area of 15 square miles and contains 53 miles of beautiful parked driveways. Its residents not only have the best roads to drive over, but electric ranges to cook on; water piped to their doors with which to sprinkle their lawns and irrigate their walnut, orange and avocado trees; a well-planned civic center; and on every side surroundings which charm and invite and promise.

Yet it is not a millionaires' colony. It is self-supporting; it is, in fact, a fine example of what planning can do when it is called into service at the very beginning.

DECEPTION

A traveler in Ireland once hired a cab to take him into the country, and had not proceeded far when it pulled up at the foot of a steep hill. The driver appeared at the door.

"What are ye at, man?" said the traveler; "this isn't where I ordered you to stop."

"Whist, yer honor, whist," ejaculated Paddy. "I'm only deceivin' the beast. If I bang the door he'll think you're out and'll cut up the hill like the divil."—[Royal Magazine.

PASSING THE BUCK

"The trouble with you is the same as with another patient of mine," said the doctor. "He worried and got nervous dyspepsia. He was worrying himself to death about his tailor's bill. Now he is cured."

"But how did you cure him?" asked the patient.

"I told him to stop worrying, and he has," replied the doctor.

"I know," was the doleful answer: "I know he has. But I am his tailor."—[Exchange.

SHIP TRADE'S FATE IN WEST

Commissioner Lissner Decares Interests Seeking American Merchant Marine Look to Coast

The interests seeking to establish an American merchant marine pin their hope to the increased shipping of the Pacific Coast, the development of which since the war has far exceeded that of the combined maritime trade of all the rest of the country, according to Meyer Lissner of Los Angeles, one of the two commissioners from this Coast serving on the United States Shipping Board.

Lissner, whose official headquarters are in Washington, arrived here yesterday for the annual visit in his home territory required of all the seven commissioners constituting the board. During his stay he will look over the shipping situation here and on the 6th and 7th insts. will meet officially in his offices in the Lincoln Building all persons having business with the United States Shipping Board.

ONLY COAST GAINS

"The increase in maritme business on this Coast is a matter of much gratification to my fellow-commissioner from this territory Bert E. Haney of Portland, and myself," said Lissner. "The records of the last fiscal year of the board show that while the cargo tonnage in foreign trade during that period had declined about 6 per cent in the rest of the country, on the Pacific Coast it had increased 41 per cent."

Lissner attributes this increase in considerable measure to the improved shipping facilities offered by Los Angeles Harbor, which he stated is now second only to the port of New York in the amount of commodities of all kinds carried annually through the local port.

Speaking of the operations of the Shipping Board, Lissner stated that it is making progress in the transfer of its ships to private ownership.

"It is the aim of the board to dispose of its entire fleet in this way as quickly as possible, as it is realized that this country will never have an adequate merchant marine unless it is privately owned and controlled," said Lissner. "And it is equally well realized that the maintenance of a merchant marine is of paramount importance as an adjunct to the American Navy.

"NO LETTING DOWN"

"For this reason the government will continue to operate its vessels under the direction of the Shipping Board until such time as all the ships are disposed of. There will be no letting down. At present there are about 350 ships in the government service, which ply in every part of the world and compete with the ships of every other maritime country on the globe. Most of these vessels are freighters, only about thirty passenger liners now being operated by the board. In addition to the ships in commission, the government has about 800 steel vessels laid up and waiting for purchasers."

The commissioner said the main difficulty experienced by the board in attempting to dispose of its ships is that, owing to the higher rates of wages and other expenditures that prevail in the operation of American ships, the profits are not sufficient to attract purchasers.

SUBSIDY FAVORED

"The board has sought to overcome this obstacle to a certain extent by selling its ships at an exceptionally low figure in all cases where the purchaser is willing to enter into a guarantee to take over a steamship line and continue its operation in the same manner as it has been begun by the board," he said. "Higher prices are asked where ships are sold to private owners who will use them along other lines than those laid down by the Shipping Board."

Lissner favors a government subsidy to overcome the handicap to American shipping imposed by the necessity of meeting the competition of other countries, whose operating expenses are less than those of the United States. He suggested that, while the bill providing for a ship subsidy introduced into Congress some time ago was defeated, the time would probably come when such a measure will have to be adopted to enable a merchant marine to be maintained in this country.

RESIGNATION OF LORENTZ IS IN EFFECT

Chief Engineer of Public Utilities Board to Enter Private Field

The resignation of Fred A. Lorentz as chief engineer of the Board of Public Utilities became effective at the close of business yesterday. Mr. Lorentz resigned voluntarily recently, when it became known that he had done work for the Acme Signal Company. His connection with the signal company was known to members of the board and his duties were executed with their permission. He will enter private engineering practice.

No appointment of a successor to Mr. Lorentz has been made, although several engineers have been suggested for the place. It is the announced purpose of the board to proceed slowly in naming a successor, due to the fact that under the new City Charter, which becomes effective July 1, next, the chief engineer will be the general manager of the board. A movement is on foot to raise the pay of the chief engineer from $350 to $500 a month, in recognition of the added duties and responsibilities.

Until an appointment is made President E. F. Bogardus of the board is acting head of the engineering department.

GAS BONDS AUTHORIZED

The Southern California Gas Company has been authorized to issue $2,000,000 in 5½ per cent first mortgage bonds, according to a decision of the State Railroad Commission announced here yesterday. The bonds are to be sold at not less than 93½ per cent of their face value, plus accrued interest, and become due September 1, 1952. They represent series B of the first and refunding mortgage 5½ per cent bonds of the company. The funds realized from their sale are to be used to pay off indebtedness and finance the cost of additions, extensions and betterment of service.
